Anti Politics Machine Development Depoliticization And Bureaucratic Power In Lesotho:

The Anti-Politics Machine James Ferguson, 1990-06-14 Attributes Canadian withdrawal from the Thaba Tseka rural development project largely to problems accompanying the expansion of state power etatization Includes an introductory literature survey on development planning and evaluation in general

Anti-Politics Machine James Ferguson, 1994-02-01 Development it is generally assumed is good and necessary and in its name the West has intervened implementing all manner of projects in the impoverished regions of the world When these projects fail as they do with astonishing regularity they nonetheless produce a host of regular and unacknowledged effects including the expansion of bureaucratic state power and the translation of the political realities of poverty and powerlessness into technical problems awaiting solution by development agencies and experts It is the political intelligibility of these effects along with the process that produces them that this book seeks to illuminate through a detailed case study of the workings of the development industry in one country Lesotho and in one development project Using an anthropological approach grounded in the work of Foucault James Ferguson analyzes the institutional framework within which such projects are crafted and the nature of development discourse revealing how it is that despite all the expertise that goes into formulating development projects they nonetheless often demonstrate a startling ignorance of the historical and political realities of the locale they are intended to help In a close examination of the attempted implementation of the Thaba Tseka project in Lesotho Ferguson shows how such a misguided approach plays out how in fact the development apparatus in Lesotho acts as an anti politics machine everywhere whisking political realities out of sight and all the while performing almost unnoticed its own pre eminently political operation of strengthening the state presence in the local region James Ferguson is an associate professor of anthropology at the University of California at Irvine

An Analysis of James Ferguson's The Anti-Politics Machine Julie Jenkins, 2017-07-05 The Anti Politics Machine 1990 examines how international development projects are conceived researched and put into practice It also looks at what these projects actually achieve Ferguson criticizes the idea of externally directed development and argues that the process doesn't take proper account of the daily realities of the communities it is intended to benefit Instead they often prioritize technical solutions for addressing poverty and ignoring its social and political dimensions so the structures that these projects put in place often have unintended consequences Ferguson suggests that until the process becomes more reflective development projects will continue to fail

Anti-Politics Machine James Ferguson, 1990-12-01 The Anti-Politics Machine Julie Jenkins, 2017-07-05 James Ferguson's 1990 study The Anti Politics Machine was a radical intervention in development studies that remains influential in the field today It is also an excellent example of the way in which creative thinking can help shake up an idea and show problems in a new light Ferguson's interest was development strategies in the Third World the interventions by which aid agencies NGOs and individual countries try to raise poor areas or countries economic and living standards Embedded in the community in

Lesotho a small country in southern Africa Ferguson noted that time and time again the same strategies were used by agencies and foreign powers despite the fact that they had failed many times before Seeking to analyse the implications of this discovery Ferguson made a move that is often employed by creative thinkers he stepped outside of the standard interpretative framework and applied a novel way of interpreting the problem In this case Ferguson imported his framework and methodology from the French philosopher and historian Michel Foucault whose theories of power dynamics enabled Ferguson to see the failed development strategies from an entirely new perspective It is a simple but impactful move that helped revolutionise the discussion Page 5

The Anti-politics Machine in India Vasudha Chhotray, 2011 This book assesses the validity of anti politics critiques of development first popularised by James Ferguson in the peculiar context of India It examines the new context provided by decentralization of state functioning where keeping politics out of development development as the anti politics machine can no longer be taken for granted The case of a highly technocratic state watershed development programme that also seeks to be participatory is used to illustrate the tensions between prescriptive development policy and a growing political democracy Partnerships, Power and Peacebuilding T. Dibley, 2014-09-03 By highlighting the scope and limitations of local NGO agencies this book presents a unique perspective of the relationship between peacebuilding theory and its application in practice outlining how well educated well connected local decision makers and thinkers navigate the uneven power dynamics of the international aid system

A Selected Bibliography--Sub-Saharan Africa, 1991 Garbage Crisis Randika Jayasinghe, Usman Mushtaq, Toni Smythe, Caroline Baillie, 2022-06-01 This book will focus on Waste Management a serious global issue and engineers responsibility towards finding better solutions for its sustainable management Solid waste management is one of the major environmental burdens in both developed and developing countries alike An alarming rate of solid waste generation trends can be seen as a result of globalization industrialization and rapid economic development However low income and marginalized sectors in society suffer most from the unfavorable conditions deriving from poor waste management Solid waste management is not a mere technical challenge The environmental impact socio economic cultural institutional legal and political aspects are fundamental in planning designing and maintaining a sustainable waste management system in any country Engineers have a major role to play in designing proper systems that integrate stakeholders waste system elements and sustainability aspects of waste management This book is part of a focused collection from a project on Engineering and Education for Social and Environmental Justice It takes an explicitly social and environmental justice stance on waste and attempts to assess the social impact of waste management on those who are also the most economically vulnerable and least powerful in the society We hope that this book will assist our readers to think critically and understand the framework of socially and environmentally just waste management Table of Contents Introduction Towards a Just Politics of Waste Management Expertise Indigenous People and the Site 41 Landfill Waste Management in the Global North Waste Management in the Global South A Sri Lankan at the heart of the process but foregrounding the voices of the policymakers and participants this book documents and critically assesses efforts to assist a set of governments to kick start digital transformation In doing so it offers lessons for policymakers in other countries who want to pursue similar efforts Beyond that however it is also an exposition of the process of policymaking more generally in the 2020s and offers broader insight into how outsiders can play a sensible role in other reform processes in developing and emerging countries

Global Power and Local Struggles in Developing Countries

,2022-12-12 The volume challenges dominant narratives of progress with a rich range of investigations of local struggles from the Global south which are based on original ethnographic research The chapters take a point of departure in ideas and concepts developed by the pioneering anthropologist Eric R Wolf in Europe and the People Without History and emphasize the relevance and usefulness of applying Wolf to contemporary contexts As such the collection contributes to knowledge of dynamic relationships between local agency in the Global south and broader political and economic processes that make people without history This shows global power as both excluding local groups at the same time as conditioning local struggles and the forms that social organization takes Contributors are Paul Stacey Joshua Steckley Nixon Boumba Marylynn Steckley Ismael Garcia Col n Inge Merete Hougaard Gustavo S Azenha Ioannis Kyriakakis Raquel Rodrigues Machaqueiro Tirza van Bruggen and Masami Tsujita

Power, Community and the State Monique Nuijten,2003-04-20

This book explores the balance of power between the state and local communities with particular reference to societies in the developing world Monique Nuijten shows how rituals of bureaucratic power and accusations of corruption give flesh to incredible fantasies and conspiracy theories among officials peasants and brokers At the same time she shows that in this labyrinthine world of bureaucratic obstacles and state control local agrarian communities manage to find certain room for autonomy Drawing on her extensive fieldwork in Mexico Nuijten draws wide conclusions that can be applied to many societies Providing a detailed ethnography she focuses on various themes including a theoretical anthropology of state power families and factionalism after agrarian reform local organisation questions of law corruption and development theory
