The Descent of Anansi Larry Niven, 2009      The Descent of Anansi Larry Niven, 1991-01 Tells the story of a spaceship attacked by pirates      The Lever of Riches Joel Mokyr, 1992-04-09 In a world of supercomputers genetic engineering and fiber optics technological creativity is ever more the key to economic success But why are some nations more creative than others and why do some highly innovative societies such as ancient China or Britain in the industrial revolution pass into stagnation Beginning with a fascinating concise history of technological progress Mokyr sets the background for his analysis by tracing the major inventions and innovations that have transformed society since ancient Greece and Rome What emerges from this survey is often surprising the classical world for instance was largely barren of new technology the relatively backward society of medieval Europe bristled with inventions and the period between the Reformation and the Industrial Revolution was one of slow and unspectacular progress in technology despite the tumultuous developments associated with the Voyages of Discovery and the Scientific Revolution What were the causes of technological creativity Mokyr distinguishes between the relationship of inventors and their physical environment which determined their willingness to challenge nature and the social environment which determined the openness to new ideas He discusses a long list of such factors showing how they interact to help or hinder a nation's creativity and then illustrates them by a number of detailed comparative studies examining the differences between Europe and China between classical antiquity and medieval Europe and between Britain and the rest of Europe during the industrial revolution He examines such aspects as the role of the state the Chinese gave up a millennium wide lead in shipping to the Europeans for example when an Emperor banned large ocean going vessels the impact of science as well as religion politics and even nutrition He questions the importance of such commonly cited factors as the spill over benefits of war the abundance of natural resources life expectancy and labor costs Today an ever greater number of industrial economies are competing in the global market locked in a struggle that revolves around technological ingenuity The Lever of Riches with its keen analysis derived from a sweeping survey of creativity throughout history offers telling insights into the question of how Western economies can maintain and developing nations can unlock their creative potential      Science Fact and Science Fiction Brian Stableford, 2006-09-06 Science fiction is a literary genre based on scientific speculation Works of science fiction use the ideas and the vocabulary of all sciences to create valid narratives that explore the future effects of science on events and human beings Science Fact and Science Fiction examines in one volume how science has propelled science fiction and to a lesser extent how science fiction has influenced the sciences Although coverage will discuss the science behind the fiction from the Classical Age to the present focus is naturally on the 19th century to the present when the Industrial Revolution and spectacular progress in science and technology triggered an influx of science fiction works speculating on the future As scientific developments alter expectations for the future the literature absorbs uses and adapts such contextual visions The goal of the Encyclopedia is not to present a catalog of sciences and their application in literary fiction but rather to study the ongoing flow and counterflow of influences including how fictional representations of science affect how we view its practice and disciplines Although the main focus is on literature other forms of science fiction including film and video games are explored and because science is an international matter works from non English speaking countries are discussed as needed The Burning City Jerry Pournelle, Larry Niven, 2010-12-14 Set in the world of Larry Niven's popular The Magic Goes Away The Burning City transports readers to an enchanted ancient city bearing a provocative resemblance to our own modern society Here Yagen Atep the volatile and voracious god of fire alternately protects and destroys the city's denizens In Tep's Town nothing can burn indoors and no fire can start except when the Burning comes upon the city Then the people possessed by Yagen Atep set their own town ablaze in a riotous orgy of destruction that often comes without warning Whandall Placehold has lived with the Burning all his life Fighting his way to adulthood in the mean but magical streets of the city's most blighted neighborhoods Whandall dreams of escaping the god's wrath to find a new and better life But his best hope for freedom may lie with Morth of Atlantis the enigmatic sorcerer who killed his father Who's Who of Twentieth Century Novelists Tim Woods, 2008-02-21 Taking in novelists from all over the globe from the beginning of the century to the present day this is the most comprehensive survey of the leading lights of twentieth century fiction Superb breadth of coverage and over 800 entries by an international team of contributors ensures that this fascinating and wide ranging work of reference will be invaluable to anyone with an interest in modern fiction Authors included range from Joseph Conrad to Albert Camus and Franz Kafka to Chinua Achebe Who's Who of Twentieth Century Novelists gives a superb insight into the richness and diversity of the twentieth century novel

Carrington, 2016-02-29 In Speculative Blackness Andr M Carrington analyzes the highly racialized genre of speculative fiction including science fiction fantasy and utopian works along with their fan cultures to illustrate the relationship between genre conventions in media and the meanings ascribed to blackness in the popular imagination Carrington s argument about authorship fandom and race in a genre that has been both marginalized and celebrated offers a black perspective on iconic works of science fiction He examines the career of actor Nichelle Nichols who portrayed the character Uhura in the original Star Trek television series and later became a recruiter for NASA and the spin off series Star Trek Deep Space Nine set on a space station commanded by a black captain He recovers a pivotal but overlooked moment in 1950s science fiction fandom in which readers and writers of fanzines confronted issues of race by dealing with a fictitious black fan writer and questioning the relevance of race to his ostensible contributions to the zines Carrington mines the productions of Marvel comics and the black owned comics publisher Milestone Media particularly the representations of black sexuality in its flagship title Icon He also interrogates online fan fiction about black British women in Buffy the Vampire Slayer and the Harry Potter series Throughout this nuanced analysis Carrington theorizes the relationship between race and genre in cultural production revealing new understandings of the significance of blackness in twentieth century American literature and culture Black and Brown Planets Isiah Lavender III, 2014-09-25 Black and Brown Planets embarks on a timely exploration of the American obsession with color in its look at the sometimes contrary intersections of politics and race in science fiction The contributors including De Witt D Kilgore Edward James Lisa Yaszek and Marleen S Barr among others explore science fiction worlds of possibility literature television and film lifting blacks Latin Americans and indigenous peoples out from the background of this historically white genre This collection considers the role of race and ethnicity in our visions of the future The first section emphasizes the political elements of black identity portrayed in science fiction from black America to the vast reaches of interstellar space framed by racial history In the next section analysis of indigenous science fiction addresses the effects of colonization helps discard the emotional and psychological baggage carried from its impact and recovers ancestral traditions in order to adapt in a post Native apocalyptic world Likewise this section explores the affinity between science fiction and subjectivity in Latin American cultures from the role of science and industrialization to the effects of being in and moving between two cultures By infusing more color in this otherwise monochrome genre Black and Brown Planets imagines alternate racial galaxies with viable political futures in which people of color determine human destiny Science Fiction Magazine Story Index, 1926-1995 Terry A.
