Decoration Of Houses:

The Decoration of Houses Edith Wharton, Ogden Codman, 2008-01-01 Written in collaboration with celebrated American architect Ogden Codman Wharton's first book is a comprehensive look at the history and character of turn of the century interior design moving from historical traditions to the distinctive styles of contemporary taste

The Decoration of Houses by Edith Wharton Edith Wharton, 1898 The Decoration of Houses a manual of interior design written by Edith Wharton with architect Ogden Codman was first published in 1897 In the book the authors denounce Victorian style interior decoration and interior design especially rooms decorated with heavy window curtains Victorian bric a brac and overstuffed furniture They argue that such rooms emphasize upholstery at the expense of proper space planning and architectural design and are therefore uncomfortable and rarely used Wharton and Codman advocated the creation of houses with rooms decorated with strong architectural wall and ceiling treatments accentuated by well suited furniture rooms based on simple classical design principles such as symmetry and proportion and a sense of architectural balance The Decoration of Houses is considered a seminal work and its success led to the emergence of professional decorators working in the manner advocated by its authors most notably Elsie de Wolfe The book was reprinted by The Mount and Rizzoli and in a hardcover facsimile in 2007

The Decoration of Houses Ogden Codman Wharton, 2016-08-18 The Historical Tradition Rooms in General Walls Doors Windows Fireplaces Ceilings and Floors Entrance and Vestibule Hall and Stairs The Drawing room Boudoir and Morning room Gala Rooms Ball room Saloon Music room Gallery The Library Smoking room and Den The Dining room Bedrooms The School room and Nurseries Bric Bracooms may be decorated in two ways by a superficial application of ornament totally independent of structure or by means of those architectural features which are part of the organism of every house inside as well as out In the middle ages when warfare and brigandage shaped the conditions of life and men camped in their castles much as they did in their tents it was natural that decorations should be portable and that the naked walls of the medi val chamber should be hung with arras while a ciel or ceiling of cloth stretched across the open timbers of its roof When life became more secure and when the Italian conquests of the Valois had acquainted men north of the Alps with the spirit of classic tradition proportion and the relation of voids to masses gradually came to be regarded as the chief decorative values of the interior Portable hangings were in consequence replaced by architectural ornament in other words the architecture of the room became its decoration This architectural treatment held its own through every change of taste until the second quarter of the present century but since then various influences have combined to sever the natural connection between the outside of the modern house and its interior In the average house the architect s task seems virtually confined xx to the elevations and floor plan The designing of what are to day regarded as insignificant details such as mouldings architraves and cornices has become a perfunctory work hurried over and unregarded and when this work is done the upholsterer is called in to decorate and furnish the rooms
