Building The National Parks

Building The National Parks:

Building the National Parks Linda Flint McClelland, 1998 The Office of Strategic Services the forerunner of the Central Intelligence Agency was founded in 1942 by William Wild Bill Donovan under the direction of President Roosevelt who realized the need to improve intelligence during wartime A rigorous recruitment process enlisted agents from both the armed services and civilians to produce operational groups specializing in different foreign areas including Italy Norway Yugoslavia and China At its peak in 1944 the number of men and women working in the service totaled nearly 13 500 This intriguing story of the origins and development of the American espionage forces covers all of the different departments involved with a particular emphasis on the courageous teams operating in the field The volume is illustrated with many photographs including images from the film director John Ford who led the OSS Photographic Unit and parachuted into Burma in 1943

Building the Nation Heather S. Gregg, 2018-12 Building the Nation draws from foreign policy reports and interviews with U S military officers to investigate recent U S led efforts to nation build in Iraq and Afghanistan Heather Selma Gregg argues that efforts to nation build in both countries focused more on what should be called state building or how to establish a government rule of law security forces and a viable economy Considerably less attention was paid to what might truly be called nation building the process of developing a sense of shared identity purpose and destiny among a population within a state s borders and popular support for the state and its government According to Gregg efforts to stabilize states in the modern world require two key factors largely overlooked in Iraq and Afghanistan popular involvement in the process of rebuilding the state that gives the population ownership of the process and its results and efforts to foster and strengthen national unity Gregg offers a hypothetical look at how the United States and its allies could have used a population centric approach to build viable states in Iraq and Afghanistan focusing on initiatives that would have given the population buy in and agency Moving forward Gregg proposes a six step program for state and nation building in the twenty first century stressing that these efforts are as much about how state building is done as they are about specific goals or programs

Building the Nation Steven Conn, Max Page, 2016-01-18 Moving away from the standard survey that takes readers from architect to architect and style to style Building the Nation Americans Write About Their Architecture Their Cities and Their Landscape suggests a wholly new way of thinking about the history of America s built environment and how Americans have related to it Through an enormous range of American voices some famous and some obscure and across more than two centuries of history this anthology shows that the struggle to imagine what kinds of buildings and land use would best suit the nation pervaded all classes of Americans and was not the purview only of architects and designers Some of the nation s finest writers including Mark Twain W E B Du Bois Henry James Edith Wharton Lewis Mumford E B White and John McPhee are here contemplating the American way of building Equally important are those eloquent but little known voices found in American newspapers and magazines which insistently wondered what American architecture and environmental planning should look like Building the Nation also insists that American architecture can be understood only as both a result of and a force in shaping American social cultural and political developments In so doing this anthology demonstrates how central the built environment has been to our definition of what it is to be American and reveals seven central themes that have repeatedly animated American writers over the course of the past two centuries the relationship of American architecture to European architecture the nation s diverse regions the place and shape of nature in American life the design of cities the explosion of the suburbs the power of architecture to reform individuals and the role of tradition in a nation dedicated to being perennially young A Brief History of the National Park Service James F.
