Debbie Does Dallas Andrew Sherman, 2004 THE STORY The most important theatrical event of the twenty first century DEBBIE DOES DALLAS is a modern morality tale told as a comic musical of tragic proportions in the language of the rodeo porno football circus The show is the coming of age Trademark Law and Theory Graeme B. Dinwoodie, Mark D. Janis, 2008 Boasting an impressive list of contributors this first edition of Trademark Law and Theory brings together a compilation of well written and powerfully argued works by leading international academics The book is certainly one of the most extensive and thought provoking overviews of contemporary trademark law and theory yet to be published Whilst all the contributions share in common their examination of the rapidity of change within trademark systems the editors should be commended on their generous seasoning of other cross cutting themes throughout the Handbook This fascinating compendium enriches our understanding of the shape substance and form of trademark law and theory this Handbook is perhaps a rare exception to the adage that no book can be all things to all men Its broad sweep approach and cross cutting themes enable a range of interested parties such as policymakers academics in the fields of marketing business consumer psychology in addition to the usual suspects to dip in and out of the Handbook as they wish a unique and erudite collection of essays concerning trademark law and theory Odette Hutchinson Communications Law Trademarks is an area of vital practical everyday concern and the idea of producing a volume that brings together the perspectives of 19 thoughtful and experienced legal scholars is a bold and exciting initiative The present volume does not disappoint and the two editors are to be congratulated on orchestrating an ensemble that simultaneously informs and stimulates The title is apt it is truly contemporary and is highly theoretical and doctrinal in character while the interesting choice of the word handbook suggests clearly that this is a work in progress a snapshot at a particular time of the challenging lines of individual research that each contributor to the volume is undertaking It is a fine addition to a larger series of research handbooks in intellectual property published by Edward Elgar under the series editorship of Jeremy Phillips The editors have done a fine job in presenting this material in such a clear and coherent fashion this is an excellent and rewarding volume of readings that will be of interest to anyone working in the area of trademarks whether as an academic or as a practitioner Indeed for the practitioner it will be of particular value in that it contains and opens up many areas of inquiry that may not always be apparent when working at the coalface of a particular problem For both kinds of readers the real value of the volume is to have so many different kinds of perspectives brought together within the space of a single volume this is a handsome production the publishers and editors are to be commended on the clarity and cleanness of the typeface and headings the thoroughness of the index and the accuracy of their proof reading It has also been given a striking and evocative cover Sam Ricketson University of Melbourne Law School Australia European Intellectual Property Review Trademark Law and Theory is a first rate exploration of the issues that will dominate trademark law in the 21st century Authors from five continents provide a truly global perspective on the present and future of trademark law An exceptional collection of contributors and contributions Robert Denicola University of Nebraska US This compendium is an excellent source of writing on all aspects of trademark law and practice by experts from Europe the United States South Africa Singapore New Zealand and Australia It will be a stimulating read for lawyers academics students and policymakers alike on the present and developing trends in law and policy relating to trademarks as marketing tools and cultural artefacts The editors deserve congratulation on their concept for the book and their judicious selection of material David Vaver University of Oxford UK All students young and older in the burgeoni

Feminism and Deconstruction Diane Elam, 2006-10-19 At last an intelligent and accessible introduction to the relationship between feminism and deconstruction In this incisive and illuminating book Diane Elam unravels the contemporary relevance of feminism and deconstruction how we can still understand and talk about the materiality of women's bodies whether gender can be distinguished from sex the place of ethics and political action in the light of postmodernist theory Clearly and brilliantly written Feminism and Deconstruction is essential reading for anyone who needs a no nonsense but stimulating guide through one of the mazes of contemporary theory Attorney General's Commission on Pornography, Final Report

Mother Jones Magazine, 1986-10 Mother Jones is an award winning national magazine widely respected for its groundbreaking investigative reporting and coverage of sustainability and environmental issues Brand Name Bullies David Bollier, 2008-04-21 An impassioned darkly amusing look at how corporations misuse copyright law to stifle creativity and free speech If you want to make fun of Mickey or Barbie on your Web site you may be hearing from some corporate lawyers You should also think twice about calling something fair and balanced or publicly using Martin Luther King Jr's I Have a Dream speech It may be illegal Or it may be entirely legal but the distinction doesn't matter if you can't afford a lawyer More and more corporations are grabbing and asserting rights over every idea and creation in our world regardless of the law's intent or the public interest. But beyond the humorous absurdity of all this there lies a darker problem as David Bollier shows in this important new book. Lawsuits and legal bullying clearly prevent the creation of legitimate new software, new art and music, new literature, new businesses, and worst of all, new scientific and medical research. David Bollier, Amherst MA, is cofounder of Public Knowledge and Senior Fellow at the Norman Lear Center, USC Annenberg School for Communication. His books include Silent Theft.      Making the Grades Todd Farley, 2011-01-01. In this alternately amusing and appalling exposé of the standardized test industry, fifteen-year veteran Todd Farley describes statisticians who make decisions about students without even looking at their test answers, state education officials willing to change the way tests are scored whenever they don't like the results, and massive multi-national for-profit testing companies who regularly opt for expediency and profit over the altruistic educational goals of teaching and learning. Although there are absurd moments, as when Farley and coworkers had to grade students based on how they described the taste of their favorite food, the enormous importance of standardized tests in the post-No Child Left Behind era makes this no laughing matter. This book is dynamite. The nice personal voice makes it utterly accessible and enticing, wholly apart from the terribly important ammunition it provides to those of us in the testing wars at national and local levels. Jonathan Kozol, author of Savage Inequalities.

Screening Adult Cinema Farrah Freibert, Peter Alilunas, Desirae Embree, 2025-08-29. This collection of 39 original essays is designed to support film screenings. Each chapter focuses on a single adult film, a category broadly construed as films that foreground sex as a primary narrative, aesthetic, or marketing element. The chapters draw on a variety of perspectives, contexts, histories, themes, and politics in examinations of style, genre, authorship, performance, and stardom. The first of its kind, Screening Adult Cinema brings together a broad range of established scholars alongside new voices to demonstrate the global breadth and diversity of adult cinema from a variety of time periods and transnational contexts, paying particular attention to regions and films that have been underrepresented within existing adult film scholarship. Following the Screening Cinema series, Screening Adult Cinema is intended as a teaching text and reference for courses in which film screenings are a core activity, while also appealing to adult film scholars. This unique collection will be invaluable for courses on adult or exploitation film, history, feminist film studies, global queer cinema, and porn studies. It will also be useful for general courses in media studies with a focus on gender, sex, and sexuality.      Domestic Noir Laura Joyce, Henry Sutton, 2018-04-23. This book represents the first serious consideration of the domestic noir phenomenon, and by extension, the psychological thriller. The only such landmark collection since Lee Horsley's The Noir Thriller, it extends the argument for serious academic study of crime fiction, particularly in relation to gender, domestic violence, social and political awareness, psychological acuity, and structural and narratological inventiveness. As well as this, it shifts the debate around the sub-genre firmly up to date and brings together a range of global voices to dissect and situate the notion of domestic noir. This book is essential reading for students, scholars, and fans of the psychological thriller.      Debating Pornography Andrew Altman, Lori

Watson,2019 Since the sexual revolution of the 1960s debates over pornography have raged and the explosive spread in recent years of sexually explicit images across the Internet has only added more urgency to these disagreements Politicians judges clergy citizen activists and academics have weighed in on the issues for decades complicating notions about what precisely is at stake and who stands to benefit or be harmed by pornography This volume takes an unusual but radical approach by analyzing pornography philosophically Philosophers Andrew Altman and Lori Watson recalibrate debates by viewing pornography from distinctly ethical platforms namely does a person s right to produce and consume pornography supersede a person s right to protect herself from something often violent and deeply misogynistic In a for and against format Altman first argues that there is an individual right to create and view pornographic images rooted in a basic right to sexual autonomy Watson counteracts Altman s position by arguing that pornography inherently undermines women s equal status Central to their disagreement is the question of whether pornography truly harms women enough to justify laws aimed at restricting the production and circulation of such material Through this debate the authors address key questions that have dogged both those who support and oppose pornography What is pornography What is the difference between the material widely perceived as objectionable and material that is merely erotic or suggestive Do people have a right to sexual arousal Does pornography or some types of it cause violence against women How should rights be weighed against consequentialist considerations in deciding what laws and policies ought to be adopted Bolstered by insights from philosophy and law the two authors engage in a reasoned examination of questions that cannot be ignored by anyone who takes seriously the values of freedom and equality
