Bay Area Cocktails: A History of Culture, Community and Craft Shanna Farrell,2017 An American invention the cocktail fluctuated in popularity following Prohibition and had firmly taken root in the culinary landscape by the 1990s The Bay Area played a significant role in reviving it as much as New York and London From the distillers who pioneered craft spirits and Alice Waters revolutionary take on simple fresh food at Chez Panisse to the bartenders who cared enough to grow a dedicated cocktail community this is the story of how the Bay Area shaped the art of elevated drinking in America Through oral history interviews and recipes author Shanna Farrell chronicles the narrative history of the modern cocktail renaissance Critical Craft Clare M. Wilkinson-Weber, Alicia Ory DeNicola, 2020-05-26 From Oaxacan wood carvings to dessert kitchens in provincial France Critical Craft presents thirteen ethnographies which examine what defines and makes craft in a wide variety of practices from around the world Challenging the conventional understanding of craft as a survival a revival or something that resists capitalism the book turns instead to the designers DIY enthusiasts traditional artisans and technical programmers who consider their labor to be craft in order to comprehend how they make sense of it The authors ethnographic studies focus on the individuals and communities who claim a practice as their own bypassing the question of craft survival to ask how and why activities termed craft are mobilized and reproduced Moving beyond regional studies of heritage artisanship the authors suggest that ideas of craft are by definition part of a larger cosmopolitan dialogue of power and identity By paying careful attention to these sometimes conflicting voices this collection shows that there is great flexibility in terms of which activities are labelled craft In fact there are many related ideas of craft and these shape distinct engagements with materials people and the economy Case studies from countries including Mexico Nigeria India Taiwan the Philippines and France draw together evidence based on linguistics microsociology and participant observation to explore the shifting terrain on which those engaged in craft are operating What emerges is a fascinating picture which shows how claims about craft are an integral part of contemporary global change Profiles from the Kitchen Charles A. and an ability to understand and communicate that knowledge to others resulting in a new form of elite taste making Ocejo describes the paths people take to these jobs how they learn their chosen trades how they imbue their work practices with craftsmanship and how they teach a sense of taste to their consumers Focusing on cocktail bartenders craft distillers upscale men's barbers and whole animal butcher shop workers in Manhattan Brooklyn and upstate New York Masters of Craft provides new insights into the stratification of taste gentrification and the evolving labor market in today's postindustrial city
