Professional Development - Preparing for New Roles in Libraries: A Voyage of Discovery Paul Genoni, Graham Walton, 2006-05-02. Librarians and information workers the world over are faced with the constant challenge of remaining abreast of developments in their field. Rapid changes in technology and workplace roles threaten to make their skills obsolete unless they undertake constant professional development. This international collection presents a comprehensive overview of current continuing professional development theory and practice for those who manage and work in library and information services. Papers by academics and practitioners describe numerous innovative responses to emerging continuing education and training needs, including workplace learning, individual learning, and learning organisations. Career Pathways in Adult Education Catherine H. Monaghan, E. Paulette Isaac-Savage, Paul G. Putman, 2023-12-14. Career Pathways in Adult Education showcases the wide-ranging possibilities for a satisfying career in the field of adult education. Along with practical advice for launching and advancing a career in adult education, this book includes personal stories and insights from adult education professionals which focus on the research, practices, programs, and services within multiple industries. Divided into two parts, the book begins by examining transferable skills that adult educators need to be successful in any adult education career. Chapters in the second part focus on specific career opportunities for those with adult education backgrounds, including discussions around career lifecycle from entry to advancement, career development, and future trends. Written by active practitioners in adult education, chapters are designed to be practical, informative, and thought-provoking regarding career entry, progression, development, and advancement. A truly one-of-a-kind text, Career Pathways in Adult Education is the ideal companion for students and professionals looking to transition into adult education, as well as graduate program administrators who wish to share the importance of their programs.

Developing Programs in Adult Education Edgar J. Boone, R. Dale Saifrit, Jo Jones, 2002-05-10. The Second Edition of Developing Programs in Adult Education will serve as an indispensable guide for current and prospective adult educators in planning, designing, implementing, and evaluating accounting for adult education programs. Like the successful First Edition, this revised and expanded volume presents a conceptual programming model that draws from many concepts, constructs, and theories generated by adult educators and other scholars in closely allied disciplines. The updated model, field-tested and validated, enhances and elaborates on the complex contextual relationships and processual actions represented in the original The authors offer illustrative applications within varied organizational contexts and provide a panorama of both macro and micro perspectives and actions of a program planning process with examples from various fields of adult education practice This innovative text is the definitive authority on one of the few theoretical models of the programming process based in systems theory merged with the practice ecology of adult education Source.Fall.2010 , Developing and Delivering Adult Degree Programs James P.

Pappas,Jerry Jerman,2014-02-25 This issue explores the growing field of adult degree programs andconsiders the theoretical underpinnings of such programs andhands on issues as curriculum faculty marketing technology financing and accreditation all with a goal of informing andequipping both scholars and practitioners More and more adults who have been out of school for many yearshave turned to colleges and universities to complete undergraduateand graduate degrees that will make them competitive in theworkforce fulfill a professional requirement or enrich themintellectually Higher education institutions and many privateorganizations have responded to this demand by creating innovatedegree programs aimed specifically at mature learners students whowant to self design their educational programs and do not hesitateto change institutions if they believe their needs are not beingmet This explosive growth in adult degree programs is largely theresult of distance education technologies and the Internet Othersignificant factors include the potential such programs have forproviding additional revenue streams for institutions the fiercecompetition from the private sector and other higher educationinstitutions and the rising interest in interdisciplinaryprograms This is the 103rd volume of the Jossey Bass quarterly reportseries New Directions for Adult and ContinuingEducation Nursing Staff Development Russell C.
