Violence in South Africa Elireza Bornman, René Van Eeden, Marie Wentzel, 1998 Violence in South Africa contains contributions on various issues related to violence in South Africa The variety of perspectives explanations and intervention strategies indicates that violence its causes and prevention are diverse and complex matters Hence a single perspective or universal explanation cannot properly explain the phenomenon Factors related to the micro and macro levels as well as the interaction between these levels should be considered The contributions consequently do not deal only with violence of a structural collective or political nature but also the far more prevalent forms of interpersonal and small group violence

Criminal Justice and Political Cultures Tim Newburn, Richard Sparks, 2012-12-06 As crime increasingly crosses national boundaries and international co operation takes firmer shape so the development of ideas and policy on the control of crime has become an increasingly international and transnational affair These developments call attention not just to the many points of convergence in the languages and practices of crime control but also to their persistent differences This book is concerned both with the very specific issue of policy transfer within the crime control arena and with the issues raised by a more broadly conceptualized idea of comparative policy analysis The contributions in the book examine the different ways in which ostensibly similar vocabularies policies and practices are taken up and applied in the distinct settings they encounter

Mind the Gap Jos Vaessen,Frans L. Leeuw,2011-12-31 Over the past twenty to thirty years evaluation has become increasingly important to the field of public policy The number of people involved and specializing in evaluation has also increased markedly Evidence of this trend can be found in the International Atlas of Evaluation the establishment of new journals and evaluation societies and the increase in systems of evaluation Increasingly the main reference point has become an assessment of the merit and value of interventions as such rather than the evaluator s disciplinary background This growing importance of evaluation as an activity has also led to an increasing demand for the type of competencies evaluators should have Evaluation began as a niche area within the social and behavioral sciences It subsequently became linked to policy research and analysis and has more recently become trans disciplinary This volume demonstrates an association between the evaluation tradition in a particular country or policy field and the nature of the relationship between social and behavioral science research and evaluative practice This book seeks to offer comprehensive data which lead to conclusions about patterns that transcend the gap between evaluation and the social scientific disciplines Mind the Gap has a twofold aim The first is to highlight and characterize the gap between evaluation practices and debates and the substantive knowledge debates within the social and behavioral sciences The second is to show why this gap is problematic for the practice of evaluation while at the same time illustrating possible ways to build bridges The book is centered on the value of producing useful evaluations grounded in social science theory and research Handbook of Crime Prevention and Community Safety Nick Tilley,Aiden Sidebottom,2017-03-27 This second edition of the Handbook of Crime Prevention and Community Safety provides a completely revised and updated collection of essays focusing on the theory and practice of crime prevention and the creation of safer communities This book is divided into five comprehensive parts Part I brand new to this edition is concerned with theoretical perspectives on crime prevention and community safety Part II considers general approaches to preventing crime including a new chapter on the theory and practice of deterrence Part III focuses on specific crime prevention strategies including a new chapter on regulation for crime prevention Part IV focuses on the prevention of specific categories of crime and the fear they generate including new chapters on organised crime and cybercrime Part V considers the preventative process the methods through which presenting problems can be analysed responses formulated and implemented and their effectiveness evaluated Bringing together leading academics and practitioners from the UK US Australia and the Netherlands this volume will be an invaluable reference for researchers and practitioners whose work relates to crime prevention and community safety as well as for undergraduate and postgraduate courses in crime prevention
