The Mirror of Architecture: Or The Ground-rules of the Art of Building Vincenzo Scamozzi, 1676 The Theory of Architecture Paul-Alan Johnson, 1994-04-18 The Theory of Architecture Concepts Themes Practices Paul Alan Johnson Although it has long been thought that theory directs architectural practice no one has explained precisely how the connection between theory and practice is supposed to work This guide asserts that architectural theory does not direct practice but is itself a form of reflective practice Paul Alan Johnson cuts through the jargon and mystery of architectural theory to clarify how it relates to actual applications in the field He also reveals the connections between new and old ideas to enhance the reader's powers of critical evaluation Nearly 100 major concepts themes and practices of architecture as well as the rhetoric of architects and designers are presented in an easily accessible format Throughout Johnson attempts to reduce each architectural notion into its essential concept By doing so he makes theory accessible for everyday professional discussion Topics are arranged under ten headings identification definition power attitudes ethics order authority governance relationship and expression Areas covered under these headings include Utopic thought in theories of architecture Advocacy and citizen participation in architecture The basis of architectural quality and excellence The roles of the architect as artist poet scientist and technologist Ethical obligations of architecture Rationales for models and methods of design How authority is determined in architecture How architects structure their concepts Conventions of communication within the architectural profession Each section begins by showing the etymology of key terms of the topic discussed along with a summary history of the topic s use in architecture Discussions probe the conceptual and philosophical difficulties of different theories as well as their potential and limitations in past and present usage Among the provocative issues discussed in terms of their relationship to architecture are chaos theory feminism service to the community and the use of metaphor Johnson points out with stunning clarity the intentions as well as the contradictions and inconsistencies of all notions and concepts All architects and designers as well as students and teachers in these disciplines will gain many insights about architectural thought in this groundbreaking text

The Ethical Function of Architecture Karsten Harries,1998-07-31 Can architecture help us find our place and way in today s complex world Can it return individuals to a whole to a world to a community Developing Giedion s claim that contemporary architecture s main task is to interpret a way of life valid for our time philosopher Karsten Harries answers that architecture should serve a common ethos But if architecture is to meet that task it first has to free itself from the dominant formalist approach and get beyond the notion that its purpose is to produce endless variations of the decorated shed In a series of cogent and balanced arguments Harries questions the premises on which architects and theorists have long relied premises which have contributed to architecture s current identity crisis and marginalization He first criticizes the aesthetic approach focusing on the problems of decoration and ornament He then turns to the language of architecture If the main task of architecture is indeed interpretation in just what sense can it be said to speak and what should it be speaking about Expanding upon suggestions made by Martin Heidegger Harries also considers the relationship of building to the idea and meaning of dwelling Architecture Harries observes has a responsibility to community but its ethical function is inevitably also political He concludes by examining these seemingly paradoxical functions
