Shipboard Acoustics J. Buiten, 2012-12-06 The first International Symposium on Shipboard Acoustics held in Noordwijkerhout The Netherlands in 1976 was a meeting of invited experts each having considerable expertise in ship acoustics Many of the participants were dealing with research on various ship acoustical subjects and it proved to be a good idea to discuss future investigations and new techniques At that time acousticians learned to use real time signal processing techniques and attempts were made to establish sound level prediction methods based on semi fundamental considerations instead of the methods using empirically obtained data Time was pressing as it was assumed that in view of the adoption of Recommendation 141 of the International Labour Conference in 1970 authorities would soon make appropriate provisions to protect seafarers from the ill effects of noise This resulted in several national recommendations followed by the IMO Code on noise levels aboard ships which was adopted by the IMO Assembly in 1981 After that pressure on the authorities was increased further by the decision of the European Community to protect labourers against harmful noise at their workplaces including ships Legally enforceable noise limits will therefore become normal in the future In many countries recommendations with respect to maximum allowable sound pressure levels in the crew accommodations and work area aboard ships were already taken into account by ship owners long before the existence of the Recommendations Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress. Copyright Office,1964 The Orient in Chaucer and Medieval Romance Carol Falvo Heffernan,2003 A study of romance and the Orient in Chaucer and in anonymous popular metrical romances The idea of the Orient is a major motif in Chaucer and medieval romance and this new study reveals much about its use and significance setting the literature in its historical context and thereby offering fresh new readings of a number of texts The author begins by looking at Chaucer's and Gower's treatment of the legend of Constance as told by the Man of Law demonstrating that Chaucer's addition of a pattern of mercantile details highlights the commercial context of the eastern Mediterranean in which the heroine is placed she goes on to show how Chaucer's portraits of Cleopatra and Dido from the Legend of Good Women read against parallel texts especially in Boccaccio reveal them to be loci of medieval orientalism She then examines Chaucer's inventive handling of details taken from Eastern sources and analogues in the Squire's Tale showing how he shapes them into the western form of interlace The author concludes by looking at two romances Floris and Blanchefleur and Le Bone Florence of Rome she argues that elements in Floris of sibling incest are legitimised into a quest for the beloved and demonstrates that Le Bone Florence be related to analogous oriental tales about heroic women who remain steadfast in virtue against persecution and adversity Professor CAROL F HEFFERNAN teaches in the Department of English Rutgers University NBS Monograph ,1970
