Decolonising The Mind:

Decolonising the mind Ngugi wa Thiong'o, 1992 Decolonising the Mind Ngũgĩ wa Thiong'o, 1986 Ngugi wrote his first novels and plays in English but was determined even before his detention without trial in 1978 to move to writing in Gikuyu Decolonising the Mind Ngugi Wa Thiong'o, 1986 Introduction Towards the universal language of struggle 1 The language of African Literature 2 The language of African theatre 3 The language of African fiction 4 The quest for relevance

Decolonising the Mind Ngũgĩ wa Thiong'o, 1987 Decolonising the Mind Ulli Beier, 2005 Ngugi wa Thiong'o, Gender, and the Ethics of Postcolonial Reading Brendon Nicholls, 2016-05-06 This is the first comprehensive book length study of gender politics in Ngugi wa Thiong'o's fiction Brendon Nicholls argues that mechanisms of gender subordination are strategically crucial to Ngugi's ideological project from his first novel to his most recent one Nicholls describes the historical pressures that lead Ngugi to represent women as he does and shows that the novels themselves are symptomatic of the cultural conditions that they address Reading Ngugi's fiction in terms of its Gikuyu allusions and references a gendered narrative of history emerges that creates transgressive spaces for women Nicholls bases his discussion on moments during the Mau Mau rebellion when women's contributions to the anticolonial struggle could not be reduced to a patriarchal narrative of Kenyan history and this interpretive maneuver permits a reading of Ngugi's fiction that accommodates female political and sexual agency Nicholls contributes to postcolonial theory by proposing a methodology for reading cultural difference This methodology critiques cultural practices like clitoridectomy in an ethical manner that seeks to avoid both cultural imperialism and cultural relativism His strategy of performative reading that is making the conditions of one text such as folklore history or translation active in another for example fiction literary narrative or nationalism makes possible an ethical reading of gender and of the conditions of reading in translation Intellectual Decolonisation George Hull, 2024-10-18 This book puts contemporary calls for decolonisation in context Featuring an interdisciplinary team of scholars from around the world the book explores and critically assesses the diverse theoretical visions which inform calls for decolonisation of the mind today Contemporary calls to decolonise focus less on politico economic relations between states more on culture and ideas Sometimes museums are the target sometimes universities or academic disciplines sometimes entire legal systems Commentators and activists speak out for others against intellectual decolonisation decolonisation of the mind But what is the colonisation which intellectual decolonisation undoes Under what circumstances can inculcation or acceptance of ideas constitute colonialism As this book demonstrates advocates of intellectual decolonisation give very different indeed incompatible answers to these questions Critically examining conceptualisations of decolonisation spanning a century and four continents the book explores what is at stake in the choice between these theoretical alternatives Some see the aim of decolonisation as truth via the removal of distorting effects of power and bias Others troublingly subordinate truth and knowledge to ethnic or regional identity potentially paving the way for culturally authoritarian politics Intellectual

Decolonisation Critical Perspectives is an indispensable resource for teachers students and scholars seeking to deepen their understanding of debates about decolonisation of the mind Individual chapters will interest researchers of the new right wing ethnonationalist political ideologies emerging in Europe Asia and Africa Originally published as a special issue of Social Dynamics this book is also a guide for anyone wondering what decolonisation is all about Decolonising Media and Communication Studies Education in Sub-Saharan Africa Selina Linda Mudavanhu, Shepherd Mpofo, Kezia Batisai, 2023-10-27 The book provides insights on decolonising media and communication studies education from diverse African scholars at different stages of their careers These academics located on the continent and in the diaspora share an interest in decolonising higher education broadly and media and communication studies teaching and learning in particular Although many African countries gained flag independence from different European colonial powers between the 1950s and the 1970s this book argues that former colonies remain ensnared in a colonial power matrix Many African universities did not jettison ways of teaching and learning established during colonialism and even those journalism communication and media studies training programmes which were established after the attainment of flag independence did not place decolonial agendas at the front and centre when setting them up Starting with big picture thematic questions around decolonisation the book goes on to consider what the implications of change would be for students and instructors before reflecting on how far it is possible to decolonise curricula and syllabi and what this might look like in practice across a range of subject areas and country contexts Overall this book presents a nuanced picture of what a decolonised media and communication studies education could look like in sub Saharan Africa This book is essential for researchers in Africa in disciplines such as media and communication studies journalism film studies cultural studies and higher education studies More broadly the concepts and ideas on decolonising teaching and learning discussed in the book are relevant to instructors in any discipline who are interested in doing the decolonial work of contesting coloniality The Battle for International Law Jochen von of Globalisation and Internationalisation Kehdinga George Fomunyan, 2019-07-01 Conceived within a context of transdisciplinarity and pluriversalism and in rigorous response to the Eurocentric globalising and nationalising structures of power that undergird and inhabit contemporary praxis in higher education especially in African higher education this collection of essays brings to the on going discourse on decolonisation fresh rich probing and multilayered perspectives that should accelerate the process of decolonisation not only in higher education in Africa but also in the global imaginary A remarkable courageous and potentially revolutionary achievement this book deserves a special place on curricula throughout the world of higher education A Handbook for African Mother-Tongue Bible Translators Isaac Boaheng, 2022-03-22

Ndlovu-Gatsheni, 2024-07-23 Language and Decolonisation is the first collection to bring together views from across scholarly communities that are committed to the agenda of decolonising knowledge in language study. Edited by leading figures in the field, the chapters offer new insights on how decolonising can be adopted as a methodology for charting the next steps in solving practical language-related problems in educational and related social policy areas. Divided into two sections, the book covers the coloniality of language, the materiality of culture and colonial scripts, the decolonisation imperative, multilingualism, discourse and decolonisation, and decolonising languages in public discourse. With 20 chapters authored by experts from across the globe, this pioneering collection is an essential reference and resource for advanced students, scholars and researchers of language and culture, sociolinguistics, decolonial studies, racial studies and related areas

Stories from the Fireplace Tekletsadik Belachew, 2020-12-22 This book is an interdisciplinary theological exploration of Haile Gerima's cinema, an Ethiopian filmmaker and storyteller who successfully translated African folkloric orality and wove other indigenous art forms into the language of cinema. Gerima's five-decade legacy of Pan-African cinema embodies symbolic resistance against Afro-pessimistic and stereotypical misrepresentations, both manifestations of neo-colonialism. In response, he uses camera as a weapon to resist exotic otherness and alienation invented by conventional cinema. Through an alternative moving picture, he depicted dignified images of Africa towards decolonising cinema and liberating the mind. His memory films achieve archiving the stories of the people of African descent. Gerima, who stands in par with great African film griots such as Ousmane Sembène, the father of African cinema, and Med Hondo, deserves further interdisciplinary reflections. Gerima's Triangular cinema and imperfect cinema are inspired from indigenous values and cultural products such as holy icons and fireplace stories. His works foster asserting identity of the self, maintaining the right to difference and embracing ubuntu-like human personhood. They are essential acts in the 21st century. Like theology, cinema alters a way of life, human experiences, imaginations and narrative identity. This book engages with the works and thoughts of Gerima towards re-imaging Africa through cinematic narratives in being and becoming an African

Decolonisation Rebecca Kiddle, Moana Jackson, Bianca Elkington, Ocean Ripeka Mercier, Michael Ross, Jennie Smeaton, Amanda Thomas, 2020-03-09 Decolonisation is a term that alarms some and gives hope to others It is an uncomfortable and often bewildering concept for many New Zealanders This book seeks to demystify decolonisation using illuminating real life examples By exploring the impact of colonisation on M ori and non M ori alike Imagining Decolonisation presents a transformative vision of a country that is fairer for all Decolonizing the Theological Curriculum in an Online Age Chimera Nyika, Y. Mvula, 2022-10-28 The second annual conference of the Theological Society of Malawi was held at the historic Ekwendeni Campus of the University of Livingstonia from 14 to 16 September 2021 It took up the urgent theme of the decolonization of the theological curriculum Though Malawi has been an independent country for 58 years coloniality still stalks the land This book calls theologians to take a lead in decolonization while navigating the educational task in an online age With more than twenty institutions teaching theology at tertiary level in Malawi and now united in the Theological Society of Malawi there is huge potential to learn from each other in developing the theological curriculum in the country While the primary audience is unashamedly a Malawian one this book might also prove relevant in other contexts where there is a reckoning with past and present experience of colonialism The book is a call to action and is published in the hope that it will have lasting impact on the teaching and learning of theology in Malawi and beyond
