Art-Based Social Enterprise, Young Creatives and the Forces of Marginalisation Grace McQuilten, Amy Spiers, Kim Humphery, Peter Kelly, 2022-09-15 This book analyses the challenges and opportunities faced by art based social enterprises ASEs engaging young creatives in education and training and supporting their pathways to the creative industries In doing so it addresses the complex intersecting issues of marginality and entrepreneurship particularly in relation to young creatives from socially economically and culturally diverse backgrounds Drawing on extensive fieldwork and interviews with twelve key organisations and three in depth case studies in Australia the book offers a detailed analysis of using enterprise to engage with the structural challenges of marginality The book explores the local and global contexts through which art based social enterprises ASEs operate and within which they attempt often successfully to improve access to education and work for emerging creatives It also attends to the findings generated through engaging with the lived experiences of the staff and young creatives involved in our ASE case studies in order to understand both the challenges and impacts of the ASE model on young people's education training and employment pathways The book focuses on three broad themes precarious youth and digital futures material practice and sustainable economies and cultural citizenship in the urban fringe In exploring these themes the book contributes to debates about the limits possibilities and challenges that attach to and emerge from an ASE model and highlights the ways in which these models can contribute to young people's well-being, engagement, education and training and work pathways. More broadly, it examines the possibilities of art as a means of social and cultural engagement. In the context of the precarious future of the creative industries, this book emphasises the ways in which young artists are building alternative economic and cultural models that support both individual pathways and collective change. This book will move the field forward with a critical lens that engages closely with experience and the lived realities of juggling multiple priorities of social, economic and artistic goals.

The Cornerstones to Early Literacy Katherine Luongo-Orlando, 2010. How can we build a strong literacy foundation for children? This book appreciates that learning and language development start with the play episodes, oral language practices, wordplay activities, print encounters, reading events and writing experiences that children engage in during the early years of life. Filled with rich language activities, The Cornerstones to Early Literacy shows teachers how to create active learning experiences that are essential to building early literacy. This comprehensive handbook is organized around the following topics: Play Experiences, Understanding the early stages of learning and all aspects of the play-literacy connection, Oral Language, Supporting opportunities for child talk with suggested conversation starters and events that involve personal timelines and storytelling, Language Awareness and Word Play, Creating a balanced approach to language learning using games and activities that involve literature, music, choral speaking, sound games and more, Print Encounters, Discovering, reproducing and creating all forms of environmental print, Reading Events, Integrating read aloud and shared book experiences with proven strategies for supporting and observing young readers, Writing Experiences, Identifying early writing characteristics and techniques for moving children along in their writing.
