Jeremy Tanner, 2006-03-23 The ancient Greeks developed their own very specific ethos of art appreciation advocating a rational involvement with art This book explores why the ancient Greeks started to write art history and how the writing of art history transformed the social functions of art in the Greek world It looks at the invention of the genre of portraiture and the social uses to which portraits were put in the city state Later chapters explore how artists sought to enhance their status by writing theoretical treatises and producing works of art intended for purely aesthetic contemplation which ultimately gave rise to the writing of art history and to the development of art collecting The study which is illustrated throughout and draws on contemporary perspectives in the sociology of art will prompt the student of classical art to rethink fundamental assumptions about Greek art and its cultural and social implications A History of Greek Art Mark D.

Art History in Greece Eugenios D. Matthiopoulos, 2018 The essays in this volume give the international academic community as broad a picture as possible of the historical development of and the main trends in the history of art in Greece along with the level of educational achievements in that field The study of modern European art history has been systematically developed as a specialist discipline both in academia and in the public sphere in Greece since the late 1970s onwards In recent decades the history of Western art has begun to be regularly taught in Greek universities both at undergraduate level and in postgraduate and doctoral programmes During the same period an increasing number of Greek art historians have been trained in undergraduate and postgraduate courses at prestigious universities mainly in France the United Kingdom Germany and the United States thus contributing if they return to work in their native land to a multifaceted updating of the theoretical and methodological tools of art history in Greece The ideological issues and objective difficulties of establishing art history into an academic discipline in Greece are presented in great detail in the pages of this volume while the theoretical and methodological directions taken both in historiography and in academic teaching are also thoroughly examined Alongside these there is some discussion on the attempts made over the last twenty years to form a permanent academic community through positive action such as holding regular conferences academic colloquia and lectures under the aegis of the Association of Greek Art Historians

Entangled Art Histories in Ukraine Stefaniia Demchuk, Illia Levchenko, 2024-11-29 This book explores ideologies conflicts and ideas that underpinned art historical writing in Ukraine in the 20th century Disciplinary beginnings testify both to its deep connection to Krakow Saint Petersburg and especially Vienna with its school of art history and originality of theoretical thought Art history started as another imperial project in Ukraine but ultimately transformed into the means of assertion of national identity The volume looks closely at the continuity and ruptures in scholarship caused by the establishment of Soviet power and challenges a number of existing stereotypes like total isolation under Communist rule and strict adherence to a Marxist Leninist methodology It showcases intellectual exchanges through published work personal contacts and ways to resist the politically enforced methodology Despite keeping the focus on one country it contributes to understanding the development of art history as an academic discipline in Europe more generally It also uncovers unknown or little researched personal and academic connections between art historians from Ukraine and their peers abroad Starting with the 19th century quest for the method and proceeding by disentangling the complexities of the 20th century the authors move on to the specifics of historiography after the formal collapse of the USSR The volume transgresses purely academic boundaries and tackles the development of the discourse in periodicals exhibition spaces and public discussions Thus the findings will be pertinent to all interested in politics art history museum studies intellectual history historiography and Eastern European studies

The Oxford History of the Archaic Greek World A G Leventis Senior Research Fellow Inaugural A G Leventis Professor of Greek Culture Emeritus Paul Cartledge,Paul Cartledge,Paul Christesen,William R Kenan Professor of Ancient Greek History Paul Christesen,2025-07-04

The ancient Greek world consisted of approximately 1 000 autonomous polities scattered across the Mediterranean basin and each one developed its own unique set of socio political institutions and social practices The Oxford History of the Archaic Greek World offers twenty one detailed studies of key sites from across the Greek world between c 750 and c 480 BCE a crucial period when much of what is now seen as distinctive about Greek culture emerged All the studies in this seven volume series use the same structure and methodology so that readers can easily compare a wide range of Greek communities The series thus offers a new and unique resource for the study of ancient Greece that will transform how we study and think about a crucial era in ancient Greek history Volume III contains detailed and up to date studies of Cumae and Pithecusae The Cyclades and Cyprus The History of Ancient Art Among the Greeks (1850) John Winckelmann, Giles Henry Lodge, 2009-05 This scarce antiquarian book is a facsimile reprint of the original Due to its age it may contain imperfections such as marks notations marginalia and flawed pages Because we believe this work is culturally important we have made it available as part of our commitment for protecting preserving and promoting the world s literature in affordable high quality modern editions that are true to the original work The Oxford History of Western Art Martin Kemp, 2000 The Oxford History of Western Art is the new authority on the development of visual culture in the West over the last 2700 years from the classical period to the end of the twentieth century OHWA is an innovative and challenging reappraisal of how the history of art can be presented and understood None of the currently available general histories of art offers the wealth of perspectives and cross media references of this book Through a carefully devised modular structure readers are given insights not only into how and why works of art were created but also how works in different media relate to each other across time Here uniquely is not the simple linear story of art but a rich series of stories told from varying viewpoints The founding principle of the book has been to use carefully selected groupings of pictures to give readers a sense of the visual texture of the various periods and episodes covered The 167 illustration groups supported by explanatory text and picture captions create a sequence of visual tours not merely a procession of individually great works viewed in isolation but juxtapositions of significant images that powerfully convey a sense of the visual environments in which works of art need to be viewed in order to be understood and appreciated The aim throughout has been to make the shape and nature of these visual presentations a stimulating and rewarding experience allowing readers to become active participants in the process of interpretation and synthesis Another key feature of the narrative is the re definition of traditional period boundaries Rather than relying on conventional labels such as Medieval Renaissance Baroque etc five major phases of significant historical change are established that unlock longer and more meaningful continuities The art of classical antiquity from c 600 BC to the fall of Rome in AD 410 The establishment of visual culture in Europe from 410 to 1527 the sack of papal Rome European visual regimes from 1527 to 1770 The era of revolutions 1770 to 1914 Modernism and after 1914 to 2000 This new framework shows how the major religious and secular functions of art have been forged sustained transformed revived and revolutionized over the ages how the institutions of Church and State have consistently aspired to make art in their own image and how the rise of art history itself has come to provide the dominant conceptual framework within which artists create patrons patronize collectors collect galleries exhibit dealers deal and art historians write The text has been written by a team of 50 specialist authors working under the direction of Professor Martin Kemp one of the UK s most distinguished art historians Whilst bringing their own expertise and vision to their sections each author was also asked to relate their text to a number of unifying themes and issues including written evidence physical contexts patronage viewing and reception techniques gender and racial issues centres and peripheries media and condition the notion of art and current presentations Though the coverage of topics focuses on European notions of art and their transplantation and transformation in North America space is also given to cross fertilizations with other traditions including the art of Latin America the Soviet Union India Africa and Afro Caribbean Australia and Canada Professor Kemp and his team similarly deal generously with the applied arts and reproductive media such as photography and prints The result is a vibrant vigorous and revolutionary account of Western art serving both as an inspirational introduction for the general reader and an authoritative source of reference and guidance for students

A World History of Art Hugh Honour, John Fleming, 2005 Over two decades this art historical tour de force has consistently proved the classic introduction to humanity's artistic heritage From our paleolithic past to our digitised present every continent and culture is covered in an articulate and well balanced discussion In this Seventh Edition the text has been revised to embrace developments in archaeology and art historical research while the renowned contemporary art historian Michael Archer has greatly expanded the discussion of the past twenty years providing a new perspective on the latest developments The insight elegance and fluency that the authors bring to their text are complemented by 1458 superb illustrations half of which are now in colour These images together with the numerous maps and architectural plans have been chosen to represent the most significant chronological regional and individual styles of artistic expression
