Women Intellectuals, Modernism, and Difference Alice Gambrell, 1997-07-03 How do gender and race become objects of intellectual inquiry What happens to marginal discourses when they participate in the academic processes of scrutiny and evaluation In Women Intellectuals Modernism and Difference Alice Gambrell examines the careers of a group of women intellectuals Leonora Carrington Ella Deloria H D Zora

Neale Hurston and Frida Kahlo whose scholarly rediscovery coincided with the rise of feminist and minority discourse studies in the academy She examines the exhibitions memoirs poems ethnographies and personal correspondences these women produced combining concrete local observation with contemporary theoretical perspectives on race and gender Through a mixture of empirical detail and theoretical speculation Gambrell explores the role these women played in expanding the conception of American literature by their involvement in the Harlem Renaissance She offers new ways of thinking about the relationships between cultural studies feminism and minority discourse within the ongoing reassessment of modernism

Spaces of the Mind Elaine Jahner, 2004-01-01 Spaces of the Mind reveals how both immigrant European and modern Native communities and individuals use oral and written narratives to define and center themselves in time and space Elaine A Jahner skillfully weaves together years of fieldwork among the Standing Rock Sioux in North Dakota her own memories of growing up in a German Russian town across the Missouri River from the Standing Rock Sioux and an illuminating set of narrative concepts Spaces of the Mind proposes a theory of cognitive style that emphasizes the ways in which distinct cultural identities are expressed through the structure of a narrative and the unfolding of its performance telling or reading Themes of creativity and survival amid loss pervade the stories told by Natives about themselves and their past when discussing the inundation of the original Standing Rock Sioux village during the Oahe Dam construction in the 1950s Immigrant Germans and Alsatians struggled to reconcile the hardships of the northern Plains with what they left behind in the Old World and the narratives of a German Russian community reflect and encourage survival in the face of transition Jahner also studies how two prominent novelists James Welch a member of the Blackfeet community and Mildred Walker who left her native New England for the West perceive a single landscape the state of Montana and how it has influenced their thought and narratives Spaces of the Mind provides a fresh understanding of Western literature and culture encourages a reconsideration of the formation and modern character of the American West and contributes to a fuller appreciation of the significance of narrative

The Jarmusch Way Julian Rice, 2012-10-12 Since the early 1980s Jim Jarmusch has produced a handful of idiosyncratic films that have established him as one of the most imaginatively allusive directors in the history of American cinema Three of his films Dead Man 1995 Ghost Dog 1999 and The Limits of Control 2009 demonstrate the director's unique take on Eastern and Aboriginal spirituality In particular they reflect Jarmusch's rejection of Western monotheism's fear-driven separation of life and death While these films address historical issues of imperialism colonialism and genocide they also demonstrate a uniquely spiritual form of resistance to conditions that political solutions have not resolved The impact of Dead Man Ghost Dog and The Limits of Control cannot be fully felt without considering the multicultural sources from which the writer director drew In The Jarmusch Way Julian Rice looks closely at these three films and explores their relation to Eastern philosophy and particular works of Western literature painting and cinema This book also delves deeply into the films association with Native American culture a subject upon which Rice has written extensively Though he has garnered a passionate following in some circles Jarmusch remains critically underappreciated Making a case that this director deserves far more serious attention than he has received thus far The Jarmusch Way thoroughly discusses three of his most intriguing films

Tribal Theory in Native American Literature Penelope Myrtle Kelsey,2008-01-01 Scholars and readers continue to wrestle with how best to understand and appreciate the wealth of oral and written literatures created by the Native communities of North America Are critical frameworks developed by non Natives applicable across cultures or do they reinforce colonialist power and perspectives Is it appropriate and useful to downplay tribal differences and instead generalize about Native writing and storytelling as a whole Focusing on Dakota writers and storytellers Seneca critic Penelope Myrtle Kelsey offers a penetrating assessment of theory and interpretation in indigenous literary criticism in the twenty first century Tribal Theory in Native American Literature delineates a method for formulating a Native centered theory or more specifically a use of tribal languages and their concomitant knowledges to derive a worldview or an equivalent to Western theory that is emic to indigenous worldviews These theoretical frameworks can then be deployed to create insightful readings of Native American texts Kelsey demonstrates this approach with a fresh look at early Dakota writers including Marie McLaughlin Charles Eastman and Zitkala a and later storytellers such as Elizabeth Cook Lynn Ella Deloria and Philip Red Eagle This book raises the provocative issue of how Native languages and knowledges were historically excluded from the study of Native American literature and how their encoding in early Native American texts destabilized colonial processes Cogently argued and well researched Tribal Theory in Native American Literature sets an agenda for indigenous literary criticism and invites scholars to confront the worlds behind the literatures that they analyze

The Unnaming of Kroeber Hall Andrew Garrett, 2023-12-12 A critical examination of the complex legacies of early Californian anthropology and linguistics for twenty first century communities In January 2021 at a time when many institutions were reevaluating fraught histories the University of California removed anthropologist and linguist Alfred Kroeber's name from a building on its Berkeley campus Critics accused Kroeber of racist and dehumanizing practices that harmed Indigenous people university leaders repudiated his values In The Unnaming of Kroeber Hall Andrew Garrett examines Kroeber's work in the early twentieth century and his legacy today asking how a vigorous opponent of racism and advocate for Indigenous rights in his own era became a symbol of his university's failed relationships with Native communities Garrett argues that Kroeber's most important work has been overlooked his collaborations with Indigenous people throughout California to record their languages and stories The Unnaming of Kroeber Hall offers new perspectives on the early practice of anthropology and linguistics and on its significance today and in the future Kroeber's documentation was broader and more collaborative and multifaceted than is usually recognized As a result the records Indigenous people created while working with him are relevant throughout California as communities revive languages names songs and stories Garrett asks readers to consider these legacies arguing that the University of California chose to reject critical self examination when it unnamed Kroeber Hall
