Proceedings of The 7th International Conference on Contemporary Education, Social Sciences and Humanities (Philosophy of Being Human as the Core of Interdisciplinary Research) (ICCESSH 2022) Olga Chistyakova,Iana Roumbal,2023-02-10 This is an open access book The aim of the Conference is to provide a shared platform for academics scholars PhD students and graduate students with different cultural backgrounds to present and discuss research developments and innovations in the fields of contemporary education social sciences and humanities are referred with the understanding of the Human being Papers concerning education philosophy philosophical anthropology sociology theory and history of culture epistemology religions ethics are strongly related with analyzing of the Human being will be considered Interdisciplinary approach and comparative perspective are encouraged The Physical University Paul Temple,2014-03-21 The great universities of the world are to a large extent defined in the public imagination by their physical form when people think of a university they usually think of a distinctive place rather than about say the teaching or the research that might go on there This is understandable both because universities usually stay rooted to the same spot over the centuries and because their physical forms may send powerful messages about the kind of places they are The physical form of the university and how the spaces within it become transformed by their users into places which hold meanings for them has become of increased interest recently from both academic and institutional management perspectives when trying to understand more about how universities work and how they may be made more effective Yet despite its seemingly obvious importance the available literature on space and place in higher education internationally is scant when compared to that dealing with say teaching and learning methods or with evaluating quality or many other topics This book brings together a range of academic and professional perspectives on university spaces and places and show how technical matters of building design maintenance and use interact with academic considerations on the goals of the university Space issues are located at an intellectual crossroads where widely differing conceptual and professional perspectives meet and need to be integrated and this important book brings together perspectives from around the world to show design and use issues are changing Higher Education Globally higher education is being required to do more things to teach more students to be better at research to engage more with business and communities and many other things These pressures are leading universities to reconsider their management processes as well as their academic structures an often quoted saying is that we make our buildings and afterwards they make us At a time when universities and colleges are seeking competitive

advantages ideas and analysis about space design and use is much needed and will be well received

Cities of Knowledge Margaret Pugh O'Mara, 2015-02-17 What is the magic formula for turning a place into a high tech capital How can a city or region become a high tech powerhouse like Silicon Valley For over half a century through boom times and bust business leaders and politicians have tried to become the next Silicon Valley but few have succeeded This book examines why high tech development became so economically important late in the twentieth century and why its magic formula of people jobs capital and institutions has been so difficult to replicate Margaret O Mara shows that high tech regions are not simply accidental market creations but cities of knowledge planned communities of scientific production that were shaped and subsidized by the original venture capitalist the Cold War defense complex At the heart of the story is the American research university an institution enriched by Cold War spending and actively engaged in economic development The story of the city of knowledge broadens our understanding of postwar urban history and of the relationship between civil society and the state in late twentieth century America It leads us to further redefine the American suburb as being much more than formless sprawl and shows how it is in fact the ultimate post industrial city Understanding this history and geography is essential to planning for the future of the high tech economy and this book is must reading for anyone interested in building the next Silicon Valley

Building American Submarines, 1914-1940 Gary E. Weir, 2000-04 In this volume Gary E Weir assesses the Navy s efforts between 1914 and 1940 to develop effective submarines In particular the author describes the work of the Navy and private industry that allowed the relatively primitive submersible of the First World War period to be replaced by the fleet submarine that fought in the Second World War Building American Submarines argues that there was a fundamental shift in the relationship between the Navy and its submarine suppliers during this period After being completely dependent upon private industry in 1914 the Navy not industry controlled the design and construction process by the eve of the Second World War As a result the Navy was able to acquire high quality submarines to fulfill the nation s strategic requirements When we entered the Second World War these new submarines were ready to undertake prolonged and effective antishipping operations in distant waters That capability was of enormous importance in the ensuing triumph of American sea power over Imperial Japan In tracing these developments the author provides insights into the goals of the naval submarine leaders the evolution of the American submarine industry the influence of German undersea technology and strategic requirements foreseen by naval planners The Navy s historians hope that this case study of the problems and successes involved in a major weapons acquisition program will be of particular interest to naval personnel involved in that process today as well as to representatives of the industrial firms that supply the needs of the modern Navy
