It has continued to prove itself throughout the fourteen years since the publication of the first edition of this preeminent commentary a period during which the Convention's scope and application have been greatly augmented by numerous court decisions rendered in jurisdictions around the globe and regarding arbitral awards resulting from both commercial and investor State disputes as well as by abundant legal scholarship calling for an updated edition. The second edition retains the book's article by article format both text and detailed analysis including each provision's theoretical underpinnings and practical application in a wide variety of jurisdictions around the world. The editors have assembled a group of authors some already involved in the first edition some new each of them an experienced practitioner in the field of international arbitration in their particular country and deeply conversant with the leading and most recent arbitrations and relevant court decisions in their domestic case law. The commentary includes updated and expanded coverage of such aspects of arbitration practice as the following: application by domestic courts of the grounds for refusal of recognition and enforcement of arbitral awards; use of reservations made by Contracting States; distinctions between recognition sought at the seat of the arbitration and outside the seat; safeguarding due process standards; the more favourable rights principle embodied in Article VII; 1 forum shopping and the role of formalities and formalism. To continue to provide a truly international view of how the Convention functions in practice the analysis thoroughly covers the major recent issues that have arisen in its application and their resolutions in diverse cases. The end result is an invaluable work that will prove enormously useful to all international commercial arbitration practitioners and scholars regardless of location. Jacobs, White and Ovey Bernadette Rainey, Elizabeth Wicks, Clare Ovey, 2014 The European Convention on Human Rights protects human rights in nearly 50 European countries. If States fail to meet the standards required by the Convention victims of violations can complain to the Strasbourg Court of Human Rights. This book examines both the substance and procedure under the Convention. Old Europe, New Europe and the US Tom Lansford, 2017-07-05 Iraq can be considered the perfect storm which brought out the stark differences between the US and Europe. The disagreement over the role of the United Nations continues and the bitterness in the United States against its betrayal by allies like France is not diminishing. Meanwhile the standing of the United States among the European public has plummeted. Within Europe political tensions between what US Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld euphemistically called the Old Europe and the New Europe continue to divide. To fully comprehend these rifts this volume takes a specific look at the core security priorities of each European state and whether these interests are best served through closer security collaboration with the US or with emerging European structures such as the European Rapid Reaction Force. It analyzes the contribution each state would make to transatlantic security the role they envisage for existing security structures such as NATO and the role the US would play in transatlantic security German Foreign Policy and Greek Martyr Communities Charalampos Karpouchtsis, 2024-05-03 The Euro crisis of 2008 had a deep impact on German Greek relations The exchange of blows in media and amongst politicians created a deep divide and made old wounds visible wounds that lie in the Occupation of Greece by Nazi Germany and its fascist allies during World War 2 In 2014 German foreign policy towards Greece shifted to include reconciliatory measures marking the beginning of Germany's foreign policy of reconciliation One area of focus is memory culture and the Greek martyr communities meaning villages and towns that experienced extreme violence destruction and executions Diving into these places of terror and memory the book analyzes German foreign policy of reconciliation while providing a profound view onto history diplomacy and the widely unknown Greek memory landscape It entails a thorough review of German Greek relations more than seven unique maps and 10 case studies accompanied by photographs and over 35 interviews It shows how foreign policy conflict and reconciliation intertwine and how international affairs meet the local level of everyday citizens Germany and the Baltic Problem After the Cold War Kristina Spohr Readman, 2004-06-10 Questions how a unified Germany will use its great power status Draws on numerous confidential interviews with key political actors and on unprecedented access to still classified material

The Reception of International Law in the European Court of Human Rights Magdalena Forowicz, 2010 The growing number of international courts and tribunals and their burgeoning case law have fuelled concerns about the fragmentation of international law This arises as a consequence of both the specialized regimes these courts create and the multiple ways in which they may interpret international law emanating from other sources This book considers this issue by examining the busiest and arguably most successful international court the European Court of Human Rights More specifically it focuses on the jurisprudence of the Court and its predecessor the European Commission of Human Rights covering a range of special human rights regimes treaty law and the case law of the International Court of Justice The author assesses whether the Court has been able to adopt a coherent comprehensive approach to the interpretation and evaluation of international law and thus the extent to which it has been able to contribute to the development and coherence of international law
