Craft Of Editing A Guide For Managers Scientists And Engineers:

The Craft of Editing Michael Alley, 2013-03-08 You are a hired gun of sorts a manager scientist or engineer called upon to edit a document Perhaps you are overseeing a long report or thesis reviewing a journal article or providing comments on a proposal For the document before you what changes do you suggest How do you clearly and efficiently communicate those changes to the author How do you convince the author and the other editors that those changes are needed The answers to these questions define how you edit someone's writing In business engineering and science the process of editing causes much strife In fact my experience in teaching professional writing over the past fifteen years has been that editing is the number one complaint that professionals have about the process of documenting their work Many professionals complain that this editing seems to arise more from whim than from logic that what flies in one document is often shot down in another Others complain that editors change too much essentially inserting their own individual styles Still others complain that the sign off process is so inefficient and taxing that they sometimes do not document work they know should be documented While in many cases these complaints are unfounded in many others they are legitimate This book addresses those complaints that are legitimate by showing managers scientists and engineers how to make their editing both more effective and more efficient

Eloquent Science David Schultz, 2013-01-16 Mary Grace Soccio My writing could not please this kindhearted woman no matter how hard I tried Although Gifted and Talented seventh grade math posed no problem for me the same was not true for Mrs Soccio's English class I was frustrated that my first assignment only netted me a C I worked harder making revision after revision a concept I had never really put much faith in before At last I produced an essay that seemed the apex of what I was capable of writing Although the topic of that essay is now lost to my memory the grade I received was not a B The best I could do was a B The realization sank in that maybe I was not such a good writer In those days my youthful hubris did not understand about capacity building In other words being challenged would result in my intellectual growth an academic restatement of Nietzsche's What does not destroy me makes me stronger Consequently I asked to be withdrawn from Gifted and Talented English in the eighth grade
