Building A Just Society A Different Viewpoint:

The Mirage of Dignity on the Highways of Human 'Progress' Lukman Harees, 2012-01-16 The Modern Man is hypocritically boasting of unprecedented material progress in a world where inter alia millions daily go to bed hungry die or get killed through unwanted wars and preventable causes live in inhumane conditions vulnerable being exploited with ever widening inequality and might still ruling over right in international relations even in the post UDHR era an indictment on the collective conscience of mankind Besides the flame of materialism has been devouring time tested moral values causing chaos within the basic unit in society the family and relegating Man and his dignity to the level of animals and even manipulating his identity Therefore questions arise Is Moral law fading are political economic systems and institutions like UN failing in realizing the lofty goal of affording due dignity basic rights and social justice humanity deserves Can the bystanders be mere onlookers anymore This book seeks to dispassionately survey the yawning gap between the rhetoric and the ground reality in bringing about dignity and social justice for humanity from bystanders perspective in the light of these questions and underlines the imperative need for moral progress to go hand in hand to make Man assume his due role as the trustee on earth It also exhorts bystanders to close ranks as human dignity champions rights defenders identity protectors against onslaughts from power hungry politicians mighty powers and vested interests This is the need of the times and what our future progeny demands

A New Perspective on Governance, Leadership, Conflict and Nation Building in Sierra Leone Solomon E. Berewa, 2011 Sierra Leone is in her final phase of a Post civil War rebuilding after twelve years of what has been dubbed one of the most devastating civil conflicts in Modern African History Since the advent and end of the conflict a lot has been written in the forms of documentaries reportages commentaries satires and academic textbooks by journalists academics politicians former heads of state and political analysts However this book A New Perspective On Governance Leadership Conflict and Nation Building in Sierra Leone is different It presents a new outlook in the sense that it is incisive analytical honest educative and thought provoking at the same time The key message that runs through the veins of the theme is state renewal informed by new thinking spectacles that efficiently configure the manner in which the management of state leadership and governance is articulated for the benefits of the common good The author Solomon E Berewa was one of the key actors Chief Government Negotiator and stakeholder of the peace deals in his capacity as Minister of Justice and Attorney General and Vice President of the Republic of Sierra Leone He has written this masterpiece authoritatively by throwing fresh lights on the serious political issues and questions which have blurred the significance of the past and the present Like any sincere agent of nation building after a traumatic experience such as the one Sierra Leone went through the rationale of the author is to build bridges across the board political spectrums In his estimation it is only by looking into the past with open mind and sincerity learn tangible lessons and act on them meticulously that nations can be in position to surmount current challenges for the good and durability of a better tomorrow Post war Sierra Leone needs to have faith in

Managing the Conflict between Men and Women: A New Evolutionary Perspective Pasquale De Marco, 2025-07-10. In a world where men and women navigate the complexities of human interaction, conflict seems to be an inescapable aspect of our relationships. Managing the Conflict between Men and Women delves into the intricate interplay between the sexes, offering a fresh perspective on understanding and resolving these conflicts constructively. Drawing upon the latest findings in evolutionary biology, psychology, and neuroscience, this book challenges conventional notions of gender differences and their role in conflict. It argues that while biological factors may contribute to certain behavioral tendencies, culture, environment, and social conditioning play a significant role in shaping the dynamics of conflict between men and women. By examining the historical and cultural contexts that have shaped gender roles and expectations, readers gain a deeper understanding of the underlying causes of conflict and develop more effective strategies for addressing them. Beyond the realm of interpersonal relationships, this book explores the impact of conflict in the workplace and diverse societies. It examines the unique challenges that arise when individuals from different cultural backgrounds, religious beliefs, and social identities interact and engage with one another. By fostering empathy, understanding, and effective communication, readers can navigate these conflicts and create more inclusive and harmonious environments. Furthermore, Managing the Conflict between Men and Women recognizes the impact of conflict on mental health and well-being. It delves into the psychological toll that unresolved conflicts can take on individuals and highlights the importance of self-care, stress management, and seeking professional help when needed. By addressing the emotional and psychological aspects of conflict, readers can promote resilience and build healthier relationships. Ultimately, this book aims to provide readers with a comprehensive understanding of the nature of conflict between men and women, offering practical strategies and insights for navigating these challenges and fostering peaceful coexistence. It invites readers to question conventional wisdom, challenge stereotypes, and embrace a more nuanced and compassionate approach to conflict resolution. With its engaging narrative and thought-provoking insights, Managing the Conflict between Men and Women is an invaluable resource for anyone seeking to navigate the complexities of human relationships and create a more harmonious world.
