Armenians in London Vered Amit, 1989 The Transgenerational Consequences of the Armenian Genocide Anthonie Holslag, 2018-03-22 This book brings together the Armenian Genocide process and its transgenerational outcome which are often juxtaposed in existing scholarship to ask how the Armenian Genocide is conceptualized and placed within diasporic communities Taking a dual approach to answer this question Anthonie Holslag studies the cultural expression of violence during the genocidal process itself and in the aftermath for the victims By using this approach this book allows us to see comparatively how genocide in diasporic communities in the Netherlands London and the US is encapsulated in an historic narrative It paints a picture of the complexity of genocidal violence itself but also in its transgenerational and non spatial consequences raising new questions of how violence can be perpetuated or interlocked with the discourse and narratives of the victims and how the violence can be relived Armenian Christians in Iran James Barry, 2019 Examines Iran s Armenian community shedding light on Muslim Christian relations in Iran since the 1979 revolution

New Perspectives on the Greek War of Independence Yianni Cartledge, Andrekos Varnava, 2022-11-23 This book marks the 200 year anniversary of uprisings in the Ottoman Balkans between February and March 1821 which became known in the West as the beginnings of the Greek War of Independence 1821 1832 and led to the formation of the modern Greek state It explores the war and its impact on societies involved by delving into the myths that surround it the realities that have often been ignored or suppressed and its lasting legacies on national identities and histories It also explores memory and commemoration in Greece in other countries impacted and the Greek diaspora This book offers a fresh perspective on this pivotal event in Greek Ottoman Balkan Mediterranean European and world histories It presents new research and reflections to connect the war to wider history and to understand its importance across the last 200 years Fluctuating Transnationalism Astghik Chaloyan, 2017-06-28 This book concerns various modes of being transnational among a diasporic population Armenians in Germany by drawing parallels between the first and second generation migrants It puts forth the questions as to whether or not and which kind of transactional activity ties practices survive over generations and to what extent transnational engagements influence self identification and the sense of belonging It also examines how various modes of transnationalism in turn impact the sense of belonging The book fleshes out new perspectives and interpretations of transnationalism by revealing specific aspects of border spanning ties and by showing that connections to the country of origin do not necessarily need to be sustained or intensive in order to survive They can instead fluctuate depending on various factors but still have the right to be called transnational

Social and Cultural Anthropology: The Key Concepts Nigel Rapport, 2014-07-11 Social and Cultural Anthropology the Key Concepts is an easy to use A Z guide to the central concepts that students are likely to encounter in this field Now fully updated this third edition includes entries on Material Culture Environment Human Rights Hybridity Alterity Cosmopolitanism Ethnography Applied Anthropology Gender Cybernetics With full cross referencing and revised further reading to point students towards the latest writings in Social and Cultural Anthropology this is a superb reference resource for anyone studying or teaching in this area Social and Cultural Anthropology Nigel Rapport, Joanna Overing, 2000 Social and Cultural Anthropology The Key Concepts is the ideal introduction to this discipline defining and discussing its central terms with clarity and authority Among the concepts explored are cybernetics écriture the feminine gossip human Rights moralities stereotypes thick description and violence Each entry is accompanied by extensive cross referencing and an invaluable list of suggestions for further reading Paradoxes of Social Capital Myriam Cherti, 2008 Paradoxes of Social Capital critically examines the robustness of social capital theory as an analytical tool in explaining the various integration patterns amongst Moroccans in London The book also considers how structural factors impact on the ways in which Moroccans across generations sustain access and use social capital at the levels of family ethnic community migrant associations and schools Furthermore this research elaborates on how social capital serves as an identity resource that is continuously negotiated and redefined through in active group family ethnic religious and national memberships An original model of studying the second generation processes of adaptation viewed as transversal adaptation is also introduced shifting the focus from predetermined integration patterns to a circular and a longitudinal approach to integration where new opportunities and constraints emerge structured by the temporal flow of life trajectories Islam in Transition Jessica Jacobson, 2006-08-21 Islam in Transition focuses on the ways in which Islamic religion still engenders powerful loyalties within what is now a predominantly secular society and how in their continual adherence to their religion many young British Pakistanis find a welcome sense of stability and permanence By presenting material collected in field work study and by using extensive quotations from interviews the author argues that in a world where concepts of identity are always being challenged traditional sources of authority and allegiance still survive Contemporary Futures Sandra Wallman, 2003-12-16 Contemporary Futures explores the implications of visualising the future and the consequences this has on the present and on our relationship with other cultures London's Urban Landscape Christopher Tilley, 2019-05-07 London's Urban Landscape is the first major study of a global city to adopt a materialist perspective and stress the significance of place and the built environment to the urban landscape Edited by Christopher Tilley the volume is inspired by phenomenological thinking and presents fine grained ethnographies of the practices of everyday life in London In doing so it charts a unique perspective on the city that integrates ethnographies of daily life with an analysis of material culture The first part of the volume considers the residential sphere of urban life discussing in detailed case studies ordinary residential streets housing estates suburbia and London's mobile linear village of houseboats The second part analyses the public sphere including ethnographies of markets a park the social rhythms of a taxi rank and graffiti and street art London's Urban Landscape returns us to the everyday lives of people and the manner in which they understand their lives The deeply sensuous character of the embodied experience of the city is invoked in the thick descriptions of entangled relationships between people and places and the paths of movement between them What stories do door bells and house facades tell us about contemporary life in a Victorian terrace How do antiques acquire value and significance in a market How does living in a concrete megastructure relate to the lives of the people who dwell there These and a host of other questions are addressed in this fascinating book that will appeal widely to all readers interested in London or contemporary urban life Migrant City Panikos Panayi, 2020-04-07 The first history of London to show how immigrants have built shaped and made a great success of the capital city London is now a global financial and multicultural hub in which over three hundred languages are spoken But the history of London has always been a history of immigration Panikos Panayi explores the rich and vibrant story of London from its founding two millennia ago by Roman invaders to Jewish and German immigrants in the Victorian period to the Windrush generation invited from Caribbean countries in the twentieth century Panayi shows how migration has been fundamental to London's economic social political and cultural development Migrant City sheds light on the various ways in which newcomers have shaped London life acting as cheap labour contributing to the success of its financial sector its curry houses and its football clubs London's economy has long been driven by migrants from earlier continental financiers and more recent European Union citizens Without immigration fueled by globalization Panayi argues London would not have become the world city it is today Refugee Community Organisations and Dispersal David Griffiths, Nando Sigona, Roger Zetter, 2005-10-05 Despite increased political and public interest in asylum issues in the UK little has been written on the topic This book written by leading experts in the field is the first to examine the role of refugee community organisations RCOs at a critical point of policy change The book is distinctive in combining theoretical discussion on the role of networks resources and social capital with fieldwork evidence and interviews with members of RCOs non governmental organisations NGOs and statutory authorities It critically examines the impact of dispersal and current legislative change on refugee communities and RCOs explores the integrative role of RCOs assesses the race relations framework in Britain and its effects on refugee organisations and provides a thorough and up to date literature review Refugee community organisations and dispersal is essential reading for practitioners and policy makers academics researchers and students of social policy social geography sociology and politics Members of NGOs working with refugees or in local government community workers and members of refugee communities themselves will also be keenly interested in the book Comparative issues raised by the research will be of direct interest to readers in other countries David Griffiths is a Research Fellow at Oxford Brookes University UK His research interests include British and European asylum policy Nando Sigona is a Research Associate at Oxford Brookes University His research interests include Roma refugees in Europe Roger Zetter is Deputy Head in the Department of Planning Oxford Brookes University His research interests include refugees and public policy Realizing Community Vered Amit, 2003-12-16 Community is so overused both in everyday language as well as in scholarly work that it could easily be dismissed as a truism However the persistence of the term itself shows that the idea continues to resonate powerfully in our daily lives ethnographic accounts as well as theoretical analyses This book returns a timely and concerted anthropological gaze to community as part of a broader consideration of contemporary circumstances of social affiliation and solidarity Immigration, Ethnicity and Racism in Britain, 1815-1945 Panikos Panayi,1994-06-15 Examines immigration ethnicity and racism in Britain from 1815 to 1945 This book tackles four themes why so many immigrants made their way to Britain during that time the geographical gender and economic divisions of newcomers ethnicity and the reactions of the British to the newcomers Dislocating Anthropology? Simon Coleman,Peter Collins,2020-05-15

Anthropology continues to develop both in terms of theory and in relation to the ways in which fieldwork is conducted Dislocating Anthropology seeks to capture and represent these developments through a collection of ethnographic essays that are cutting edge but which do not represent a complete break with what has gone before In recent years anthropologists have increasingly come to accept that fieldwork in bounded and discrete places is no longer tenable People can no longer be represented in these static parochial terms At the start of the 21st century and with the possibility of internet connections almost anywhere we have the potential to move even when we are stationary Each of the contributors to this collection have identified and attempted to understand sets of relationships that are both temporally and spatially dynamic that appear to flow into and out of the field Together the chapters shed light on a number of methodological conundrums or dislocations relating for example to locality identity fieldwork and reflexivity The book is concerned with dislocation as both practice and process and as such extends a theme that has arguably been central to Anthropology since Malinowski's Trobriand ethnography

The Trouble with Community Vered Amit,Nigel Rapport,2002-08-20 Community is one of social science's longest standing concepts The assumption of much social science has been that humans belong in communities as social and cultural beings The trouble with community is that this is not necessarily so the personal social networks of individuals actually experience crosscut collective categories situations and institutions Communities can prove unviable or imprisoning the reality of community life and identity can often be very different from the ideology and the ideal In this book the authors draw on their ethnographic experiences to reappraise the concept and the reality of community in the light of globalisation religious fundamentalism identity politics and renascent localisms How might anthropology better apprehend social identities which are intrinsically plural transgressive and ironic What has anthropology to say about the way in which civil society might hope to accommodate the ongoing construction and the rightful expression of such migrant identities Audit

Cultures Marilyn Strathern,2003-12-08 Do audit cultures deliver greater responsibility or do they stifle creative thought We are all increasingly subjected to auditing and alongside that subject to accountability for our behaviour and actions Audit cultures pervade in the workplace our governmental and public institutions as well as academia However audit practices themselves have consequences beneficial and detrimental that often go unexamined This book examines how pervasive practices of accountability are the political and cultural conditions under which accountability flourishes and the consequences of their application Twelve social anthropologists look at this influential and controversial phenomenon and map out the effects around Europe and the Commonwealth as well as in contexts such as the European Commission the International Monetary Fund and Academic institutions The result provides an excellent insight into auditing and its dependence on precepts of economic efficiency and ethical practice This point of convergence between these moral and financial priorities provides an excellent opening for debate on the culture of management and accountability

Anthropologica ,1997 Diasporic Generations Mette Louise Berg,2011-10-01 Interpretations of the background to the Cuban diaspora a political revolution and the subsequent radical transformation of the society and economy towards socialism are politicised and highly contested The Miami based Cuban diaspora has had extraordinary success in putting its case high on the US political agenda and in capturing world media attention but in the process the multiplicity of experiences within the diaspora has been overshadowed This book gives voice to diasporic Cubans living in Spain the former colonial ruler of Cuba By focusing on their lived experiences of displacement the book brings to light imaginative narrative re creations of the nation from afar Drawing on extensive ethnographic fieldwork the book argues that the Cuban diaspora in Spain consists of three diasporic generations generated through distinct migratory experiences This constitutes an important step forward in understanding the dynamics of memory making and social differentiation within diasporas and in appreciating why people within the same diaspora engage in different modes of transnational practices and homeland relations
