Decorative Cast Ironwork In Wales:

Decorative Cast-Iron Work in Wales Ifor Edwards,1998-02-01 Decorative Cast-Ironwork in Wales Ifor Edwards,1989-01-01 The Architecture of Wales John B. Hilling,2018-08-15 It is the only book available that covers all types of architecture and building in Wales over a period of two thousand years from Roman times to the present The book is illustrated by 254 colour and black white photographs drawings and plans The book has fourteen specially drawn maps illustrating ranges of building types The book is intended for the general reader as well as architectural specialists

Decorative Cast Ironwork in Great Britain Raymond Lister,1960 Clwyd: Denbighshire and Flintshire Edward Hubbard,1986-03-01 Clwyd covering the former counties of Denbighshire and Flintshire is exceptionally rewarding in architecture the medieval period has left a fine legacy including castles of the time of Edward I as sophisticated as any in Europe the monastic ruins of Basingwerk and Valle Crucis and the distinctive local double nave type of Perpendicular church Country houses range in size and ambition from Erddig Kinnel and Chirk Castle to a host of lesser buildings humbler but still of quality Towns such as Denbigh and Ruthin village groups and Victorian seaside resorts all add to the pattern of styles and materials a pattern further enriched by relics of the Industrial revolution and the striking diversity of vernacular styles

Bandstands Paul Rabbitts,2020-10-13 In 1833 the Select Committee for Public Walks was introduced so that the provision of parks would lead to a better use of Sundays and the replacement of the debasing pleasures Music was seen as an important moral influence and musical cultivation the safest and surest method of popular culture and it was the eventual introduction of the bandstand which became a significant aspect of the reforming potential of public parks However the move from the bull baiting of Merrie England to the ordered recreation provided by bandstands has never been fully comprehended Likewise the extent of changes in leisure and public entertainment and the impact of music at seaside resorts often revolved around the use of seaside bandstands with the subsequent growth of coastal resorts Music in public spaces and the history and heritage of the bandstand has largely been ignored Yet in their heyday there were over 1 500 bandstands in the country in public parks on piers and seaside promenades attracting the likes of crowds of over 10 000 in the Arboretum in Lincoln to regular weekday and weekend concerts in most of London s parks up until the beginning of the Second World War Little is really known about them from their evolution as orchestras in the early Pleasure Gardens the music played within them to their intricate and ornate ironwork or art deco designs and the impact of the great foundries their worldwide influence to the great decline post Second World War and subsequent revival in the late 1990s This book tells the story of these pavilions made for music and their history decline and revival A Study of Decorative Cast Ironwork in Paddington Leona Helen Goldstein,1984 "Iron, Ornament and Architecture in Victorian Britain " Paul Dobraszczyk,2017-07-05 Vilified by leading architectural modernists and Victorian critics alike mass produced architectural ornament in iron has received little sustained study since the 1960s yet it proliferated in Britain in the half century after the building of the Crystal Palace in 1851 a time when some architects engineers manufacturers and theorists believed that the fusion of iron and ornament would reconcile art and technology and create a new modern architectural language

Comprehensively illustrated and richly researched Iron Ornament and Architecture in Victorian Britain presents the most sustained study to date of the development of mechanised architectural ornament in iron in nineteenth century architecture its reception and theorisation by architects critics and engineers and the contexts in which it flourished including industrial buildings retail and seaside architecture railway stations buildings for export and exhibition and street furniture Appealing to architects conservationists historians and students of nineteenth century visual culture and the built environment this book offers new ways of understanding the notion of modernity in Victorian architecture by questioning and re evaluating both Victorian and modernist understandings of the ideological split between historicism and functionalism and ornament and structure

Conservation of Architectural Ironwork David S. Mitchell, 2016-10-04 The peak of architectural ironwork in the 19th Century saw the spread of ornate decorative ironwork across the world In recent years there has been a significant increase in conservation and restoration projects aiming to protect the artistry of traditional ironwork for future generations Conservation of Architectural Ironwork is the first book to provide a complete guide to the conservation and maintenance of traditional architectural ironwork First introducing the contextual history and key material features of architectural ironwork the book goes on to guide readers through the management and delivery of conservation projects from start to finish explaining the very latest in conservation technology At its peak architectural ironwork was used on a vast global scale in buildings bridges street furniture and ornamental structures With international case studies and detailed illustrations this book will be an essential reference for heritage professionals and students of architectural conservation around the world
