Excerpt from The Art of Counterpoint And Its Application as a Decorative Principle The appearance of a new book on Counterpoint when there are already in existence numerous treatises on the subject may seem to demand some justification All books on Counterpoint must of necessity bear a certain resemblance to each other Any difference must be sought in the point of view in the relative prominence given to various phases of the subject and in the treatment of detail rather than in the statement of general truths or in novelty of arrangement The history and the broad outlines of Counterpoint offer little scope for originality and in these matters the present work will be found not unlike its predecessors The chief points of difference are a The derivation of the rules of Scholastic Counterpoint from the practice of Palestrina whose works exhibit the Art of Counterpoint in its perfection rather than from a study of textbooks the many discrepancies between which are due to the fact that theory has been built upon theory often mingled with personal prejudice so that the original basis of the earlier treatises has been forgotten or perhaps ignored Little by little harmonic resource has been restricted and melodic idiom enlarged The result is a system of Counterpoint which has little connexion with the past and none with the present containing a code of arbitrary rules which in many important features do not represent the technique of any period of musical art About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
