Around The World In 80 Days The Rest Of The Story:

Around the World in Eighty Days Jules Verne, 1995-02-23 Jules Verne's classic a bestseller for over a century has never appeared in a critical edition before William Butcher's stylish new translation moves as fast and as brilliantly as Fogg's own journey Having assured the members of London's exclusive Reform Club that he will circumnavigate the world in 80 days Fogg stiff repressed English starts by joining forces with an irrepressible Frenchman Passepartout and then with a ravishing Indian beauty Aouda Together they slice through jungles over snowbound passes even across an entire isthmus only to get back five minutes late Fogg faces despair and suicide but Aouda makes a new man of him able to face even the Reform Club again Around the World in Eighty Days 1872 contains a strong dose of post Romantic reality plus extensive borrowing from the author's own Journey to England and Scotland but not a shred of science fiction Its modernism lies instead in the experimental literary technique with parallel plots a narrator constantly made to look foolish four characters in search of their own unconscious and a unique twisting of space and time Verne's classic a bestseller for over a century has never appeared in a critical edition before William Butcher's stylish new translation moves as fast and as brilliantly as Fogg's own journey

Book for Young People 2016 In the late 1800s the daring young reporter Elizabeth Cochrane known by the pen name Nellie Bly faked insanity so she could be committed to a mental institution and secretly report on the awful conditions there This and other highly publicized investigative stunts laid the groundwork for a new kind of journalism in the early 1900s called muckraking dedicated to exposing social political and economic ills in the United States In Nellie Bly and Investigative Journalism for Kids budding reporters learn about the major figures of the muckraking era the bold and audacious Bly one of the most famous women in the world in her day social reformer and photojournalist Jacob Riis monopoly buster Ida Tarbell antilynching crusader Ida B Wells and Upton Sinclair whose classic book The Jungle created a public outcry over the dangerous and unsanitary conditions of the early meatpacking industry Young readers will also learn about more contemporary reporters from Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein to Amy Goodman who have carried on the muckraking tradition and will get excited about the ever changing world of journalism and the power of purposeful writing Twenty one creative activities encourage and engage a future generation of muckrakers Kids can make and keep a reporter's notebook write a letter to the editor craft a great ideas box create a Jacob Riis style photo essay and much more Current Literature, 1889 New York Magazine, 1985-11-11 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea Rudy and Babette Hans Christian Andersen, 2024-02-10 LET us now go to Switzerland and see its wonderful mountains whose steep rocky sides are covered with trees We will climb up to the fields of snow and then make our way down to the grassy valleys with their countless streams and rivulets impetuously rushing to lose themselves in the sea The sunshine is hot in the narrow valley the snow becomes firm and solid and in the course of time it either descends as an avalanche or creeps along as a glacier THERE are two of these glaciers in the valleys below the Schreckhorn and the Wetterhorn near the long village of Grindelwald They are a remarkable sight and therefore many travelers from all countries come in the summer to visit them they come over the high mountains covered with snow they traverse the deep valleys and to do this they must climb hour after hour leaving the valley far beneath them till they see it as if they were in an air balloon The clouds hang above them like thick mists over the mountains and the sun's rays make their way through the openings between the clouds to where the brown houses lie spread lighting up some chance spot with a vivid green Below the stream foams and blusters but above it murmurs and ripples and looks like a band of silver hanging down the side of the rock On either side of the path up the mountain lie wooden houses Each house has its little plot of potatoes and this they all require for there are many children and they all have good appetites The children come out to meet every stranger whether walking or riding and ask him to buy their carved wooden ch'lets made like the houses they live in Be it fine or be it wet the children

try to sell their carvings About twenty years since you might have seen one little boy standing apart from the others but evidently very desirous to dispose of his wares He looked grave and sad and held his little tray tightly with both hands as if he was afraid of losing it This serious look and his small size caused him to be much noticed by travelers who often called him and purchased many of his toys though he did not know why he was so favored His grandfather lived two miles off among the mountains where he did his carving He had a cabinet full of the things he had made There were nut crackers knives and forks boxes carved with leaves and chamois and many toys for children but little Rudy cared for nothing so much as for an old gun hanging from a rafter in the ceiling for his grandfather had told him it should be his own when he was big enough to know how to use it
