Wake Up Dead Man Bruce Jackson, 1999 Making it in Hell says Bruce Jackson is the spirit behind the sixty five work songs gathered in this eloquent dispatch from a brutal era of prison life in the Deep South Through engagingly documented song arrangements and profiles of their singers Jackson shows how such pieces as Hammer Ring Ration Blues Yellow Gal and Jody's Got My Wife and Gone are like no other folk music forms they are distinctly African in heritage diminished in power and meaning outside their prison context and used exclusively by black convicts The songs helped workers through the rigors of cane cutting logging and cotton picking Perhaps most important they helped resolve the men's hopes and longings and allowed them a subtle outlet for grievances they could never voice when face to face with their jailers

Oral Traditions and the Verbal Arts

Ruth Finnegan, 2003-09-02 The study of oral traditions and verbal arts leads into an area of human culture to which anthropologists are increasingly turning their attention Oral Traditions and the Verbal Arts provides up to date guidance on how to approach the study of oral form and their performances treating both the practicalities of fieldwork and the methods by which oral texts and performances can be observed collected or analysed It also relates to those current controversies about the nature of performance and of text Designed as a practical and systematic introduction to the processes and problems of researching in this area this is an invaluable guide for students and lecturers of anthropology and cultural studies and also for general readers who are interested in enjoying oral literature for its own sake

Black, White, and in Color Hortense J. Spillers, 2003-04-28 Black White and in Color offers a long awaited collection of major essays by Hortense Spillers one of the most influential and inspiring black critics of the past twenty years Spanning her work from the early 1980s in which she pioneered a broadly poststructuralist approach to African American literature and extending through her turn to cultural studies in the 1990s these essays display her passionate commitment to reading as a fundamentally political act one pivotal to rewriting the humanist project Spillers is best known for her race centered revision of psychoanalytic theory and for her subtle account of the relationships between race and gender She has also given literary criticism some of its most powerful readings of individual authors represented here in seminal essays on Ralph Ellison Gwendolyn Brooks and

William Faulkner Ultimately the essays collected in Black White and in Color all share Spillers's signature style heady eclectic and astonishingly productive of new ideas Anyone interested in African American culture and literature will want to read them
