The Russian Avant-garde in the 1920s-1930s Evgenii Fedorovich Kovtun,1996 At the beginning of the twentieth century Russian art was in the vanguard of the world artistic process The decades which had gone into renewing painting in France were compressed into ten to fifteen years in Russia The 1910s unfolded under the sign of the growing influence of Cubism which changed the very face of the fine arts Yet by 1913 a turning point could be seen New plastic problems arose opening for Russian painters a way into the unknown The scales began to tip in the direction of the Russian avant garde

Russian Archaism Irina Shevelenko,2024-08-15 Russian Archaism considers the aesthetic quest of Russian modernism in relation to the nation building ideas that spread in the late imperial period Irina Shevelenko argues that the cultural milieu in Russia where the modernist movement began as an extension of Western trends at the end of the nineteenth century soon became captivated by nationalist indoctrination Members of artistic groups critics and theorists advanced new interpretations of the goals of aesthetic experimentation that would allow them to embed the nation building agenda within the aesthetic one Shevelenko s book focuses on the period from the formation of the World of Art group 1898 through the Great War and encompasses visual arts literature music and performance As Shevelenko shows it was the rejection of the Russian westernized tradition informed by the revival of populist sensibilities across the educated class that played a formative role in the development of Russian modernist agendas particularly after the 1905 revolution Russian Archaism reveals the modernist artistic enterprise as a crucial source of insight into Russia s political and cultural transformation in the early twentieth century and beyond
