Blackmur, 1989 The Book of the Heart Eric Jager, 2000-08 In today's increasingly electronic world we say our personality traits are hard wired and we replay our memories But we use a different metaphor when we speak of someone reading another's mind or a desire to turn over a new leaf these phrases refer to the book of the self an idea that dates from the beginnings of Western culture Eric Jager traces the history and psychology of the self as text concept from antiquity to the modern day He focuses especially on the Middle Ages when the metaphor of a book of the heart modeled on the manuscript codex attained its most vivid expressions in literature and art For instance medieval saints legends tell of martyrs whose hearts recorded divine inscriptions lyrics and romances feature lovers whose hearts are inscribed with their passion paintings depict hearts as books and medieval scribes even produced manuscript codices shaped like hearts The Book of the Heart provides a fresh perspective on the influence of the book as artifact on our language and culture Reading this book broadens our appreciation of the relationship between things and ideas Henry Petroski author of The Book on the Bookshelf

Designs on the Heart Karal Ann Marling, 2006-05-29 In this book Karal Ann Marling looks at Grandma Moses as a cultural phenomenon of the postwar period and explores the meaning of her subject matter and her astonishing fame What did the Greatest Generation see in her simple renderings of people young and old tapping maple trees for syrup making apple butter gliding across snowy fields on sleighs Why did Bob Hope Irving Berlin and Harry Truman all love her and the art czars of New York openly despise her Through the flood of Moses merchandise splashed across Christmas cards dishware yard goods and gewgaws of every kind Marling traces the resonances that these primitive images struck in an America awkwardly adjusting to a new era of technology suburbia and Cold War tensions

The Heart of the Mission Cary Cordova, 2017-05-04 An illustrated in depth examination of the avant garde and politically radical Latino art of San Francisco's Mission District In The Heart of the Mission Cary Cordova combines urban political and art history to examine how the Mission District a longtime bohemian enclave in San Francisco has served as an important place for an influential and largely ignored Latino arts movement from the 1960s to the present Well before the anointment of the Mission School by art world arbiters at the dawn of the twenty first century Latino artists writers poets playwrights performers and filmmakers made the Mission their home and their muse The Mission home to Chileans Cubans Guatemalans Mexican Americans Nicaraguans Puerto Ricans and Salvadorans never represented a single Latino identity In tracing the experiences of a diverse group of Latino artists from the 1940s to the turn of the century Cordova connects wide ranging aesthetics to a variety of social movements and activist interventions The book begins with the history of the Latin Quarter in the 1940s and the subsequent cultivation of the Beat counterculture in the 1950s demonstrating how these decades laid the groundwork for the artistic and political renaissance that followed Using oral histories visual culture and archival research she analyzes the Latin jazz scene of the 1940s Latino involvement in the avant garde of the 1950s the Chicano movement and Third World movements of the 1960s the community mural movement of the 1970s the transnational liberation movements in Nicaragua and El Salvador and the AIDS activism of the 1980s Through these different historical frames Cordova links the creation of Latino art with a flowering of Latino politics
