Anticarcinogenesis and Radiation Protection 2 O.F. Nygaard, A.C. Upton, 2012-12-06 The dramatic decrease in the incidence of stomach cancer in industrialized countries during the past 50 years which is yet to be fully explained and the observation that carcinogenesis in laboratory animals can be inhibited by antioxidants retinoids and caloric restriction among other influences challenge us to press on in the search for practical means to prevent cancer It is in relation to this goal that the studies summarized in this book have special significance This book is based on the invited and contributed papers presented at the Third International Conference on Anticarcinogenesis and Radiation Protection held on October 15 21 1989 in Dubrovnik Yugoslavia They cover a broad range of investigations into the mechanisms and inhibition of carcinogenesis In keeping with recent advances in our understanding of the importance of oncogenes and tumor suppressor genes in carcinogenesis many of the reports focus on mutations and related changes at the level of DNA At the same time however other reports deal with nutritional immunological endocrinological and epidemiological aspects In all the various reports address carcinogenesis and its inhibition at virtually every level of biological organization Included in this compendium are timely reviews of diverse and promising research strategies for cancer prevention as pursued by investigators in different parts of the world The Organizers of the Conference are grateful to the many scientists who have contributed to the volume as well as to the sponsors of the Conference without whose generous support this book would not have been possible
