Review, 2001 The Eusebian Canon Tables Matthew R. Crawford, 2019-05-06 One of the books most central to late antique religious life was the four gospel codex containing the Gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John. A common feature in such manuscripts was a marginal cross referencing system known as the Canon Tables. This reading aid was invented in the early fourth century by Eusebius of Caesarea and represented a milestone achievement both in the history of the book and in the scholarly study of the fourfold gospel. In this work, Matthew R. Crawford provides the first book-length treatment of the origins and use of the Canon Tables apparatus in any language. Part one begins by defining the Canon Tables as a paratextual device that orders the textual content of the fourfold gospel. It then considers the relation of the system to the prior work of Ammonius of Alexandria and the hermeneutical implications of reading a four gospel codex equipped with the marginal apparatus. Part two transitions to the reception of the paratext in subsequent centuries by highlighting four case studies from different cultural and theological traditions: from Augustine of Hippo, who used the Canon Tables to develop the first ever theory of gospel composition; to a Syriac translator in the fifth century; to later monastic scholars in Ireland between the seventh and ninth centuries; Finally, from the eighth century onwards, Armenian commentators used the artistic adornment of the Canon Tables as a basis for contemplative meditation. These four case studies represent four different modes of using the Canon Tables as a paratext and illustrate the potential inherent in the Eusebian apparatus for engaging with the fourfold gospel in a variety of ways, from the philological to the theological to the visual. Choice, 2002 The Bible in the Armenian Tradition Vrej Nersessian, 2001 The Bible in the Armenian Tradition provides a concise historical account of the development of the Bible in Armenia and the illustrative traditions that are represented in surviving codices. The author focuses on the origins of the first translations of the Bible into Armenian in the fourth century, which inspired the Armenian alphabet itself. A range of beautiful Armenian Bible manuscripts from collections throughout the world are illustrated in full color and compared with western Bible illuminations. Later printed Armenian Bibles are also examined in detail, revealing fascinating examples of religious differences between the Armenian and the Catholic Christian traditions. This survey of

East-West Artistic Transfer through Rome, Armenia and the Silk Road Christiane Esche-Ramshorn,2021-09-05 This book examines the arts and artistic exchanges at the Christian Oriental fringes of Europe especially Armenia It starts with the architecture history and inhabitants of the lesser known pilgrim compounds at the Vatican in the Middle Ages and Renaissance of Hungary Germany but namely those of the most ancient of Churches the Churches of the Christian Orient Ethiopia and Armenia Without taking an Eurocentric view this book explores the role of missionaries merchants artists for example Momik Giotto Minas Domenico Veneziano Durer and artefacts such as fabrics inscriptions and symbols travelling into both directions along the western stretch of the Silk Road between Ayas Cilicia ancient Armenia and North western Iran

This area was truly global before globalization was a site of intense cultural exchanges and East West cultural transmissions. This book opens a new research window into the culturally mixed landscapes in the Christian Orient, the Middle East, and North eastern Africa by taking into consideration their many indigenous and foreign artistic components and embeds Armenian arts into today's wider art historical discourse. This book will be of interest to scholars in art history, architectural history, missions, trade, Middle Eastern arts, and the arts of the Southern Caucasus.
