period and to assess the extent to which such rivalry may have distorted US operational policy in Southeast Asia It is probably a truism to suggest that interservice rivalry has always been endemic among military establishments in the modern age yet there are few monographs that deal specifically with the subject Presumably interservice rivalry is so commonplace that it excites little comment among military historians and analysts except in passing However if interservice rivalry is so typical of military organisms then it constitutes one of their defining characteristics and is worthy of study for this reason
