Art Therapy With Children On The Autistic Spectrum:

Art Therapy with Children on the Autistic Spectrum Kathy Evans, Janek Dubowski, 2001 Art Therapy with Children on the Autistic Spectrum presents a new model of practice which primarily focuses on communication difficulties. The authors describe how negative behaviours and subsequent tension may be alleviated when the autistic child is involved in interactive art making with the therapist. Psychodynamic Art Therapy Practice with People on the Autistic Spectrum Matt

Dolphin, Angela Byers, Alison Goldsmith, Ruth Jones, 2013-08-15 Psychodynamic Art Therapy Practice with People on the Autistic Spectrum offers a valuable counterbalance to the phenomenological cognitive and behavioural theories that currently prevail in the wider field of practice and research. The result of a decade of work by a group of highly experienced art therapists, this book presents eight frank and compelling accounts of art therapy with either adults or children with autism, supported by a discussion of the relevant theory. The book begins with an overview of the theoretical context and the subsequent chapters give varied accounts of practitioners' experiences structured in a loose developmental arc reflecting issues that may arise in different settings and at various stages of therapy. Each is followed by an afterword which describes the author's reflections in the light of their subsequent knowledge and experience. The conclusion brings together some of the common threads arising from their encounters and considers how these might be relevant to current and continuing art therapy practice in the field of autism. Psychodynamic Art Therapy Practice with People on the Autistic Spectrum is a thoughtful consideration of where art therapy meets autism and the particular challenges that arise in the encounter between the autistic client and the therapist. Presenting honest reflections arising from lived encounters and highlighting general principles and experiences, this book aims to orient other practitioners who work with people on the autistic spectrum, in particular art therapists and art therapy trainees.

Art Therapy with Children on the Autistic Spectrum: Beyond Words Kathy Evans, Janek Dubowski, 2001 They also analyse methodology and assessment interventions as well as the ongoing developments of appropriate assessment instruments. Special Interests in Art Therapy with Autistic People Jessica Woolhiser Stallings, 2022-09-21 Introducing the Special Interest Communication Theory (SICT) Facilitative Framework, this guide will help you to support autistic clients and meet their needs through special interests and pop culture. Turning away from a culture that has often sought to suppress autistic special interests, Stallings asks that therapists meet autistic children and adults on their own terms. Creating an autism-positive environment and engaging with special interests from video games to K-Pop builds rapport and helps identify therapeutic goals. Jessica Woolhiser Stallings combines this practical guide to her evidence-based framework with an overview of the history and applications of therapies and arts therapies used with autism. From a perspective that respects autistic self-advocacy and the role of art therapy in supporting individual emotional health, this guide offers tools to address anxiety, social interaction, communication, identity, and more.

Sensory-Based Relational Art Therapy Approach (S-BRATA) Huma Durrani, 2020-12 This book bridges art therapy

practice and research by presenting sensory based relational art therapy approach S BRATA a clinically tested framework for working with children with autism spectrum disorder ASD that explicitly addresses sensory dysfunction and its impact on impaired attachment The author shows how art therapy can facilitate attachment while addressing sensory problems that might underlie impaired attachment shifting the focus from the behavioral to the emotional development of the child with autism The book additionally challenges traditional aspects of art therapy practice particularly the focus on the relational aspect of the intervention and not the art product Not restrictive or prescriptive and with the potential to be adapted to other interventions S BRATA provides an explicit framework for doing art therapy with children on the spectrum that opens the scope of art therapy practice and encourages flexibility and adaptation Clinicians students and parents alike will benefit from the text s clear outline for relational development with individuals on the spectrum and its emphasis on the importance of the psycho emotional health of a child with ASD
