Filipinas South Korean husbands in laws and multicultural agents and how various emotions of love care anxiety and gratitude affect immigrant women s fragmented citizenship and elusive sense of belonging to their new country By offering the perspectives of varied actors the book reveals how women s experiences of tension and marginalization are not generated within the family alone they also reflect the socioeconomic conditions of rural Korea and the state s unbalanced approach to multiculturalism Against a backdrop of the South Korean government s multicultural policies and projects aimed at integrating marriage immigrants Elusive Belonging attends to the emotional aspects of citizenship rooted in a sense of belonging It mediates between a critique of the assimilation inherent in Korea s multiculturalism and the contention that the country s core identity is shifting from ethnic homogeneity to multiethnic diversity In the process it shows how marriage immigrants are incorporated into the fabric of Korean society even as they construct new identities as Filipinas in South Korea
