Building Early American Furniture:

Building early American furniture Joseph William Daniele, 1978      Early American Furniture Charles Over Cornelius, 1926      Building Early American Furniture Joseph Danielle, 1974      The American Skyscraper, 1850-1940 Joseph J. Korom, 2008 The skyscraper is an American invention that has captured the public's imagination for over a century. The tall building is wholly manmade and borne in the minds of those with both slide rules and computers. This is the story of the skyscraper's rise and the recognition of those individuals who contributed to its development. This volume is unique; its approach, information, and images are fresh and telling. The text examines America's first tall buildings, the result of twelve years of in-depth research by an accomplished and published architect and architectural historian. Over 300 compelling photographs, charts, and notes make this the ultimate tool of reference for this subject. Biographies woven throughout with period norms, politics, and lifestyles help to place featured skyscrapers in context. Quite simply, there is no book like this. The text, carefully and insightfully written, is clear, concise, and easily digestible; the text being the product of well-documented original research written in an informative tone. The American Skyscraper 1850-1940: A Celebration of Height is a richly documented journey of a fascinating topic and it promises to be a superb addition to libraries, schools of architecture, students of architecture, and lovers of art.      The Buildings of Peter Harrison John Fitzhugh Millar, 2014-10-02 Perhaps the most important architect ever to have worked in America, Peter Harrison's renown suffers from the destruction of most of his papers when he died in 1775. He was born in Yorkshire, England, in 1716 and trained to be an architect as a teenager. He also became a ship captain and soon sailed to ports in America where he began designing some of the most iconic buildings of the continent. In a clandestine operation, he procured the plans for the French-Canadian fortress of Louisbourg, enabling Massachusetts Governor William Shirley to capture it in 1745. This setback forced the French to halt their operation to capture all of British America and to give up British territory they had captured in India. As a result, he was rewarded with commissions to design important buildings in Britain and in nearly all British colonies around the world, and he became the first person ever to have designed buildings on six continents. He designed mostly in a neo-Palladian style and invented a way of building wooden structures so as to look like carved stone: wooden rustication. He also designed some of America's most valuable furniture, including inventing the coveted block front and introducing the bombe motif. In America, he lived in Newport, Rhode Island, and in New Haven, Connecticut, where he died at the beginning of the War of Independence.      Designing and Building Space-saving Furniture, with 28 Projects Percy W.
