Doyle, Biljana Mickov, 2016-03-03 The Creative City Vision and Execution edited by James E Doyle and Biljana Mickov challenges the popular understanding of the Creative City by bridging the gap between the Creative City as concept and the Creative City as practice and in so doing provides a contemporary template for policy makers city planners and citizens alike The book will offer researchers and pragmatists a series of real life examples of successful cultural and creative practice throughout Europe reflecting on the analysis and thinking that forms our contemporary understanding of the creative city It will examine and explain the changes to the concept of the creative city explore its connectivity to the cultural sector as well as other sectors and practices across Europe and will serve to illustrate the perspectives of Cultural Managers Educators Professionals and Researchers from the creative sector in Dublin and Europe This book will present the reader and the cultural sector at large with a new reality based on the quality of contemporary creative practice Doyle and Mickov address cultural trends such as sustainability and social networking and how they value impact our attitudes towards culture and the creative city By recognizing that we live in a time of rapid change which affects all systems financial models resources the economy and technology we also recognize that the creative process is at the heart of our responses to these changes

Creative City as an Urban Development

Strategy Suet Leng Khoo, Nicole Shu Fun Chang, 2021-05-21 This book is a pioneering work to position the creative city concept within Malaysian urban development discourse. The chapters are written and systematically sequenced to be all encompassing and comprehensible to audiences both from the academic and non academic realms. The nascency of creative city development in Malaysia has motivated the timely exploration of the viability of this strategy for selected Malaysian cities i.e. Kuala Lumpur, George Town, Ipoh, Johor Bahru. The book also discusses the global discourse on creative city and its critiques. This is followed by an overview of Malaysia's macrolevel socio economic and political structures as well as national policies to frame the Malaysian creative city narrative. The case study chapters are novel as each Malaysian city unravels its unique experiences and dissects the way the city responds to the creative city agenda amidst local nuances and idiosyncrasies.

Handbook of Creative Cities D. E. Andersson, E. Andersson, Charlotta Mellander, 2011-01-01 With the publication of The Rise of the Creative Class by Richard Florida in 2002, the creative city became the new hot topic among urban policymakers, planners and economists. Florida has developed one of three path breaking theories about the relationship between creative individuals and urban environments. The economist Richard E. Andersson and the psychologist Dean Simonton are the other members of this creative troika. In the Handbook of Creative Cities, Florida, Andersson and Simonton appear in the same volume for the first time. The expert contributors in this timely Handbook extend their insights with a varied set of theoretical and empirical tools. The diversity of the contributions reflect the multidisciplinary nature of creative city theorizing which encompasses urban economics, economic geography, social psychology, urban sociology and urban planning. The stated policy implications are equally diverse, ranging from libertarian to social democratic visions of our shared creative and urban future. Being truly international in its scope, this major Handbook will be particularly useful for policy makers that are involved in urban development, academics in urban economics, economic geography, urban sociology, social psychology and urban planning as well as graduate and advanced undergraduate students across the social sciences and in business.

The Creative City Natalie Camilleri, 2010-06 The focus of this thesis is on three connected themes: Charles Landry, Comedia and the notion of the creative city. Landry and Comedia devised the notion of the creative city in the early 1990s. This thesis considers the relevance of the creative city concept to strategic planning. It questions whether the creative city is possible and whether it is capable of bringing the change Landry premises. This thesis looks at the evolution of urban cultural strategies since the 1970s. Landry's creative city is a new urban cultural strategy with creativity as an added dimension. The meaning of creativity in the context of the individual organisations and the city is considered. Ideas on creative milieux and the conditions for fostering such milieux are reviewed. Landry and Comedia's work leading up to the development of the creativity city is analysed as is relevant to the conceptualisation of the idea. Landry's methodology for the creative city as presented in his book The Creative City: A toolkit for urban innovators 2000 is critiqued. The Huddersfield Creative Town

Initiative being inspired by Landry's work is presented as a case study      Seeking Talent for Creative Cities Jill L. Grant, 2014-01-01 With the growth of knowledge based economies cities across the globe must compete to attract and retain the most talented workers Seeking Talent for Creative Cities offers a comprehensive and insightful analysis of the diverse dynamic factors that affect cities ability to achieve this goal Based on a comparative national study of 16 Canadian cities this volume systematically evaluates the concerns facing workers operating in a range of creative endeavours It draws on interviews surveys and census data collected over a six year research program conducted by experts in business public policy urban studies and communications studies to identify the characteristics and features of particular city regions that influence these workers mobility and satisfaction Seeking Talent for Creative Cities represents a rigorously empirical test of popular wisdom on the true relationship between urban development and economic competitiveness      The Routledge Research Companion to Planning and Culture Greg Young, 2016-03-23 It has become increasingly evident that effective planning for sustainable communities environments and economies pivots on the ability of planners to see the possibilities for culture in comprehensive social historical and environmental terms and to more fully engage with the cultural practices processes and theorisation that comprise a social formation More broadly an approach to planning theory and practice that is itself formed through a close engagement with culture is required This Research Companion brings together leading experts from around the world to map the contours of the relationship between planning and culture and to present these inextricably linked concepts and issues together in one place By examining significant trends in varying national and international contexts the contributors scrutinise the theories and practices of both planning and culture and explore not only their interface but significant divergences and tensions In doing so this collection provides the first comprehensive overview and analysis of planning and culture interdisciplinary and international in scope It is comprised of six parts organised around the themes of global and historical contexts key dimensions of planning and cultural theory and practice and cultural and planning dynamics Each section includes a final chapter that provides a case study lens which pulls the themes of the section together with reference to a significant planning issue or initiative      Cultural Heritage, Creativity and Economic Development Silvia Cerisola, 2019 The book explores the relationship between cultural heritage and local economic development by introducing the original idea that one possible mediator between the two can be identified as creativity The book econometrically verifies this idea and demonstrates that cultural heritage through its inspirational role on different creative talents generates an indirect positive effect on local economic development These results justify important new policy recommendations in the field of cultural heritage      International Opportunities in the Arts Mary Sherman, 2019-09-03 This book is a compilation of papers derived from talks presented at TransCultural Exchange's 2018 International Conference on Opportunities in the Arts The aim of these talks was to inspire artists to think across disciplines and cultures and to suggest other career models beyond the typical studio to gallery museum model Much of this content is unique in that it not only addresses the practical needs of artists but even more importantly it does so in the context of today's global reality. As artists have noted on post-Conference surveys, this information is the missing link in the art world: the bridge between academic and real world practice between a local and international career in the arts. By making this information available long after the Conference's end and to those who could not directly participate in the Conference, many more artists will have access to where to find jobs, residency programs and funding for their work, information on how to put together successful residency applications, how to market their work and other professional development programming. In addition, they and interested members of the public will have access to the Conference talks on what leading artists are doing across disciplines with new technologies and in the public sphere.

Urban Tourism in the Global South Christian M. Rogerson, Jayne M. Rogerson, 2021-07-13 This book examines and addresses the particular character of urban tourism occurring in the global South. It presents research essays on tourism in urban areas of South Africa, a country which is associated with big 5 nature tourism but where urban areas are also major tourism destinations. The book contextualizes urban tourism in South Africa as part of the other half of urban tourism, an overlooked but energetic scholarship which is emerging on urban places in the global South. The volume moves to present a collection of original material variously on national perspectives on urban tourism, following by a cluster of city level perspectives. The last three contributions turn to the role of tourism in small towns, the bottom rung in the urban settlement system. Issues of concern include gastronomic tourism, VFR travel, airports, landscapes, climate change, AirBnB and creative tourism. Finally, as COVID 19 is potentially a defining historical moment for urban tourism, the volume incorporates historical research perspectives in order to address the overwhelming present-mindedness of mainstream urban tourism writings. The book highlights the challenges and opportunities for tourism development in the environment of the urban global South and is relevant to scholars of both tourism and urban studies as well as researchers in development studies.

Urban Tourism in the Developing World Gustav Visser, 2017-07-28 Over the past decade, the field of urban tourism has consolidated with the appearance of several books that concentrate upon the Western European and North American experience. Recently, the scope and range of urban research has widened considerably, including the welcome appearance of studies that examine the tourism phenomenon in cities outside the Euro-American heartland. Despite this growing international body of debate and scholarship on tourism and cities, particularly in the developed North, literature that relates to the developing world as a whole and to Africa in particular remains sparse. The task of Urban Tourism in the Developing World: The South African Experience is to augment the current international scholarship concerning urban tourism in the developing world. More especially, the contributors draw attention to a range of case studies from South Africa that provide some starting points to address the uneven scholarly coverage of urban tourism the African context has received to date. In addition, the research material presented here seeks to contribute toward raising the South African and indeed the African profile within growing international scholarship concerning issues of urban tourism and development This collection aims to expand an emerging South African and African tourism research voice concerning the tourism and development nexus as well as to stem critiques that this body of research appears to have developed in a theoretical vacuum divorced from broader international tourism research discourses This collection of essays not only further develops an independent South African tourism perspective but also presents research that is closely tied to international urban tourism research debates In addition this analysis of urban tourism in the South African context enriches the rather Western oriented theories of urban tourism discourse through its emphasis on how urban tourism is evolving in urban Africa

The Oxford Handbook of Cities in World History Peter Clark, 2013-02-14 In 2008 for the first time the majority of the planet's inhabitants lived in cities and towns Becoming globally urban has been one of mankind's greatest collective achievements over time Written by leading scholars this is the first detailed survey of the world's cities and towns from ancient times to the present day

The Impact of Artists on Contemporary Urban Development in Europe Monika Murzyn-Kupisz, Jarosław Działek, 2017-04-04 This book provides an up to date critical review of theoretical concepts connecting artists and urban development It focuses on the multidimensionality of potential and actually observed interactions between artists and cities and their impacts on urban space its form functions and perceptions Departing from the viewpoint that a more nuanced geography of artists is still needed to fully conceptualise the diversity of roles artistic creatives play in urban transformations the book presents contributions with a common denominator of distinguishing artists as a unique professional and social group The essays focus on the complexity of the artists' spatial preferences and analyse a myriad of expressions of artists' presence in urban centres in different geographic political economic social and spatial contexts drawing on experiences from 16 cities across Europe The book presents several case studies ranging from Spain to Russia and from Scandinavia to Slovenia and offers new pathways into understanding the implications of artists' residence and activities in contemporary cities Apart from presenting less obvious expressions of artists' involvement in urban transformations such as their participation in urban planning or grass root urban movements the volume explores the ambivalence of artists' interactions with cities Particular chapters test several divergent narratives of artistic creatives as inspirers and instigators of urban changes pioneers of gentrification contesters and resisters of neoliberal urban policies or mere indicators of transformations inspired by other actors instrumentalized by public and private stakeholders

Co-Creation in Theory and Practice Horvath, Christina, Carpenter, Juliet, 2020-09-09 This innovative book provides a critical analysis of diverse experiences of Co creation in neighbourhood settings across the Global North and Global South A unique collection of international researchers artists and activists explore how creative arts based methods of community engagement can help tackle marginalisation and stigmatisation whilst empowering communities to effect positive change towards more socially just cities Focusing on community collaboration arts practice and knowledge sharing this book proposes various methods of Co Creation for community engagement and assesses the effectiveness of different practices in highlighting challenging and reversing issues that most affect urban cohesion in contemporary cities      Eventful Cities

Greg Richards, Robert Palmer, 2012-05-31 Analyses the process of cultural event development management and marketing and links these processes to their wider cultural social and economic context Provides a unique blend of practical and academic analysis with a selection of major festivals and cities where the event has had an important element of development strategy Examines the reasons why different stakeholders should collaborate as well as the reasons why partnerships succeed or fail
