Antiquities In Peril:

Antiquities in Peril Trevor L. Christie, 1967 Devoted to a description of fourteen outstanding antiquities throughout the world which have been threatened with destruction and have been or are being rescued by modern scientific techniques and master craftsmen for the enjoyment of future generations

Illicit Antiquities Neil Brodie, Kathryn Walker Tubb, 2003-08-27 The exploitation of archaeological sites for commercial gain is a serious problem worldwide In peace and during wartime archaeological sites and cultural institutions both on land and underwater are attacked and their contents robbed for sale on an international antiquities market Objects are excavated without record smuggled across borders and sold for exorbitant prices in the salesrooms of Europe and North America In some countries this looting has now reached such a scale as to threaten the very survival of their archaeological and cultural heritage This volume highlights the deleterious effects of the trade on cultural heritage but in particular it focuses upon questions of legal and local responses How can people become involved in the preservation of their past and what in economic terms are the costs and benefits Are international conventions or export restrictions effective in diminishing the volume of the trade and the scale of its associated destruction
