What's the Use of Art? Jan Mrazek, Morgan Pitelka, 2007-12-03 Post Enlightenment notions of culture which have been naturalized in the West for centuries require that art be autonomously beautiful universal and devoid of any practical purpose The authors of this multidisciplinary volume seek to complicate this understanding of art by examining art objects from across Asia with attention to their functional ritual and everyday contexts From tea bowls used in the Japanese tea ceremony to television broadcasts of Javanese puppet theater from Indian wedding chamber paintings to art looted by the British army from the Chinese emperor's palace from the adventures of a Balinese magical dagger to the political functions of classical Khmer images the authors challenge prevailing notions of artistic value by introducing new ways of thinking about culture The chapters consider art objects as they are involved in the world how they operate and are experienced in specific sites collections rituals performances political and religious events and imagination and in individual peoples lives how they move from one context to another and change meaning and value in the process for example when they are collected traded and looted or when their images appear in art history textbooks how their memories and pasts are or are not part of their meaning and experience Rather than lead to a single universalizing definition of art the essays offer multiple divergent and case specific answers to the question What is the use of art and argue for the need to study art as it is used and experienced Contributors Cynthia J. Bogel Louise Cort Richard H. Davis Robert DeCaroli James L. Hevia Janet Hoskins Kaja McGowan Jan Mrzek Lene Pedersen Morgan Pitelka Ashley Thompson

Madhubani Painting, 2003 The present work contains a brief study of the various facets of Mithila folk arts and paintings which are unique in character having few parallels Of late there has been great talk about this painting the central inspiration of which revolves round popular religious themes and natural surroundings They reflect the self control and serenity of Maithila life and the definite theocratic and aristocratic organizations of Maithila society The women painters of Mithila aimed at giving clear and edifying expression to certain intuitions which formed part of their religion The different forms of floor drawings Aripana and walk paintings bhatti citra provide information on customs and costumes and rituals and religion which otherwise may remain unnoticed The volume further explains in detail the religious and spiritual significance of the folk arts and paintings of Mithila by means of copious references to Sanskrit texts both sacred and secular The paintings as they are constitute not merely a heap of drawings but a visible symbol of aspirations of pious ladies and the throbbings of their hearts in religious fervour A work of inestimable interest both for the specialist and for the connoisseur interested in the study of Indian paintings this comprehensive and authoritative volume on Madhubani painting and other folk arts of Mithila will prove of immense help to students of Indian culture
