Deathman Pass Me By Two Years On Death Row:

Deathman Pass Me by Philip Brasfield, Jeffrey M. Elliot, 1983-01-01 This book is Brasfield's personal chronicle of his life before imprisonment the circumstances leading up to his conviction and how he has survived behind steel bars It is a true story of a man confronting his demons and coming to terms with himself and his fate Facing the Death Penalty Michael Radelet, 1989 These essays show us the human and inhuman realities of capital punishment through the eyes of the condemned and those who work with them By focusing on those awaiting death they present the awful truth behind the statistics in concrete personal terms William J Bowers author of Legal Homicide Between 1930 and 1967 there were 3 859 executions carried out under state and civil authority in the United States Since the ten year moratorium on capital punishment ended in 1977 more than one hundred prisoners have been executed There are more than two thousand men and women now living on death row awaiting their executions Facing the Death Penalty offers an in depth examination of what life under a sentence of death is like for condemned inmates and their families how and why various professionals assist them in their struggle for life and what these personal experiences with capital punishment tell us about the wisdom of this penal policy The contributors include historians attorneys sociologists anthropologists criminologists a minister a philosopher and three prisoners One of the prisoner contributors is Willie Jasper Darden Jr whose case and recent execution after fourteen years on death row drew international attention The interdisciplinary perspectives offered in this book will not solve the death penalty debate but they offer important and unique insights on the full effects of American capital punishment provisions While the book does not set out to generate sympathy for those convicted of horrible crimes taken together the essays build a case for abolition of the death penalty This work stands with the best of what's been written It represents the best of those who have seen the worst Colman McCarthy The Washington Post Book World The Rope, The Chair, and the Needle James W. Marquart, Sheldon Ekland-Olson, Jonathan R. Sorensen, 2010-01-01 In late summer 1923 legal hangings in Texas came to an end and the electric chair replaced the gallows Of 520 convicted capital offenders sentenced to die between 1923 and 1972 361 were actually executed thus maintaining Texas traditional reputation as a staunch supporter of capital punishment This book is the single most comprehensive examination to date of capital punishment in any one state drawing on data for legal executions from 1819 to 1990 The authors show persuasively how slavery and the racially biased practice of lynching in Texas led to the institutionalization and public approval of executions skewed according to race class and gender and they also track long term changes in public opinion up to the present The stories of the condemned are masterfully interwoven with fact and interpretation to provide compelling reading for scholars of law criminal justice race relations history and sociology as well as partisans on both sides of the debate BP 250 R.
