The Making of Miami Beach, 1933-1942 Jean-François Lejeune, Lawrence Murray Dixon, Allan T. Shulman, Bass Museum of Art, 2000. Yet what makes Miami Beach remarkable is not only the way in which Dixon and his colleagues used Art Deco to meet the local need for lower cost resort architecture but the way in which they adapted the style to incorporate local motifs and historical styles. The result is the unique architecture of South Beach as it is now known, the largely restored international vacation hotspot and the country's first twentieth century architectural district to be placed on the National Register of Historic Places.

The Pedestrian and the City Carmen Hass-Klau, 2014-11-27. The Pedestrian and the City provides an overview and insight into the development, politics, and policies on walking and pedestrians. It includes the evolution of pedestrian friendly housing estates in the 19th century up to the present day. Key issues addressed include the struggle of pedestrianization in town centers, the attempts to create independent pedestrian footpaths, and the popularity of traffic calming as a powerful policy for reducing pedestrian accidents. Hass-Klau also covers the wider aspects of urban and transport planning, especially public transport, essential for promoting a pedestrian friendly environment. The book includes pedestrian friendly policies and guidelines from a number of European countries and includes case studies from the UK, Germany, Britain, France, Spain, Italy, the Netherlands, Denmark, the US, and Canada, with further examples from ten additional countries. It also contains a unique collection of original photographs including before and after photos of newly introduced pedestrian friendly transport policies. As the pedestrian environment has become ever more crucial for the future of our cities, the book will be invaluable to students and practicing planners, geographers, transport engineers, and local government officers.
