Buglers On The Home Front The Wartime Practice Of The Qiyue School:

Buglers on the Home Front Yunzhong Shu, 2000-02-24 The first book length study in English of an important but neglected school of dissident Chinese writers active around the time of the war against Japan 1937-45 Contending for the "Chinese Modern" Xiaoping Wang, 2019-05-15 In Contending for the Chinese Modern Xiaoping Wang studies the writing of fiction in 1940s China Through a practice of political hermeneutics of fictional texts and social subtexts it explores how social modernity and literary modernity intertwined with and interacted upon each other in the development of modern Chinese literature It not only makes critical reappraisal of some renowned modern Chinese writers but also sheds fresh lights on a series of theoretical problems pertaining to the issue of plural modernities in which the problematic of subjectivity class consciousness and identity politics are the key words as well as the concrete procedures that it employs to undertake the ideological analysis The manuscript signifies a new paradigm in studies of modern Chinese literature Chinese Reportage Charles A. Laughlin, 2002-10-11 Explores the origins of Chinese reportage journalism in the 1930s 40s and 50s and develops an understanding of the aesthetics that governed the creation of this literature China's War Reporters Parks M. Coble, 2015-03-09 When Japan invaded China in 1937 Chinese journalists greeted the news with euphoria convinced their countrymen led by Chiang Kai shek would triumph Parks Coble shows that correspondents underplayed China's defeats for fear of undercutting morale and then saw their writings disappear and themselves denounced after the Communists came to power Hu Feng Ruth Y. Y. Hung, 2020-11-01 In this book Ruth Y Y Hung provides a study of Hu Feng 1902-1985 as a critic writer and editor within the context of the People's Republic of China's political ascendancy A member of the Japanese Communist Party and the Chinese Communist Party Hu rose to fame in the 1940s and became a representative persecuted intellectual soon after 1949 The Hu Feng Case of 1955 more than a decade before the Cultural Revolution was a significant large scale campaign of intellectual persecution Hung examines Hu's work as a literary critic in this context and examines the intricate historical and sociopolitical forces against which intellectuals in his milieu in twentieth century China adopted Marxism as a measure of their critical position She demonstrates how this first generation of modern Chinese literary critics practiced criticism examining the skills and arguments they used to negotiate their institutional and ideological relations with state party power This exceptional case of intellectual engagement offers broader insight on critical literature's humanistic aims and methods in the context of intellectual globalization and changing political climates A World History of Chinese Literature Yingjin Zhang, 2023-07-25 Providing a broad introduction to the area A World History of Chinese Literature maps the field of Chinese literature across its various worlds looking both within at the world of Chinese literature its history linguistic cultural local and regional specificities and without at the way Chinese literature has circulated throughout the world The thematic focus allows for a broad number of key categories such as authors genres genders regions as well as innovative explorations of new topics and issues such as inter arts performativity and transmediation The sections cover the circulation and reception of China in world literature as well as the worlds of Chinese literature across the globe Borders oceans and rainforests Comparative literary genres Translingual writers and scholars Gender configurations Translation and transmediation With a focus on the twentieth and twenty first century this collection intervenes in current debates on global Chinese literature Sinophone and Sinoscript studies and the production and reception of literary works by ethnic Chinese in non Sinitic languages as well as Anglophone literature inspired by Chinese literary tradition It will be of interest to anyone working on or studying Chinese literature language and culture as well as world literatures in relation to China The Monster That Is History David Der-Wei Wang,2004-10-04 In ancient China a monster called Taowu was known for both its vicious nature and its power to see the past and the future Over the centuries Taowu underwent many incarnations until it became identifiable with history itself Since the seventeenth century fictive accounts of history have accommodated themselves to the monstrous nature of Taowu Moving effortlessly across the entire twentieth century literary landscape David Der wei Wang delineates the many meanings of Chinese violence and its literary manifestations Taking into account the campaigns of violence and brutality that have rocked generations of Chinese often in the name of enlightenment rationality and utopian plenitude this book places its arguments along two related axes history and representation modernity and monstrosity Wang considers modern Chinese history as a complex of geopolitical ethnic gendered and personal articulations of bygone and ongoing events His discussion ranges from the politics of decapitation to the poetics of suicide and from the typology of hunger and starvation to the technology of crime and punishment Literary Societies Of Republican China Kirk A. Denton,Michel Hockx,1955-01-01 Literary Societies in Republican China provides a new and comprehensive perspective on the fascinating literary world of the most turbulent period in recent Chinese history the Republican era of 1911 1949 Wedged between the fall of the Empire and the founding of the Communist state the Republican period witnessed enormous social political and cultural changes Traditionally the period is seen as one of transition from the country being partially colonized and occupied to being an independent nation state from Confucianism to socialism from writing in classical Chinese to writing in the everyday vernacular Modern scholarship however has become suspicious of such attempts to analyze history including cultural history as a journey from A to B via C Instead attention has turned to the thick description of complex historical phenomena without worrying about whether or not they fit into some neat linear scheme Inevitably such scholarship benefits from collaboration and teamwork from the juxtaposition of different insights and different materials in order to gain in overall breadth Literary Societies in Republican China represents such teamwork and such breadth The thirteen essays by eleven scholars from North America Europe and Asia present detailed discussions of particular literary groups active on the Republican era literary scene Some of these groups are familiar representatives of what used to be considered the mainstream while others represent literary styles that have hitherto been considered marginal or that have been ignored altogether Each of the essays in this volume looks in detail at literary societies both as producers of literary views and texts and as organizations with sometimes very complex social structures The result is a unique blend of literary cultural and social history unrivalled in any English language scholarship on China to date

Configurations of the Real in Chinese Literary and Aesthetic Modernity Peter Button, 2009 Tracing the formation of the modern concept of literature in 20th century China this book examines the emergence of the Chinese socialist realist novel in relation to the literary and philosophical currents globalized in the wake of capitalist modernity Provided by publisher

Young China Mingwei Song, 2020-05-11 The rise of youth is among the most dramatic stories of modern China Since the last years of the Qing dynasty youth has been made a new agent of history in Chinese intellectuals visions of national rejuvenation through such tremendously popular notions as young China and new youth The characterization of a young protagonist with a developmental story has also shaped the modern Chinese novel Young China takes youth as a central literary motif that was profoundly related to the ideas of nationhood and modernity in twentieth century China A synthesis of narrative theory and cultural history it combines historical investigations of the origin and development of the modern Chinese youth discourse with close analyses of the novelistic construction of the Chinese Bildungsroman which depicts the psychological growth of youth with a symbolic allusion to national rejuvenation Negotiating between self and society ideal and action and form and reality such a narrative manifests as well as complicates the various political and cultural symbolisms invested in youth through different periods of modern Chinese history In this story of young China the restless elusive and protean image of youth both perpetuates and problematizes the ideals of national rejuvenation

Revolution Plus Love Liu Jianmei, 2003-09-30 In the aftermath of the May Fourth movement a growing expectation of revolution raised important intellectual issues about the position of the individual within a society in turmoil and the shifting boundaries of political and sexual identities The theme of revolution plus love a literary response to the widespread insurrections and upheaval was first popularized in the late 1920s In her examination of this popular but understudied literary formula Liu Jianmei argues that revolution and love are culturally variable entities their interplay a complex and constantly changing literary practice that is socially and historically determined Liu looks at the formulary writing of revolution plus love from the 1930s to the 1970s as a case study of literary politics Favored by leftist writers during the early period of revolutionary literature it continued to influence mainstream Chinese literature up to the 1970s By drawing a historical picture of the articulation and rearticulation of this theme Liu shows how changes in revolutionary discourse force unpredictable representations of gender rules and power relations and how women s bodies reveal the complex interactions between political representation and gender roles Revolution Plus Love is a nuanced and carefully considered work on gender and modernity in China unmatched in its broad use of literary resources It will be of considerable interest to scholars and students of modern Chinese literature women s studies cultural studies and comparative literature Chinese Literature, Essays, Articles, Reviews ,2002 Fragmenting Modernisms Carolyn FitzGerald,2013-07-07 In Fragmenting Modernisms Carolyn FitzGerald traces the evolution of Chinese modernism during the War of Resistance against Japan 1937-45 and Chinese Civil War 1945-49 through a series of close readings of works of fiction poetry film and visual art produced in various locations throughout wartime China Showing that the culture of this period was characterized by a high degree of formal looseness she argues that such aesthetic fluidity was created in response to historical conditions of violence and widespread displacement Moreover she illustrates how the innovative formal experiments of uprooted writers and artists expanded the geographic and aesthetic boundaries of Chinese modernism far beyond the coastal cities of Shanghai and Beijing Philosophy East & West ,2000 The A to Z of Modern Chinese Literature Li-hua Ying,2010-04-01 Modern Chinese literature has been flourishing for over a century with varying degrees of intensity and energy at different junctures of history and points of locale An integral part of world literature from the moment it was born it has been in constant dialogue with its counterparts from the rest of the world As it has been challenged and enriched by external influences it has contributed to the wealth of literary culture of the entire world In terms of themes and styles modern Chinese literature is rich and varied from the revolutionary to the pastoral from romanticism to feminism from modernism to post modernism critical realism psychological realism socialist realism and magical realism Indeed it encompasses a full range of ideological and aesthetic concerns The A to Z of Modern Chinese Literature presents a broad perspective on the development and history of literature in modern China It offers a chronology introduction bibliography and over 300 cross referenced dictionary entries on authors literary and historical developments trends genres and concepts that played a central role in the evolution of modern Chinese literature Historical Dictionary of Modern Chinese Literature Li-hua Ying,2021-11-15 Modern Chinese literature has been flourishing for over a century with varying degrees of intensity and energy at different junctures of history and points of locale An integral part of world literature from the moment it was born it has been in constant dialogue with its counterparts from the rest of the world As it has been challenged and enriched by external influences it has contributed to the wealth of literary culture of the entire world In terms of themes and styles modern Chinese literature is rich and varied from the revolutionary to the pastoral from romanticism to feminism from modernism to post modernism critical realism psychological realism socialist realism and magical realism Indeed it encompasses a full range of ideological and aesthetic concerns This second edition of Historical Dictionary of Modern Chinese Literature presents a broad perspective on the development and history of literature in modern China It offers a chronology introduction bibliography and over 400 cross referenced dictionary entries on authors literary and historical developments trends genres and concepts that played a central role in the evolution of modern Chinese literature The Soldier Image and State-Building in Modern China, 1924-1945 Yan Xu,2019-02-15 Based on groundbreaking research this book is the first of its kind to provide a close examination in English of the extensive imagery of the soldier figure in the war culture of early twentieth century China This study moves away from the traditional military history perspectives and focuses on the neglected cultural aspect of the intersection of war and society in China during a crucial period that led to the eventual victory of the Chinese Communist Party over the Nationalist Party Integrating history literature and arts this appealing narrative reveals multiple meanings of the soldier figure created by different political social and cultural forces in modern China Drawing from a wide range of sources including government documents speeches newspaper articles memoirs military textbooks and yangge drama Yan Xu recounts stories of unforgettable Chinese political leaders including Chiang Kai shek and Mao Zedong She also examines the wartime experiences of previously marginalized social groups including women soldiers wounded soldiers student soldiers military writers and vocational education professionals giving voice to those largely forgotten by military historians This book opens up a new area in modern Chinese history and Chinese military history by revealing that the cultural discourse on the soldier image is essential to understanding Chinese nationalism state building and civil military relations in the early twentieth century On the Margins of Modernism Christopher Rosenmeier,2017-06-27 Introduces popular 1940s Chinese authors and explores their influence on Chinese literature Xu Xu and Wumingshi were among the most widely read authors in China during and after the Second Sino Japanese War 1937 1945 but although they were an integral part of the Chinese literary scene their bestselling fiction has been given scant attention in histories of Chinese writing This groundbreaking book the first book length study of Xu Xu and Wumingshi in English or any other western language re establishes their importance within the popular Chinese literature of the 1940s With in depth analyses of their innovative short stories and novels Christopher Rosenmeier demonstrates how these important writers incorporated and adapted narrative techniques from Shanghai modernist writers like Shi Zhecun and Mu Shiying contesting the view that modernism had little lasting impact in China and firmly positioning these two figures within the literature of their times Fills a gap in Chinese literary history Focuses on two of the most popular Chinese authors of the 1940s Develops a wider argument about the influence of Shanghai modernism on Chinese wartime literature Subjectivity and Realism in Modern Chinese Fiction Xiaoping Wang,2022-03-14 The questions of subjectivity and the literary style of realism as manifested in Hu Feng s theoretical writings and Lu Ling s fictional writings occupy a unique position in modern China By looking more closely into the theoretical and fictional texts and the social historical subtext and through a re examination of the issue of subjectivity and individualism this book argues that individualism should not be treated as an ahistorical value system but understood within changing historical contexts subjectivity should not be treated as an issue of personal choice but as class based and derived from collective community To differentiate different subjectivities and the diversified foci of individualism in differing historical periods Xiaoping Wang finds we need to explore the intellectuals cultural political strategy by situating them in the particular historical conjuncture and in the particular cultural fields With this hermeneutical practice the politics of recognition and the politics of style are mutually illuminated
