Art Of The Late Middle Ages:

The Late Middle Ages Wim Swaan, 1977 The Art of Devotion, 1994 Art of the Late Middle Ages Hans Hellmut Hofstätter, 1968 The final stage of medieval artistic development first styled Gothic by contemptuous Renaissance critics who understood little of its motivation and cared even less is a uniquely exciting period in the history of European art Originating in the le de France in the mid twelfth century the new style soon spread throughout Europe reaching as far as Scandinavia Spain and the Levant and was not finally overtaken by the Renaissance until late in the sixteenth century The medieval world was a Christian world and its artistic genius was devoted almost exclusively to religious themes Stained glass and frescoes panel paintings and illuminated manuscripts tapestries and jeweled reliquaries sculptured tombs carved and painted altarpieces are reproduced here in all their splendor Dr Hofst tter has an intuitive feeling for the spirit of the Gothic age and this volume with its unprecedented pictorial coverage is the ideal introduction to an understanding of Late Medieval art From publisher s description The Art of Devotion in the Late Middle Ages in Europe, 1300-1500 H. W. van Os, 1994 Art for private devotion or props in an intimate theatre of spirituality as Henk van Os characterizes it includes some of the most extraordinary as well as the most beautiful objects created in the Late Middle Ages Selecting the best preserved and most interesting examples of devotional art made in Europe in the two centuries before the Reformation the author dramatically draws aside the veil on the prayer and meditation exercises which the clergy and high placed laity once practiced using these objects as an aid towards their passionately desired goal of communion with Jesus This book makes available a modern well informed perspective on medieval religious art and iconography It covers fundamental attitudes to images the connection between art relics and visions the relationship of public and private art the role of local saints and religious movements Publisher description German Art of The Late Middle Ages and Renaissance National Gallery of Art (Washington, DC), Picturing Women in Late Medieval and Renaissance Art Christa Grössinger, 1997 This extensively illustrated book discusses the representation of women in the art of the late Middle Ages in Northern Europe Drawing on a wide range of different media but making particular use of the rich plethora of woodcuts the author charts how the images of women changed during the period and proposes two basic categories the Virgin and Eve good and evil Within these however we discover attitudes to sinful foolish married and unmarried women and the style and use of these images exposes the full extent of the misogyny entrenched in medieval society The Art of Cookery in the Middle Ages Terence Scully, 1995 In this fascinating study the author examines both the theory and practice of medieval cooking The recipes which survived indicate how rich and varied a choice of dishes the wealthy could enjoy The Visual Object of Desire in Late Medieval England Sarah Stanbury, 2015-07-10 Little remains of the rich visual culture of late medieval English piety The century and a half leading up to the Reformation had seen an unparalleled growth of devotional arts as chapels parish churches and cathedrals came to be filled with images in stone wood alabaster glass embroidery and paint of newly personalized saints angels and the Holy Family But much of this fell victim to the Royal Injunctions of September 1538 when parish officials were ordered to remove images from their churches In this highly insightful book Sarah Stanbury explores the lost traffic in images in late medieval England and its impact on contemporary authors and artists For Chaucer Nicholas Love and Margery Kempe the image debate provides an urgent language for exploring the demands of a material devotional culture though these writers by no means agree on the ethics of those demands The chronicler Henry Knighton invoked a statue of St Katherine to illustrate a lurid story about image breaking Lollards Later John Capgrave wrote a long Katherine legend that comments through the drama of a saint in action on the powers and uses of religious images As Stanbury contends England in the late Middle Ages was keenly attuned to and troubled by its culture of the spectacle whether this spectacle took the form of a newly made queen in Chaucer's Clerk's Tale or of the animate Christ in Norwich Cathedral's Despensers Retable In picturing images and icons these texts were responding to reformist controversies as well as to the social and economic demands of things themselves the provocative objects that made up the fabric of ritual life

German Art of the Late Middle Ages and Renaissance in the National Gallery of Art Martha Wolff, 1983 Art & Architecture of the Late Middle Ages Wim Swaan, 1982 Traces the growth and characteristics of medieval art and architecture focusing attention on the individual Gothic styles that evolved throughout Europe

Art and Drama on a Late Medieval Rood Screen Michael Calder, 2024-12-02 With little scholarly attention having been given to the late medieval iconography that features on rood screens in the southwest of England the significance of the figures painted at Berry Pomeroy has long been underappreciated The unlocking of their meaning by the author has led to the discovery of a unique iconographic program The gestures adopted by many of these figures belong to a common visual culture in the art and drama of the medieval church The iconography which reflects a Gothic Mannerist style of the early sixteenth century displays a marked theatricality giving expression to the mysteries of the faith in the form of a drama The narrative recorded has notable similarities to that found in a dramatic trilogy which was once performed in Cornwall called the Ordinalia This book makes an important contribution to scholarship in the genre of mysticism in art and to our understanding of popular devotional practices on the eve of the Reformation
