Galán, Evangelos Kotsioris, Anna-Maria Meister, 2022-05-31 Experiments in architectural education in the post World War II era that challenged and transformed architectural discourse and practice In the decades after World War II new forms of learning transformed architectural education These radical experiments sought to upend disciplinary foundations and conventional assumptions about the nature of architecture as much as they challenged modernist and colonial norms decentered building imagined new roles for the architect and envisioned participatory forms of practice Although many of the experimental programs were subsequently abandoned terminated or assimilated they nevertheless helped shape and in some sense define architectural discourse and practice This book explores and documents these radical pedagogies and efforts to defy architecture's status quo The experiments include the adaptation of Bauhaus pedagogy as a means of unlearning under the conditions of decolonization in Africa a movement to design for everybody including the disabled by architecture students and faculty at the University of California Berkeley the founding of a support network for women interested in the built environment regardless of their academic backgrounds and a design studio in the USSR that offered an alternative to the widespread functionalist approach in Soviet design Viewed through their dissolution and afterlife as well as through their founding stories these projects from the last century raise provocative questions about architecture's role in the new century Which Proximity in Design Education? Rita Assoreira Almendra, 2025-01-30 This book explores various pedagogical viewpoints and dialectical positions within the field of design education and the concept of proximity it has established with industries and manufacturing Which Proximity in Design Education frames a wide range of approaches in design studios on undergraduate graduate and postgraduate levels and their capacity to render meaningful and novel attitudes and actions beyond the classroom The urgent call for resilience in the way we lead our lives has brought our global boundaries and social tensions to the forefront of the conversation and there is a generation of students fully aware of our collective responsibility in this decisive decade As such educators need to rapidly adapt to new tools and ways of teaching design whilst also being challenged on how to educate the designer for the pressing tasks of the near future It presents optimistic solutions for how education can support renovated mindsets and efforts towards common goals This book contains distinct visions of the world and its problems relating to proximity in design education As such the chapters present diversified solutions to these issues which will be of interest to teachers and researchers working in design education
