Uncertain Suffering Carolyn Rouse, 2009-08-03 On average black Americans are sicker and die earlier than white Americans Uncertain Suffering provides a richly nuanced examination of what this fact means for health care in the United States through the lens of sickle cell anemia a disease that primarily affects blacks In a wide ranging analysis that moves from individual patient cases to the compassionate yet distanced professionalism of health care specialists to the level of national policy Carolyn Moxley Rouse uncovers the cultural assumptions that shape the quality and delivery of care for sickle cell patients She reveals a clinical world fraught with uncertainties over how to treat black patients given resource limitations and ambivalence Her book is a compelling look at the ways in which the politics of racism attitudes toward pain and suffering and the reliance on charity for healthcare services for the underclass can create disparities in the U S Instead of burdening hospitals and clinics with the task of ameliorating these disparities Rouse argues that resources should be redirected to community based health programs that reduce daily forms of physical and mental suffering

Rethinking Labour in Africa, Past and Present Lynn Schler, Louise Bethlehem, Galia Sabar, 2013-09-13 This book offers a broad range of perspectives on major transformations in the research of labor in Africa contexts over the last twenty years This is a groundbreaking work by social scientists and historians adopting innovative paradigms in the study of African laborers working classes and economies it moves away from stringent Marxist perspectives towards more localized and fluid conceptions of materiality and productivity Against the backdrop of increasing mobility of labor and capital the authors demonstrate the need for a simultaneous consideration of local national and transnational contexts The collection of essays provides multiple perspectives on how African workers have negotiated changes and exploited opportunities in increasingly globalized workplaces while at the same time confronting the impact of global capitalist expansion on local settings in Africa This book was previously published as a Special Issue of African Identities Our NHS Andrew Seaton,2023-08-22 An engaging inclusive history of the NHS exploring its surprising survival and the people who have kept it running In recent decades a wave of appreciation for the NHS has swept across the UK Britons have clapped for frontline workers and championed the service as a distinctive national achievement All this has happened in the face of ideological opposition marketization and workforce crises But how did the NHS become what it is today In this wide ranging history Andrew Seaton examines the full story of the NHS He traces how the service has changed and adapted bringing together the experiences of patients staff from Britain and abroad and the service s wider supporters and opponents He explains not only why it survived the neoliberalism of the late twentieth century but also how it became a key marker of national identity Seaton emphasizes the resilience of the NHS perpetually in crisis and yet perennially enduring as well as the political values it embodies and the work of those who have tirelessly kept it afloat After Stories Irina Carlota Silber,2022-08-23 This book builds upon Irina Carlota Lotti Silber s nearly 25 years of ethnographic research centered in Chalatenango El Salvador to follow the trajectories geographic temporal storied of several extended Salvadoran families Traveling back and forth in time and across borders Silber narrates the everyday unfolding of diasporic lives rich with acts of labor love and renewed calls for memory truth and accountability in El Salvador s long postwar Through a retrospective and intimate ethnographic method that examines archives of memories and troubles the categories that have come to stand for El Salvador such as alarming violent numbers Silber considers the lives of young Salvadorans who were brought up in an everyday radical politics and then migrated to the United States after more than a decade of peace and democracy She reflects on this generation of migrants the 1 5 insurgent generation born to forgotten former rank and file militants as well as their intergenerational transnational families to unpack the assumptions and typical ways of knowing in postwar ethnography As the 1 5 generation sustains their radical political project across borders circulates the products of their migrant labor through remittances and engages in collective social care for the debilitated bodies of their loved ones they transform and depart from expectations of the wounded postwar that offer us hope for the making of more just global futures

Representing the Past Charlotte M. Canning,Thomas Postlewait,2010-04-15 Representing the Past is required reading for any serious scholar of theatre and performance historiography original in its conception global in its reach thought provoking and transformative in its effects Gay Gibson Cima author Early American Women Critics Performance Religion Race The Experiential Caribbean Pablo F. Gómez,2017-02-23 Opening a window on a dynamic realm far beyond imperial courts anatomical theaters and learned societies Pablo F G mez examines the strategies that Caribbean people used to create authoritative experientially based knowledge about the human body and the natural world during the long seventeenth century G mez treats the early modern intellectual culture of these mostly black and free Caribbean communities on its own merits and not only as it relates to well known frameworks for the study of science and medicine Drawing on an array of governmental and ecclesiastical sources notably Inquisition records G mez highlights more than one hundred black ritual practitioners regarded as masters of healing practices and as social and spiritual leaders He shows how they developed evidence based healing principles based on sensorial experience rather than on dogma He elucidates how they nourished ideas about the universality of human bodies which contributed to the rise of empirical testing of disease origins and cures Both colonial authorities and Caribbean people of all conditions viewed this experiential knowledge as powerful and competitive In some ways it served to respond to the ills of slavery Even more crucial however it demonstrates how the black Atlantic helped creatively to fashion the early modern world Joyce in the Belly of the Big Truck;

Workbook Joyce A. Cascio,2005-05 African Journal of AIDS Research ,2004 Food Allergy Advocacy Danya Glabau,2022-05-10 A detailed exploration of parents fight for a safe environment for their kids interrogating how race class and gender shape health advocacy The success of food allergy activism in highlighting the dangers of foodborne allergens shows how illness communities can effectively advocate for the needs of their members In Food Allergy Advocacy Danya Glabau follows parents and activists as they fight for allergen free environments accurate labeling the fair application of disability law and access to life saving medications for food allergic children in the United States At the same time she shows how this activism also reproduces the culturally dominant politics of personhood and responsibility based on an idealized version of the American family centered around white middle class and heteronormative motherhood By holding up the threat of food allergens to the white nuclear family to galvanize political and scientific action Glabau shows the movement excludes many including Black women and disabled adults whose families and health have too often been marginalized from public health and social safety net programs Further its strategies are founded on the assumption that market based solutions will address issues of social exclusion and equal access to healthcare Sharing the personal experiences of a wide spectrum of people including parents support group leaders physicians entrepreneurs and scientists Food Allergy Advocacy raises important questions about who controls illness activism Using critical intersectional feminism to interrogate how race class and gender shape activist priorities and platforms it shows the way to new justice focused models of advocacy The Anthropological Demography of Health Véronique Petit,Kaveri Qureshi,Yves Charbit,Philip Kreager,2020 The Anthropological Demography of Health explores the combination of anthropological and demographic approaches to public health research charting the growing body of research that combines ethnography with quantitative models and methods in the field of population health The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2005 Managing Chronicity in Unequal States Laura Montesi, Melania Calestani, 2021-11-22 By portraying the circumstances of people living with chronic conditions in radically different contexts from Alzheimer's patients in the UK to homeless people with psychiatric disorders in India Managing Chronicity in Unequal States offers glimpses of what dealing with medically complex conditions in stratified societies means While in some places the state regulates and intrudes on the most intimate aspects of chronic living in others it is utterly and criminally absent Either way it is a present absent actor that deeply conditions people's opportunities and strategies of care This book explores how individuals groups and communities navigate uncertain and unequal healthcare systems in which inherent moral judgements on human worth have long lasting effects on people's wellbeing This is key reading for anyone wishing to deconstruct the issues at stake when analysing how care and chronicity are entangled with multiple institutional economic and other circumstantial factors How people access the available informal and formal resources as well as how they react to official diagnoses and decisions are important facets of the management of chronicity In the arena of care people with chronic conditions find themselves negotiating restrictions and handling issues of power and inter dependency in relationships of inequality and proximity This is particularly relevant in current times when care has given in to the lure of the market and the possibility of living a long and fulfilling life has been drastically reduced transformed into a reward for the few who have been deemed worthy of it "Long Ago We Were Still Walking when We Died" Julie Livingston, 2001 *Debility and the Moral Imagination in Botswana.
