

Debate Topic #2: The Wealth Tax

A wealth tax is an annual tax on the net wealth a person holds. Net wealth is calculated by adding up the value of a person's assets and deducting their debts or liabilities. The tax would not apply to income earned but it would apply to the value of real estate holdings and stock holdings. In the United States a wealth tax was proposed in 2019 by Massachusetts Senator and Presidential hopeful Elizabeth Warren. The tax would be levied on people with assets worth over $50 million. Those people with assets valued between $50 million and $1 billion would be taxed at 2%. Those with assets valued over $1 billion would be taxed at 6%. The question we are going to consider is: Should Canada, in an effort to reduce income inequality, levy a wealth tax on the asset value of the richest Canadians?

For a Wealth Tax (names):

Against a Wealth Tax (names):

Your job is to create a prepared 10 minute speech in which you address the proposed plans of Warren and Bernie Sanders in order to determine if a similar plan would work for Canada. You should also create a graph or two to illustrate the hypothetical economic effects that would support your position.

Be prepared to address the arguments of your opponents by creating a rebuttal in which you "counter the counter arguments".
