Building Character in the American Boy David I. Macleod, 2004-09-30 Among established American institutions few have been more successful or paradoxical than the Boy Scouts of America David Macleod traces the social history of America in this scholarly account of the origins of the Boy Scouts and other character building agencies through which adults tried to restructure middle class boyhood Back in print First paperback edition All-American Boy Larzer Ziff, 2012-10-01 From his celebrated appearance hatchet in hand in Parson Mason Locke Weems's Life of Washington to Booth Tarkington's Penrod the all American boy was an iconic figure in American literature for well over a century Sometimes he was a good boy whose dutiful behavior was intended as a model for real boys to emulate Other times he was a bad boy whose mischievous escapades could be excused either as youthful exuberance that foreshadowed adult industriousness or as deserved attacks on undemocratic pomp and pretension But whether good or bad the all American boy was a product of the historical moment in which he made his appearance in print and to trace his evolution over time is to take a fresh view of America's cultural history which is precisely what Larzer Ziff accomplishes in All American Boy Ziff looks at eight classic examples of the all American boy young Washington Rollo Tom Bailey Tom Sawyer Ragged Dick Peck's bad boy Little Lord Fauntleroy and Penrod as well as two notable antitheses Huckleberry Finn and Holden Caulfield Setting each boy in a rich cultural context Ziff reveals how the all American boy represented a response to his times ranging from the newly independent nation's need for models of democratic citizenship to the tales of rags to riches beloved during a century of accelerating economic competition to the recognition of adolescence as a distinct phase of life which created a stage on which the white middle class solid citizen boy and the alienated youth both played their parts The 4-H Harvest Gabriel N. Rosenberg, 2016 Gabriel N Rosenberg argues that public acceptance of the political economy of agribusiness hinged on federal efforts to normalize rural heterosexuality In Uncle Sam's Service Susan Zeiger, 2019-05-15 During World War I the first American war in which women were mobilized on a mass scale by the armed services more than sixteen thousand women served overseas with the American Expeditionary Force Although wealthy women volunteers members of the so called heiress corps monopolized public attention Susan Zeiger reveals that the majority of AEF women were wage earners Their motives for enlistment ranged from patriotism to economic self interest from a sense of adventure to a desire to challenge gender boundaries Zeiger uses diaries letters questionnaires oral histories and memoirs to explore the women's experience of war She draws upon insights from labor history political history popular culture and the study of gender and war to analyze the ways in which women's wartime service heightened and made visible the contradictions in the prevailing gender relations Zeiger argues that the interests of AEF women clashed with those of the wartime state at a crucial historical moment Women sought to expand their personal opportunities for mobility and professional success and lay claim to equal citizenship The government determined to contain the disruption to the status quo created a separate subordinate status for

Chudacoff, 2020-11-10 Most Americans take it for granted that a thirteen year old in the fifth grade is behind schedule that teenagers who marry too early are in for trouble and that a seventy five year old will be pleased at being told You look young for your age Did an awareness of age always dominate American life Howard Chudacoff reveals that our intense age consciousness has developed only gradually since the late nineteenth century In so doing he explores a wide range of topics including demographic change the development of pediatrics and psychological testing and popular music from the early 1800s until now Throughout our lifetimes American society has been age conscious But this has not always been the case Until the mid nineteenth century Americans showed little concern with age The one room schoolhouse was filled with students of varied ages and children worked alongside adults This is a lively picture of the development of age consciousness in urban middle class culture Robert H Binstock The New York Times Book Review A fresh perspective on a century of social and cultural development Michael R Dahlin American Historical Review Speaking Youth to Power Mark

Indoctrinating the Youth Jennifer Liu, 2024-01-31 Indoctrinating the Youth examines how the Guomindang GMD or Nationalists sought to maintain control of middle school students and cultivate their political loyalty over the trajectory of the Second Sino Japanese War Chinese Civil War and postwar Taiwan During the Sino Japanese War the Nationalists managed middle school refugee students by merging schools publishing and distributing updated textbooks and assisting students as they migrated to the interior with their principals and teachers In Taiwan the China Youth Corps CYC became a symbol of the regime s successful establishment Tracing Nationalist efforts to indoctrinate ideology and martial spirit Jennifer Liu investigates how GMD leaders Chiang Kai shek and his son Chiang Ching kuo tried to build support among young people in their efforts to stabilize Taiwanese society under their rule By comparing two key youth organizations the Three People s Principles Youth Corps in China and the CYC on Taiwan Liu uses education as a lens to analyze state building in modern China Liu s careful analysis of the inner workings of GMD youth organizations also illuminates the day to day operations of military training in gender segregated upper middle schools including how the government selected instructors and the skills taught to students According to Liu mandatory military training contributed to preventing major protest against the government but the policy was not without critics Intellectuals parents and students voiced their dissent at what they perceived as excessive control by a repressive government and a waste of resources interfering with academics The government mandated civics curriculum including government approved textbooks and standards reveals the characteristics and duties GMD officials believed modern citizens of the next generation should possess Through provisions for refugee students youth organizations military training and civics classes GMD secondary education policy played a critical role in the process of state building in both modern China and Taiwan Skillfully combining archival work in Nanjing and Taipei along with oral interviews with former students and CYC administrators instructors and members Liu offers a unique perspective toward a balanced assessment of Nationalist Party rule

Volunteering in Community Sports Associations Geoff Nichols, 2017-06-01 This review paper focuses on volunteers in community sports associations CSAs Such associations are a major context of sports volunteering across Europe Canada and Australia the countries in which a multitude of sports clubs are represented by governing bodies of sport Their importance is not only in the large numbers of volunteers involved but also in the benefits of such associations to society The clearest of these is the provision of opportunities to take part in sport at a cost subsidized by the efforts of volunteers and thus contributing to physical health However the benefits extend more broadly to the quality of life and the rewards the volunteers themselves receive from association Many community sports associations have a significant number of members who while they do not actually play sport themselves provide opportunities for others and also enjoy the social rewards of membership The aim of this broad ranging review is to introduce the reader to community sports associations as an example of small volunteer led associations and to make links between academic theory in this area and the more general study of volunteering The breadth of the review allows readers to follow up supporting references on individual topics The author s extensive experience primarily of England and Europe has inevitably led to more examples being drawn from these areas however broader international work is also incorporated It is hoped this review will stimulate readers thinking about volunteering in their own country
