Decision Making In Periodontology:

Decision Making in Periodontology Walter B. Hall, 1998 DECISION MAKING IN PERIODONTOLOGY illustrates the thought processes in the field of periodontics that determine optimal therapy for an individual patient. The approach entails the use of a decision tree for each clinical problem or situation; this is accompanied by a brief explanation of the basis for each decision. The chapters present common clinical problems in a format that enables the reader to find solutions more easily than in traditional texts. In addition, several readily available references are included with each chapter. The text is organized into eleven sections from the most basic to the most complex for assistance with problem solving in dental practices. Sections include History Taking, Indications for Collecting and Recording Data, Signs and Symptoms, Initial Therapy, Evaluation and Detecting and Recording Findings, Differential Diagnosis, and Treatment Planning, among others that focus on clinician's concerns. Each chapter includes several readily available references organized into sections from most basic to most complex. Decision tree format is provided for each clinical problem or situation. Signs and symptoms section presents unique diagnostic approach options shown in the algorithms. Includes decision trees that address periodontal treatment for impacted third molars and five different types of implants. Decision Making in Periodontology, 1993 Hall's Critical Decisions in Periodontology & Dental Implantology, 5e Lisa Harpenau, 2013-07-31 Hall's Critical Decisions in Periodontology Fifth Edition is designed to guide students and practitioners in applying their decision making knowledge in a structured and logical manner whether in diagnosis, treatment selections and options, procedures in various treatments or evaluating outcomes. Improving the Decision-making Process in Periodontology and Dental Implantology Clóvis Mariano Faggion, 2012 Evidence-Based Decision Making in Dentistry Eyal Rosen, Carlos E. Nemcovsky, Igor Tsesis, 2017-01-05 This clinically oriented book covers all aspects of the evidence based decision making process in multidisciplinary management of the natural dentition. The book opens by clarifying the principles of evidence based decision making and explaining how these principles should be applied in daily practice. Individual chapters then focus specifically and in detail on endodontic, periodontal and prosthetic considerations, identifying aspects that need to be integrated into decision making and treatment planning Evidence based decision making with regard to preservation of the natural tooth versus extraction and implant placement is then discussed and a concluding chapter examines likely future trends in dentistry and how they may affect clinical decision making The authors include leading endodontists periodontists and prosthodontists Given the multidisciplinary and comprehensive nature of the book it will be relevant and interesting to the entire dental community
