The Moral Work of Anthropology Hanne Overgaard Mogensen,Birgitte Gorm Hansen,2021-06-11 Looking at anthropologists at work this book investigates what kind of morality they perform in their occupations and what the impact of this morality is The book includes ethnographic studies in four professional arenas health care business management and interdisciplinary research The discussion is positioned at the intersection of applied or public anthropology and the anthropology of ethics and analyses the ways in which anthropologists can carry out moral work both inside and outside of academia Anthropological Lives Virginia R Dominguez,Brigittine M.

French,2020-05-15 Anthropological Lives introduces readers to what it is like to be a professional anthropologist It focuses on the work anthropologists do the passions they have the way that being an anthropologist affects the kind of life they lead

The book draws heavily on the experiences of twenty anthropologists interviewed by Virginia R Dominguez and Brigitte M French as well as on the experiences of the two coauthors. Many different kinds of anthropologists are represented and the book makes a point of discussing their commonalities as well as their differences. Some of the anthropologists included work in the academy, some work outside the academy and some work in institutions like museums. Included are cultural anthropologists, linguistic anthropologists, medical anthropologists, biological anthropologists, practicing anthropologists and anthropological archaeologists. A fascinating look behind the curtain, the stories in Anthropological Lives will inform anyone who has ever wondered what you do with a degree in anthropology. Anthropologists profiled: Leslie Aiello, Lee Baker, Jo o Biehl, Tom Boellstorff, Jacqueline Comito, Shannon Dawdy, Virginia R Dominguez, T J Ferguson, Brigitte French, Agust n Fuentes, Amy Goldenberg, Mary Gray, Sarah Green, Monica Heller, Douglas Hertzler, Ed Liebow, Mariano Perelman, Jeremy Sabloff, Carolyn Sargent, Marilyn Strathern, Nandini Sundar, Alaka Wali.

Anthropological Theory Robert Alan Manners, David Kaplan, Anthropological theory has been much discussed in recent years yet the crucial questions still remain: how can it be defined, how is it developed, how is it to be applied and how can one confirm it. The editors of Anthropological Theory answer these questions by presenting essays relating to various aspects of anthropological theory. Their selections from widely scattered and often difficult to obtain sources present a comprehensive set of writings that describe the current position and issues involved in theory. The development of field work in anthropology generated a tremendous emphasis on empirical data and research. The plethora of information awaiting collection and the enthusiasm with which the field embraced it so immersed anthropologists that they were unable to relate this new information to the field as a whole. Manners and Kaplan believe that this lack of generalization had a profoundly negative effect upon the discipline. Therefore they look closely into the relationship between field work and theory in an opening essay and go on to present material that demonstrates the value and the necessity of theory in anthropology. Essays by anthropologists and other social scientists deal with explanation, evolution, ecology, ideology, structuralism and a number of other issues reflecting throughout the editors' conviction that anthropology is a science the goal of which is to produce generalizations about sociocultural phenomena. The book provides necessary perspective for examining and evaluating the crucial intellectual concerns of modern anthropology and will therefore be important for the work of every anthropologist.

Robert A Manners 1913-1996 received his Ph D from Columbia University and carried on field work in the Caribbean among American Indians in the Southwest and in East Africa. He wrote numerous articles and reviews for anthropological journals as well as many books. He was professor of anthropology at Brandeis University where he started up the department. David Kaplan is professor emeritus of anthropology at Brandeis University. He has contributed articles and reviews to various journals. He has also done field work in Mexico and his areas of specialty include economic anthropology, method and theory, and peasant culture of Mesoamerica.

The Anthropological Review
 Anthropological Society of London, 1869      The Anthropology Graduate's Guide Carol J. Ellick, Joe E. Watkins, 2023-08-29

In this revised edition of The Anthropology Graduate's Guide Carol Ellick and Joe Watkins present a set of practical steps that guides the reader through the transition from student to professional covering a wide range of career options for which an anthropology degree is applicable. It includes an overview of anthropology as a discipline, professional qualifications and key skills, an outline of key jobs and future careers and guidance on job application materials and interviews as well as discussions of professional communication styles and the importance of belonging to professional organizations. New to this edition are updates to technology recommendations, portfolio building, Skype and Zoom interviews, social media, etc. tips for formatting resumes, discussions of navigating harassment and inappropriate behavior, discussions of diversity, social justice and inclusion and updated statistics on finding jobs in and out of academia. Ultimately the stories, scenarios and activities presented in this book will show a reader how to use knowledge, skills and abilities learned in the classroom in a career setting.

Social and Cultural Anthropology: The Key Concepts Nigel Rapport, Joanna Overing, 2002-09-11. Social and Cultural Anthropology: The Key Concepts is the ideal introduction to this discipline, defining and discussing the central terms of the subject with clarity and authority.

An Anthropology of Learning Cathrine Hasse, 2014-12-05. This book has one explicit purpose: to present a new theory of cultural learning in organisations which combines practice-based learning with cultural models, a cognitive anthropological schema, theory of taken-for-granted connections tied to the everyday meaningful use of artefacts. The understanding of culture as emerging in a process of learning opens up for new understandings which is useful for researchers, practitioners and students interested in dynamic studies of culture and cultural studies of organisations. The new approach goes beyond culture as a static essentialist entity and opens for our possibility to learn in organisations across national cultures, across ethnicity and across the apparently insurmountable local educational differences which makes it difficult for people to communicate working together in an increasingly globalized world. The empirical examples are mainly drawn from organisations of education and science which are melting pots of cultural encounters.
