A History of Video Art Chris Meigh-Andrews, 2013-11-07. A History of Video Art is a revised and expanded edition of the 2006 original which extends the scope of the first edition, incorporating a wider range of artists and works from across the globe and explores and examines developments in the genre of artists' video from the mid 1990s up to the present day. In addition, the new edition expands and updates the discussion of theoretical concepts and ideas which underpin contemporary artists' video. Tracking the changing forms of video art in relation to the revolution in electronic and digital imaging that has taken place during the last 50 years, A History of Video Art orients video art in the wider art historical context with particular reference to the shift from the structuralism of the late 1960s and early 1970s to the post-modernist concerns of the 1980s and early 1990s. The new edition also explores the implications of the internationalisation of artists' video in the period leading up to the new millennium and its concerns and preoccupations, including post-colonialism, the post-medium condition and the impact and influence of the internet.

The Art of Digital Audio J. Watkinson, 1999. A History of Video Art Chris Meigh-Andrews, 2006-12-12. Video Art is a critical introduction and guide to artists' video in both Europe and North America. It covers the period from the early 1960s when video art first appeared as a distinctive medium into the 1990s when digital technology merged video's distinctive practice with that of independent film making and photography. This artistic history is also a technological and a cultural history that sets its analysis of artistic practice firmly within the context of both the development of electronic imaging technology and the changing political and social climate. Richly illustrated, Video Art is essential reading for anyone interested in art history and contemporary art practice.

Between Film, Video, and the Digital Jihoon Kim, 2016-07-14. Encompassing experimental film and video, essay film, gallery-based installation art and digital art, Jihoon Kim establishes the concept of hybrid moving images as an array of impure images shaped by the encounters and negotiations between different media while also using it to explore various theoretical issues such as stillness and movement, indexicality, abstraction, materiality, afterlives of the celluloid cinema, archive, memory apparatus and the concept of medium as such. Grounding its study in interdisciplinary framework of film studies media studies and contemporary art criticism Between Film Video and the Digital offers a fresh insight on the post media conditions of film and video under the pervasive influences of digital technologies as well as on the crucial roles of media hybridity in the creative processes of giving birth to the emerging forms of the moving image Incorporating in depth readings of recent works by more than thirty artists and filmmakers including Jim Campbell Bill Viola Sam Taylor Johnson David Claerbout Fiona Tan Takeshi Murata Jennifer West Ken Jacobs Christoph Girardet and Matthias Müller Hito Steyerl Lynne Sachs Harun Farocki Doug Aitken Douglas Gordon Stan Douglas Candice Breitz among others the book is the essential scholarly monograph for understanding how digital technologies simultaneously depend on and differ from previous time based media and how this juncture of similarities and differences signals a new regime of the art of the moving image
