British and Irish Paintings in Public Collections Christopher Wright, Catherine May

Gordon,2006-01-01 This book sets a new standard as a work of reference It covers British and Irish art in public collections from the beginning of the sixteenth century to the end of the nineteenth and it encompasses nearly 9 000 painters and 90 000 paintings in more than 1 700 separate collections The book includes as well pictures that are now lost some as a consequence of the Second World War and others because of de accessioning mostly from 1950 to about 1975 when Victorian art was out of fashion By listing many tens of thousands of previously unpublished works including around 13 000 which do not yet have any form of attribution this book becomes a unique and indispensable work of reference one that will transform the study of British and Irish painting     Art in the Age of Mass Media John A. Walker,2001-08-20 Can fine art survive in an age of mass media If so in what forms and to what purpose And can radical art still play a critical role in today s divided world These are the questions addressed in the Art in the Age of Mass Media as John Walker examines the fascinating relationship between art and mass media and the myriad interactions between high and low culture in a postmodern culturally pluralistic world Using a range of historic and contemporary works of art Walker explores the variety of ways in which artists have responded to the arrival of new mass media He ranges from the socialist paintings of Courbet to the anti Nazi photomontages of Heartfield from community murals and Keith Haring s use of graffiti to the kitsch self promotion associated with Jeff Koons The new edition describes what happened during the 1990s including Toscani s adverts for Benetton the simulations of Leeds 13 art and cinema Damien Hirst and the cyberart currently being produced for the internet     Digital Collections Suzanne Keene,2012-09-11 Suzanne Keene s pioneering book shows how museums and other cultural organizations fit into the new world of information and electronic communications and most importantly how they can take advantage of what it has to offer By using new technology museums can build knowledge bases around information about collections A collection object can be the central link for information about past and present places people and concepts technologies ways of working and evidence of the natural world Digital Collections explains how this vision can be realized Sound video and animations can be digitized and developed as a central resource that can be drawn on for many varied access routes via the World Wide Web CD ROMs through on gallery screens and other future products still in development These technological capabilities raise many compelling issues that need to be understood in order to successfully develop information collections In this book Suzanne Keene reviews these issues clearly and comprehensively Her accompanying Click Through Guide provides the latest news and links to Internet information Suzanne Keene is a senior manager of museum collections and information at the Science Museum London She led the UK LASSI project to select a collections information system for UK museums This with her experience in directing information technology and multimedia projects means that she is accustomed to translating the highly technical concepts of information technology into high level issues for senior and strategic management     Biography and Early Art Criticism of Leonardo Da Vinci Claire J.
