Building Oxford's Heritage Brian R. Law,1998 Monuments and Memory, Made and Unmade Robert S.

Nelson,Margaret Olin,2003 Examining how monuments preserve memory these essays demonstrate how phenomena as diverse as ancient drum towers in China and ritual whale killings in the Pacific Northwest serve to represent and negotiate time The Cardinal's College Judith Curthoys,2012 Christ Church founded by Cardinal Wolsey in 1525 and arguably the grandest college in the University of Oxford has been the subject of only one previous history Now Judith Curthoys the college archivist presents a new and fascinating account of this unique institution a joint foundation of college and cathedral with its own peculiar constitution Despite having been described as like cream rich thick and full of clots Christ Church has never been just a refuge for the elite and over the centuries it has produced a dazzling list of famous and learned men and since 1980 women We learn of its traditions and its eccentricities from its early emphasis on prayer and discipline to the intricacies of its early plumbing and from its strong associations with music architecture and art to its battles both ancient and modern with student drunkenness We learn too of the sometimes extraordinary power and influence of the Dean the college s head and at times of the reigning monarch too Charles I even made it his headquarters during the Civil War Above all we see not an ivory tower but a great institution that has survived all the vicissitudes of English history adapting to and often influencing the constant tide of social political academic and ecclesiastical change Physics in Oxford, 1839-1939

Robert Fox,Graeme Gooday,2005-06-16 Physics in Oxford 1839 1939 offers a challenging new interpretation of pre war physics at the University of Oxford which was far more dynamic than most historians and physicists have been prepared to believe It explains on the one hand how attempts to develop the University s Clarendon Laboratory by Robert Clifton Professor of Experimental Philosophy from 1865 to 1915 were thwarted by academic politics and funding problems and latterly by Clifton s idiosyncratic concern with precision instrumentation Conversely by examining in detail the work of college fellows and their laboratories the book reconstructs the decentralized environment that allowed physics to enter on a period of conspicuous vigour in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries especially at the characteristically Oxonian intersections between physics physical chemistry mechanics and mathematics Whereas histories of Cambridge physics have tended to focus on the self sustaining culture of the Cavendish Laboratory it was Oxford s college trained physicists who enabled the discipline to flourish in due course in university as well as college facilities notably under the newly appointed professors J S E Townsend from 1900 and F A Lindemann from 1919 This broader perspective allows us to understand better the vitality with which physicists in Oxford responded to the demands of wartime research on radar and techniques relevant to atomic weapons and laid the foundations for the dramatic post war expansion in teaching and research that has endowed Oxford with one of the largest and most dynamic schools of physics in the world Architectural History ,2007
