Anthropomorphism Anecdotes And Animals:

Anthropomorphism, Anecdotes, and Animals Robert W. Mitchell, Nicholas S. Thompson, H. Lyn Miles, 1997-01-01 People commonly think that animals are psychologically like themselves anthropomorphism and describe what animals do in narratives anecdotes that support these psychological interpretations This is the first book to evaluate the significance and usefulness of the practices of anthropomorphism and anecdotalism for understanding animals Diverse perspectives are presented in thoughtful critical essays by historians philosophers anthropologists psychologists behaviorists biologists primatologists and ethologists The nature of anthropomorphism and anecdotal analysis is examined social cultural and historical attitudes toward them are presented and scientific attitudes are appraised Authors provide fascinating in depth descriptions and analyses of diverse species of animals including octopi great apes monkeys dogs sea lions and of course human beings Concerns about and proposals for evaluations of a variety of psychological aspects of animals are discussed including mental state attribution intentionality cognition consciousness self consciousness and language Pretending and Imagination in Animals and Children Robert W. Mitchell, 2002-02-21 It is well known that children s activities are full of pretending and imagination but it is less appreciated that animals can also show similar activities Originally published in 2002 this book focuses on comparing and contrasting children s and animals pretenses and imaginative activities In the text overviews of research present conflicting interpretations of children s understanding of the psychology of pretense and describe sociocultural factors which influence children s pretenses Studies of nonhuman primates provide examples of their pretenses and other simulative activities explore their representational and imaginative capacities and compare their skills with children Although the psychological requirements for pretending are controversial evidence presented in this volume suggests that great apes and even monkeys may share capacities for imagination with children and that children s early pretenses may be less psychological than they appear The Dog Trainers Resource 2 Mychelle Blake, 2008 The Dog

Trainer s Resource 2 is made up of the best articles from award winning APDT s Chronicle of the Dog Each article stands alone and contains valuable professional development information for trainers and would be trainers Learn about modern science based motivational dog training from the best in the field Each article is written by an expert and covers an important aspect of working with dogs and people Also covers the business aspects of working with dogs Seven

Challenges for the Science of Animal Minds Mike Dacey, 2025-01-28 The scientific study of animal minds is difficult This book examines the most significant reasons this is so seven challenges for the science to overcome Researchers are aware of these challenges but few take any of them head on and none address them collectively Despite this focus on challenges the book s attitude is optimistic rather than critical these are challenges for the science not challenges to the science Researchers have made substantial progress as things are But taking the challenges head on can help build an even stronger more vibrant science The seven challenges are 1 underdetermination of theory by data 2 anthropomorphic bias 3 the difficulty of modeling cognitive processes 4 integrating across disciplines 5 ecological validity 6 small sample sizes and 7 measuring consciousness For each the book suggests rethinking the challenge and reorienting our attempts to address it These approaches are novel general ways of thinking that will help researchers work through the challenges and perhaps find solutions appropriate to their own research Each of the main chapters takes on one challenge Each also includes an empirical case study from social reasoning in chimpanzees to foraging in honeybees to consciousness in octopuses Along the way a big picture framework emerges for drawing conclusions about animal minds based on experimental evidence In this framework the role of any individual piece of the science is limited any individual experiment model claim or argument can only tell us so much When we are appropriately modest about each piece conclusions about animal minds must be arrived at by holistically considering all the evidence we can get This is a work in the philosophy of science but it is written to be accessible to any philosopher interested in empirical issues relating to the mind researchers in any of the related sciences including psychology neuroscience ethology and evolutionary biology as well as intermediate to advanced students

Captive Ambassadors:
The Hidden Lives of Zoo Animals Eve D'Vincent, 2025-09-25 Captive Ambassadors challenges the notion of zoo animals as ambassadors for their species revealing the exploitative marketing tactics behind their individualized narratives Drawing on cognitive and behavioral ethology transspecies psychology and critical anthropomorphism this multidisciplinary work exposes how zoos fabricate biographies to mask the harsh reality of animals lived experiences in captivity It critiques the disruptions of animal culture caused by captive breeding programs and the tragic fate of surplus animals deemed no longer useful Advocating for authentic animal biographies and ethical engagement this book argues for a shift in human animal relations that honors animals as unique individuals with intrinsic value transcending the confines of their captive roles

Talking Animals in British Children's Fiction, 1786-1914 Tess Cosslett, 2017-03-02 In her reappraisal of canonical works such as Black Beauty Beautiful Joe Wind in the Willows and Peter Rabbit Tess Cosslett traces how nineteenth century debates about the human and animal intersected with or left their mark on the venerable genre of the animal story written for children Effortlessly applying a range of critical approaches from Bakhtinian ideas of the carnivalesque to feminist postcolonial and ecocritical theory she raises important questions about the construction of the child reader the qualifications of the implied author and the possibilities of children's literature compared with literature written for adults Perhaps most crucially Cosslett examines how the issues of animal speech and animal subjectivity were managed at a time when the possession of language and consciousness had become a vital sign of the difference between humans and animals Topics of great contemporary concern such as the relation of the human and the natural masculine and feminine child and adult are investigated within their nineteenth century contexts making this an important book for nineteenth century scholars children's literature specialists and historians of science and childhood potential of interspecies exchange and mutual provocation

Interactions between Animals and Humans in Graeco-Roman Antiquity Thorsten Fögen, Edmund V. Thomas, 2017-08-21 The seventeen contributions to this volume written by leading experts show that animals and humans in Graeco Roman antiquity are interconnected on a variety of different levels and that their encounters and interactions often result from their belonging to the same structures networks and communities or at least from finding themselves together in a certain setting context or environment wittingly or unwittingly Papers explore the concrete categories of interaction between animals and humans that can be identified in what contexts they occur and what types of evidence can be productively used to examine the concept of interactions Articles in this volume take into account literary visual and other types of evidence A comprehensive research bibliography is also provided

The Routledge International Handbook of Human-Animal Interactions and Anthrozoology Aubrey H. Fine, Megan K. Mueller, Zenithson Y. Ng, Alan M. Beck, Jose M. Peralta, 2023-09-26 This diverse global and interdisciplinary volume explores the existing research practice and ethical issues pertinent to the field of human animal interactions HAIs interventions and anthrozoology focusing on the perceived physical and mental health benefits to humans and the challenges derived from these relationships The book begins by exploring the basic theoretical principles of anthrozoology and HAI such as the evolution and history of the field the importance of language the economic costs and current perspectives to physical and mental wellbeing the origins of domestication of animals anthropomorphism and how animals fit into human societies Chapters then move onto practice covering topics such as how animals help childhood and adulthood development pet ownership disability the roles of pets for people with psychiatric disorders the links between animal and domestic abuse and then more widely into the therapeutic roles of animals animal assisted therapies interactions outside the home working animals animals in popular culture and animals in research for leisure and food Including chapters on a wide range of animals from domesticated pets to wildlife this collection examines the benefits yet also reveals the complexity and often dark side of human animal relations Interweaving accessible commentaries with revealing chapters throughout the text this collection would be of great interest to students and practitioners in the fields of mental health psychology veterinary medicine zoology biology social work history and sociology

Mobilizing Traditions in the First Wave of the British Animal Defense Movement Chien-hui Li, 2019-06-11 This book explores the British animal defense movement s mobilization of the cultural and intellectual traditions of its time from Christianity and literature to natural history evolutionism and political radicalism in its struggle for the cause of animals in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Each chapter examines the process whereby the animal protection movement interpreted and drew upon varied intellectual moral and cultural resources in order to achieve its manifold objectives participate in the ongoing re creation of the current traditions of thought and re shape human animal relations in wider society Placing at its center of analysis the movement s mediating power in relation to its surrounding traditions Li s original perspective uncovers the oft ignored cultural work of the movement whilst restoring its agency in explaining social change Looking forward it points at the same time to the potential of all traditions through ongoing mobilization to effect change in the human animal relations of the future

The Relational Horse Gala

Argent, Jeannette Vaught, 2022-04-19 Human horse relationships take the central place in this edited collection examining the horse's perspective by asking How are human equine relationships communicated enacted understood encouraged and restricted The contributors apply varied disciplinary methods as they emphasize comprehending horses not solely in terms of their functional uses but also as impactful participants in relationships whether more or less equally By exploring the who of horses The Relational Horse offers a better understanding of horses lived experiences and interests within the worlds they share with humans and a way forward for human equine studies that more equitably represents the horse in those shared worlds

Recognising and Responding to Animal Emotion in a Shared World

Vicki Hutton, 2023-11-16 How is it that depending on the setting the same cat can be perceived as a homeless annoyance a potential research subject or a thinking and feeling family member The answer is bound up in our perception of non human animals capacity to experience emotions and this book draws on contemporary evidence based research observations interviews and anecdotal case scenarios to explore the growing knowledge base around animal emotion Acknowledging that animals can experience feelings directly affects the way that they are perceived and treated in many settings and the author explores the implications when humans apply or ignore this knowledge selectively between species and within species This information is presented within the unique context of a proposed hierarchy of perceived non human animals emotional abilities often based on human interpretation of the animal's emotional capacity with examples of how this manifests at an emotional spiritual and moral level Implications for specific groups living with caring for or working with non human animals are examined making the book of particular interest to those working studying or researching in the veterinary professions animal ethics law and welfare and zoology biology and animal science This book will also be fascinating reading for anyone interested in simply learning more about the animals with whom we share this planet For some readers it will validate the reciprocal emotional bond they feel for living creatures For others it will raise questions about the moral treatment of sentient non human beings breaking down the human protective barrier of cognitive dissonance and activating a cycle of change

The Cognitive

Underpinnings of Anthropomorphism Gabriella Airenti, Marco Cruciani, Alessio Plebe, 2019-10-04 The attribution of human traits to non humans animals artifacts or even natural events is an attitude deeply grounded in human mind It is frequent to see children addressing dolls and figures as if they were alive Adults often attribute mental states and emotions to animals In everyday life humans speak of events such as fires as if they possessed some form of intentionality a behavior sometimes shared also by scientists Furthermore a systematized form of anthropomorphism underlies most religions The pervasiveness of this phenomenon makes it a particularly interesting object of psychological enquiry Psychologists have set out to understand which aspects of human mind are involved in this behavior its motivations and the circumstances favoring its enactment Moreover there is an ongoing debate among scientists about the merits or harm of anthropomorphism in the scientific study of animal behavior and in scientific discourse Despite the interest and the specificity of the topic most of the relevant studies are scattered across disciplines and have not built a systematic research framework This observation has motivated the collection of articles presented here under the unifying perspective of the cognitive underpinnings of anthropomorphism Within this general umbrella the authors included in this e book have explored the issues mentioned above from different points of view From their work it emerges that far from being the result of naive beliefs the exercise of anthropomorphism involves a multiplicity of mental abilities including perception and imagination They also show that the context and the interactive situation are crucial to understanding this phenomenon Some authors analyze the relationship between anthropomorphization and theory of mind abilities both in typical and atypical populations Finally others contributions have identified possible benefits deriving from the natural attitude to anthropomorphize as a design philosophy for robots and artifacts in general or as a useful heuristic in the scientific study of animal behavior

Pets and People Christine Overall, 2017 This work offers 18 ground breaking articles written by an international group of philosophers on companion animal ethics It explores the ethical foundations of our relationships with pets in particular dogs and cats and specific moral issues including breeding reproduction sterilization cloning adoption feeding training working sexual interactions longevity dying and euthanasia

Ethics and Children's Literature Claudia Mills, 2016-05-13 Exploring the ethical questions posed by in and about children's literature this collection examines the way texts intended for children raise questions of value depict the moral development of their characters and call into attention shared moral presuppositions The essays in Part I look at various past attempts at conveying moral messages to children and interrogate their underlying assumptions What visions of childhood were conveyed by explicit attempts to cultivate specific virtues in children What unstated cultural assumptions were expressed by growing resistance to didacticism How should we prepare children to respond to racism in their books and in their society Part II takes up the ethical orientations of various classic and contemporary texts including prosaic ethics in the Hundred Acre Wood moral discernment in Narnia ethical recognition in the distant worlds traversed by L. Engle and virtuous transgression in recent Anglo American children's literature and in the emerging children's literature of 1960s Taiwan Part III's essays engage in ethical criticism of arguably problematic messages about our relationship to nonhuman animals about war and about prejudice The final section considers how we respond to children's literature with ethically focused essays exploring a range of ways in which child readers and adult authorities react to children's literature Even as children's literature has evolved in opposition to its origins in didactic Sunday school tracts and moralizing fables authors parents librarians and scholars remain sensitive to the values conveyed to children through the texts they choose to share with them

The Animal Mind Kristin Andrews, 2014-10-30 The study of animal cognition raises profound questions about the minds of animals and philosophy of mind itself Aristotle argued that humans are the only animal to laugh but in recent experiments rats have also been shown to laugh In other experiments dogs have been shown to respond appropriately to over two hundred words in human language In this introduction to the philosophy of animal minds Kristin Andrews introduces and assesses the essential topics problems and debates as they cut across animal cognition and philosophy of mind She addresses the following key topics what is cognition and what is it to have a mind What questions should we ask to determine whether behaviour has a cognitive basis the science of animal minds explained ethology behaviourist psychology and cognitive ethology rationality in animals animal consciousness what does research into pain and the emotions reveal What can empirical evidence about animal behaviour tell us about philosophical theories of consciousness does animal cognition involve belief and concepts do animals have a Language of Thought animal communication other minds do animals attribute mindedness to other creatures moral reasoning and ethical behaviour in animals animal cognition and memory Extensive use of empirical examples and case studies is made throughout the book These include Cheney and Seyfarth s vervet monkey research Thorndike s cat puzzle boxes Jensen s research into humans and chimpanzees and the ultimatum game Pankseep and Burgdorf s research on rat laughter and Clayton and Emery s research on memory in scrub jays Additional features such as chapter summaries annotated further reading and a glossary make this an indispensable introduction to those teaching philosophy of mind animal cognition It will also be an excellent resource for those in fields such as ethology biology and psychology

Human-Horse Relations and the Ethics of Knowing

Rosalie Jones McVey, 2023-03-31 This book explores how equestrians are highly invested in the idea of profound connection between horse and human and focuses on the ethical problem of knowing horses In describing how true connection with horses matters Rosalie Jones McVey investigates what sort of thing comes to count as a good relationship and how riders work to get there Drawing on fieldwork in the British horse world she illuminates the ways in which equestrian culture instils the idea that horse people should know their horses better Using horsemanship as one exemplary instance where truth holds ethical traction the book demonstrates the importance of epistemology in late modern ethical life It also raises the question of whether and how the concept of truth should matter to multispecies ethnographers in their ethnographic representations of animals
