Decentralization In Health Care: Strategies And Outcomes Saltman, Richard, Busse, Reinhard, Figueras, Josep, 2006-12-01 Exploring the capacity and impact of decentralization within European health care systems this book examines both the theoretical underpinnings as well as practical experience with decentralization Governance, Decentralization and Reform in China, India and Russia Jean-Jacques Dethier, 2000-09-30 The papers in Governance Decentralization and Reform in China India and Russia which were presented at a ZEF conference in May 1999 deal with three critical aspects of governance in China India and Russia political reforms at the local level fiscal reforms in intergovernmental relations and legal reforms The volume collects contributions from 24 outstanding economists political scientists and legal specialists including Vito Tanzi Daniel Treisman Pranab Bardham Jean Drèze Katharina Pistor and Kathryn Hendley Distorted economic and political incentive structures capture of the state by powerful elites and inoperative legal systems are factors that have greatly complicated the political economy of reform in these three large countries with heterogeneous populations Addressing these political and institutional issues is essential to designing good policies One particular goal of this volume is to bring together new analytical insights and empirical evidence on governance a new and growing field of research The volume is divided into three parts fiscal federalism decentralization and provision of local public goods and legal reforms Part I discusses the role of incentives in fiscal federalism The papers analyze the effects of different revenue sharing mechanisms between different levels of government in particular the effects on regional growth and inequality and the incentives that local politicians may have to provide public goods depending on fiscal arrangements with the central government In adapting their governance structures all three countries have been striving for increased decentralization But the theoretical literature suggests that in a decentralized setting second best solutions must prevail it is not possible to ensure incentive compatibility simultaneously with optimal allocation of resources and a balanced budget in providing public goods Part II discusses taxation and public expenditure management both as a political and as a budgetary process Two questions which the papers address are Does participation of stakeholders and accountability of public authorities improve economic and social outcomes Does better governance in the provision of basic goods such as health care and education improve equity While decentralization is often seen as a way to improve the quality of public services rule based governance is viewed as a safeguard against the arbitrariness of public officials and weaknesses in law enforcement The five papers in Part III focus on the rule of law the role of the judicial system in establishing a rule based economy and the effectiveness of legal institutions during the transition from socialism to a market economy They present overviews of current legal reform issues in the three countries and discuss various conceptual approaches to addressing legal reform issues

Decentralization of River Basin Management, 2005 Decentralization and increased stakeholder involvement have been major elements of water sector reform as ways to promote sustainable and integrated resource management particularly of river basins Based on an analytical framework for relating decentralization and stakeholder involvement to improved river basin management this paper infers several hypotheses about factors associated with greater or lesser likelihood of success of the decentralization process using data from 83 river basins worldwide The results suggest that physical political economic financial and institutional characteristics of the basin do affect the process and the level of performance of the decentralization In particular the presence of water scarcity may be a stimulus to reform uniting the stakeholders in the basin and leading to better performance organized user groups push for the initiation of decentralization reforms but may be associated with costs to the process and difficulty of achieving decentralization the existence of dispute resolution mechanisms supports stakeholder involvement and improves decentralization performance where stakeholders accepted greater financial responsibility complying with tariffs and contributing to the budget for basin management the decentralization process and performance measures increased basins with higher percentages of their budgets from external governmental sources benefited from better stability and support and it shows in the performance of the decentralization process

Managing Fiscal Decentralization Ehtisham Ahmad, Vito Tanzi, 2002-07-18 The growth of interest in fiscal decentralization has meant that there has been something of a rush to enshrine this in policy The World Bank has reported that about seventy countries see this as a major part of their development strategy This book critically examines the case for decentralization This collection of contributions comes from a w Annual World Bank Conference on Development Economics 1995 Michael Bruno, Boris Pleskovic, 1996 Annotation The 1995 conference continued the tradition of holding a roundtable discussion related to the subject of the forthcoming annual World Development Report in this case economies in transition The conference addressed four themes redistribution with growth demographic change and development aid and development and fiscal decentralization Among the articles included in the 1995 proceedings are Argentina's Miracle From Hyperinflation to Sustained Growth Domingo F Cavallo and Guillermo Mondino Inequality Poverty and Growth Where Do We Stand Albert Fishlow Government Provision and Regulation of Economic Support in Old Age Peter Diamond Is Growth in Developing Countries Beneficial to Industrial Countries Richard N Cooper Fiscal Federalism and Decentralization A Review of Some Efficiency and Macroeconomic Aspects Vito Tanzi Environment in Decentralized Development Vito Cistulli, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2002-01-01 TV Institutional and Policy Analysis of River Basin Management William Blomquist, Ken S. Calbick, Ariel Dinar, Resource Guide on Decentralisation and Local Government Zoë Scott, Munawwar Alam, 2011 Provides practical guidance for designing implementing and evaluating decentralisation reforms and local government practices to ensure they are as effective as possible It also synthesises and presents current debates on the impact of decentralisation and local government on poverty reduction service delivery and conflict Water Governance Decentralization in Sub-Saharan Africa Joao Mutondo, Stefano Farolfi, Ariel Dinar, 2016-02-12 This book is about the process of water management decentralization in African countries which is seen as a means of advancing river basin management at the lowest appropriate level There are very different stages of implementing decentralization in practice This called for research aiming to understand the following questions i why do some water agencies succeed more than others ii What are the variables involved in such reform process iii which variables have a positive or a negative impact on the implementation of decentralization processes iv Which variables could be affected by policy interventions and how This study aimed to answer these questions through the following objectives i analyze the factors that have potentially affected the results of decentralization process in SSA basins and ii analyze the performance of decentralization process in SSA basins Qualitative and quantitative approaches were used The main findings are that water scarcity is a major stimulus to reform water user associations if not well prepared and trained may deter the decentralization process and being part of an existing treaty over an international basin helps foster the process Conditions improving decentralization performance include scarcity of water resources longer period of implementation bottom up creation and appropriate budgetary support

Institutional and Policy Analysis of River Basin Management, Institutional and Policy Analysis of River Basin Management The Murray Darling River Basin, Australia Anjali Bhat, William Andrew Blomquist, 2005

Integrated River Basin Management through Decentralization Karin Kemper, William Blomquist, Ariel Dinar, 2007-02-17 Drawing upon a worldwide survey of river basin organizations and in depth studies of eight river basins in a variety of locations around the globe this book examines how institutional arrangements for managing water resources at the river basin level have been designed and implemented what the impetus for these arrangements has been and what institutional features appear to be associated with greater or lesser success in river basin management

Institutional and Policy Analysis of River Basin Management William Andrew Blomquist, 2005

The authors describe and analyze management in the Murray Darling Basin of Australia long regarded as a model for integrated river basin management This interior basin of over 1 million km² in semi arid southeastern Australia is defined by the catchment areas of the Murray and Darling Rivers and their tributaries Water management issues include allocation quality and dryland salinity Because of Australia's federal governmental structure institutional development has been more a matter of integrating state and local endeavors than decentralization of national authority The Australian national government has little constitutional power over water resources The five states in the basin make policy regarding water rights discharge permits fees and the construction and operation of physical structures River management began on the Murray River in the 1920s under the terms of a tri state agreement As the scope of management widened to the entire basin more states were added and the national government supported the creation of new arrangements for integrated water resource management with some provision for stakeholder participation The dynamics of state national authority over water policy and the emergence in recent years of numerous local level catchment organization contribute to some uncertainty about the future course of basin management in this internationally renowned site This paper a product of the Agriculture and Rural Development Department is part of a larger effort in the department to approach water policy issues in an integrated way The study was funded by the Bank's Research Support Budget under the research project Integrated River Basin Management and the Principle of Managing Water Resources at the Lowest Appropriate Level When and Why Does It Not Work in Practice World Bank web site
