Decade Of Architectural Design:

A Decade of Architectural Design Andreas Papadakis, James Steele, 1991-01-15 Landscape of transition: An Optimistic Decade of Croatian Architectural Culture , Architectural Design Strategies for Saving Energy in Buildings Ana-Maria Dabija, 2024-11-12

Architectural Design Strategies for Saving Energy in Buildings An Architect's View employs an architect's perspective defined equally as art and engineering science to the contemporary concept of designing buildings that use less energy. This approach to lowering energy consumption via integrated measures both passive and active offers a nuanced perspective on managing building efficiency that energy saving is not a target in itself but results as a consequence of the architectural concept. The book does not provide calculations or levels of performance. Rather by sticking to qualitative principles of architectural design and analyzing and using the force and laws of nature in shaping the built space the author argues for decreasing energy consumption through the process of design the principles of building physics the volume of the building itself and spatial configuration as it relates to the costs of operating the building. This approach contrasts the traditional construction system of only providing a thermal insulated blanket over the envelope and equipment that produces energy from unconventional sources which can be calculated according to regulations. Amidst the current discourse on sustainability and energy efficiency this book offers a thought provoking read for professionals in architecture civil engineering and construction as well as graduate students in related courses. It presents an architect's approach to nearly zero emission building design analyses architectural strategies that efficiently use energy in buildings and examines famous buildings and their innovative design as examples of good practice.

The Routledge Companion for Architecture Design and Practice Mitra Kanaani, Dak Kopec, 2015-11-06

The Routledge Companion for Architecture Design and Practice provides an overview of established and emerging trends in architecture practice. Contributions of the latest research from international experts examine external forces applied to the practice and discipline of architecture. Each chapter contains up to date and relevant information about select aspects of architecture and the changes this information will have on the future of the profession. The Companion contains thirty five chapters divided into seven parts: Theoretical Stances, Technology, Sustainability, Behaviorism, Urbanism, Professional Practice and Society. Topics include: Evidence Based Design, Performativity, Designing for Net Zero Energy, The Substance of Light in Design, Social Equity and Ethics for Sustainable Architecture, Universal Design, Design Psychology, Architecture Branding and the Politics of Identity, The Role of BIM in Green Architecture, Public Health and the Design Process, Affordable Housing, Disaster Preparation and Mitigation, Diversity and many more. Each chapter follows the running theme of examining external forces applied to the practice and discipline of architecture in order to uncover the evolving theoretical tenets of what constitutes today's architectural profession and the tools that will be required of the future architect. This book considers architecture's interdisciplinary nature and addresses its current and evolving perspectives related to social, economic, environmental, technological and globalization trends These challenges are central to the future direction of architecture and as such this Companion will serve as an invaluable reference for undergraduate and postgraduate students existing practitioners and future architects

The Humanities in Architectural Design Soumyen Bandyopadhyay, Jane Lomholt, Nicholas Temple, Renée Tobe, 2010-02-25 Offering an in depth consideration of the impact which humanities have had on the processes of architecture and design this book asks how we can restore the traditional dialogue between intellectual enquiry in the humanities and design creativity Written by leading academics in the fields of history theory and philosophy of design these essays draw profound meanings from cultural practices and beliefs These are as diverse as the designs they inspire and include religious mythic poetic political and philosophical references This timely and important book is not a benign reflection on humanities role in architectural design but a direct response to the increased marginalization of humanities in a technology driven world The prioritization of technology leaves critical questions unanswered about the relationships between information and knowledge transcription and translation and how emerging technologies can usefully contribute to a deeper understanding of our design culture

Cognitive Activities in Architectural Design Stephane Safin, 2025-10-21 Architectural design relies on distinct cognitive processes that have been the subject of research for several decades However in light of recent social and technological shifts reshaping the discipline there is a pressing need for new insights to better understand how these changes influence the design process This collective work offers an overview of research in the field opening up perspectives towards an ever finer understanding of the cognitive processes involved in architectural design design neuroscience uses induced or offered by building information modeling BIM information retrieval representational processes AI in ideation and the values and processes used in active participation Cognitive Activities in Architectural Design is aimed at researchers in the design sciences seeking a deeper understanding of design processes architectural teachers looking to reflect on and enhance their teaching practices and practitioners interested in how scientific research can define and conceptualize their professional work
